

TERMS TO CLUBS. It is not required that Clubs be made to have...

LET EVERY SUBSCRIBER TO THE WEEKLY STAR READ THIS. Under the new law which goes into effect January 1st, 1876...

MAKE UP CLUBS. Now is the time for getting up Clubs to the WEEKLY STAR. Show the paper to your neighbors and friends...

WHISKEY. Babcock is a part of the White House family. Babcock has been indicted for complicity with the notorious ring in St. Louis...

THE CONFEDERATE WAR DEBT. The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Times telegraphs by a prominent Southern Congressman...

GRANT AND HIS WIFE. Mr. Blaine always conceded, as Mr. Blaine the possession of very considerable ability. In addition to an immense...

THE CASE OF LEWIS T. WOOD. The case of Lewis T. Wood will be investigated to-day. This Court was occupied yesterday forenoon in hearing the concluding testimony...

THE CASE OF RICHARD WOOD. The case of Richard Wood, Lewis T. Wood and John Fisher, charged with manufacturing and passing counterfeit money...

THE CASE OF JOHN FISHER. The case of John Fisher, charged with manufacturing and passing counterfeit money...

ness is the report that Bluford Wilson, Solicitor of the Treasury, "expects to go" with Henderson on his head rolling off to save the reputation of some one higher up...

Such language as the following from an editorial in the Washington National Republican is not so much a bold stroke of lunacy as it is the full gibbering of a despairing organ: "The Republicans are quite indifferent as to the course which the Confederate power in the American Congress may elect to take in the organization of the House..."

The paper that gets off such high pressure foolishness as the above deserves no consideration as to how it will mislead the public. The man who runs the Republican-Bishop Haven, President Grant and the Whiskey...

Blaine's possession of very considerable ability. In addition to an immense amount of political talent, he has a high degree of moral courage and a strong sense of duty...

Upon the strength of this statement all the parties implicated, with the exception of Jesse Wood (No. 2), who was discharged, were lodged in jail for want of a sufficient Commissioner's Certificate...

The case of Richard Wood, Lewis T. Wood and John Fisher, charged with manufacturing and passing counterfeit money, were heard before U. S. Commissioner Casidey yesterday...

Now is the time for getting up Clubs to the WEEKLY STAR. Show the paper to your neighbors and friends and get them to join in. We want the biggest subscription list in North Carolina...

Another crowd in this crowded business is the report that Bluford Wilson, Solicitor of the Treasury, "expects to go" with Henderson on his head rolling off to save the reputation of some one higher up...

The claim of the Democrats to the Presidency, in the event of the possible death of President Grant, turns, of course, upon an alleged vacancy in the Presidency of the Senate. This raises the disputed point as to the necessity for the election of a President in the event of the death of a President...

The principal hinge on which the door depends, so far as the nomination is concerned, will turn, judging from appearances at this writing, is the question of religious prejudice. This issue is a bad one for the Republicans to make, and Mr. Blaine and other leaders may conclude not to make it...

The National House of Representatives seems to be fond of considering resolutions. Some of them are excellent; instance the one condemning the third term, reported in our dispatches printed this morning. An emphatic "no" was given to Mr. Grant's aspirations...

The case of Lewis T. Wood will be investigated to-day. This Court was occupied yesterday forenoon in hearing the concluding testimony in the case of the U. S. vs. Jesse A. Wood, charged with passing counterfeit money...

Upon the strength of this statement all the parties implicated, with the exception of Jesse Wood (No. 2), who was discharged, were lodged in jail for want of a sufficient Commissioner's Certificate in some future time...

The case of Richard Wood, Lewis T. Wood and John Fisher, charged with manufacturing and passing counterfeit money, were heard before U. S. Commissioner Casidey yesterday...

Now is the time for getting up Clubs to the WEEKLY STAR. Show the paper to your neighbors and friends and get them to join in. We want the biggest subscription list in North Carolina...

Another crowd in this crowded business is the report that Bluford Wilson, Solicitor of the Treasury, "expects to go" with Henderson on his head rolling off to save the reputation of some one higher up...

Another crowd in this crowded business is the report that Bluford Wilson, Solicitor of the Treasury, "expects to go" with Henderson on his head rolling off to save the reputation of some one higher up...

The case of Lewis T. Wood will be investigated to-day. This Court was occupied yesterday forenoon in hearing the concluding testimony in the case of the U. S. vs. Jesse A. Wood, charged with passing counterfeit money...

Upon the strength of this statement all the parties implicated, with the exception of Jesse Wood (No. 2), who was discharged, were lodged in jail for want of a sufficient Commissioner's Certificate in some future time...

The case of Richard Wood, Lewis T. Wood and John Fisher, charged with manufacturing and passing counterfeit money, were heard before U. S. Commissioner Casidey yesterday...

Now is the time for getting up Clubs to the WEEKLY STAR. Show the paper to your neighbors and friends and get them to join in. We want the biggest subscription list in North Carolina...

Another crowd in this crowded business is the report that Bluford Wilson, Solicitor of the Treasury, "expects to go" with Henderson on his head rolling off to save the reputation of some one higher up...

Another crowd in this crowded business is the report that Bluford Wilson, Solicitor of the Treasury, "expects to go" with Henderson on his head rolling off to save the reputation of some one higher up...

Another crowd in this crowded business is the report that Bluford Wilson, Solicitor of the Treasury, "expects to go" with Henderson on his head rolling off to save the reputation of some one higher up...

Another crowd in this crowded business is the report that Bluford Wilson, Solicitor of the Treasury, "expects to go" with Henderson on his head rolling off to save the reputation of some one higher up...

Another crowd in this crowded business is the report that Bluford Wilson, Solicitor of the Treasury, "expects to go" with Henderson on his head rolling off to save the reputation of some one higher up...

enough to nominate him. Gen. Grant will probably be nominated by the hands of his Methodist friends, while at the same time his many lament the folly of their indiscreet zeal in his behalf.

The nomination of the President for reelection and the scene accompanying it are thus described by The New York Tribune: "After giving a long and detailed account of the church in the South, and other matters, the speaker seemed to raise himself upon his feet, as if to look at a crowd about him, and above the vast audience before him, and exclaimed in loud, stentorian tones: 'I believe that President Grant is the only man who could conquer the enemies of American freedom. If we throw him overboard we should regret it. He continued: 'I believe with the name of the American people and true Christianity, I would have a President and defender to a third term in the office of President of the United States. 'Nearly every voice in that vast audience of profound scholars and venerable ministers responded as if with one heart: 'I second the nomination. Then the Rev. Mr. Bates put the question in regular form, and the proposition of Bishop Haven was unanimously adopted, and a dissenting vote being given. To this was added the loud hurrahs of the ladies and gentlemen in the galleries.'

It is hardly necessary to say that the Methodist Church referred to above is the Northern Methodist Episcopal Church. — THE STAR.

It is a matter of deep and earnest congratulation that in the reorganization of the House of Representatives the Democratic basis, the Southern members, stand so foremost in public esteem, and command so large a share of National attention.

And he has a following worthy of himself. There is Proctor Knott, the brightest talker in America—a Southern Sam Cox, bold and tempered to higher purposes—And—Goode and Rankin and Walker of Virginia; and Waddell of Carolina; and Lewis and Egan and Tall Bradford of Alabama; Swan and Walsh of Maryland; Kegan and Throckmorton of Texas; and Brown, John and Black-burn of Kentucky. Verily, it is a goodly crowd. And there are the staunch Georgia delegation with its reliable members, and its undeveloped possibilities in Hill, Felton, Smith, Harbridge and Candler. If, with these men, the South does not establish her intellectual way we shall be much to be taken.

As to what will be the leader in the House it is not worth a hair to speculate upon. At a common concert Randall, Lamar, and Wood have been named as the trinity of leadership. When a thing is named into a quadrangle the man named will fill it out will be Benjamin H. Hill of Georgia.

It is hardly necessary to say that the Methodist Church referred to above is the Northern Methodist Episcopal Church. — THE STAR.

It is a matter of deep and earnest congratulation that in the reorganization of the House of Representatives the Democratic basis, the Southern members, stand so foremost in public esteem, and command so large a share of National attention.

Another crowd in this crowded business is the report that Bluford Wilson, Solicitor of the Treasury, "expects to go" with Henderson on his head rolling off to save the reputation of some one higher up...

enough to nominate him. Gen. Grant will probably be nominated by the hands of his Methodist friends, while at the same time his many lament the folly of their indiscreet zeal in his behalf.

The nomination of the President for reelection and the scene accompanying it are thus described by The New York Tribune: "After giving a long and detailed account of the church in the South, and other matters, the speaker seemed to raise himself upon his feet, as if to look at a crowd about him, and above the vast audience before him, and exclaimed in loud, stentorian tones: 'I believe that President Grant is the only man who could conquer the enemies of American freedom. If we throw him overboard we should regret it. He continued: 'I believe with the name of the American people and true Christianity, I would have a President and defender to a third term in the office of President of the United States. 'Nearly every voice in that vast audience of profound scholars and venerable ministers responded as if with one heart: 'I second the nomination. Then the Rev. Mr. Bates put the question in regular form, and the proposition of Bishop Haven was unanimously adopted, and a dissenting vote being given. To this was added the loud hurrahs of the ladies and gentlemen in the galleries.'

It is hardly necessary to say that the Methodist Church referred to above is the Northern Methodist Episcopal Church. — THE STAR.

It is a matter of deep and earnest congratulation that in the reorganization of the House of Representatives the Democratic basis, the Southern members, stand so foremost in public esteem, and command so large a share of National attention.

And he has a following worthy of himself. There is Proctor Knott, the brightest talker in America—a Southern Sam Cox, bold and tempered to higher purposes—And—Goode and Rankin and Walker of Virginia; and Waddell of Carolina; and Lewis and Egan and Tall Bradford of Alabama; Swan and Walsh of Maryland; Kegan and Throckmorton of Texas; and Brown, John and Black-burn of Kentucky. Verily, it is a goodly crowd. And there are the staunch Georgia delegation with its reliable members, and its undeveloped possibilities in Hill, Felton, Smith, Harbridge and Candler. If, with these men, the South does not establish her intellectual way we shall be much to be taken.

As to what will be the leader in the House it is not worth a hair to speculate upon. At a common concert Randall, Lamar, and Wood have been named as the trinity of leadership. When a thing is named into a quadrangle the man named will fill it out will be Benjamin H. Hill of Georgia.

It is hardly necessary to say that the Methodist Church referred to above is the Northern Methodist Episcopal Church. — THE STAR.

It is a matter of deep and earnest congratulation that in the reorganization of the House of Representatives the Democratic basis, the Southern members, stand so foremost in public esteem, and command so large a share of National attention.

Another crowd in this crowded business is the report that Bluford Wilson, Solicitor of the Treasury, "expects to go" with Henderson on his head rolling off to save the reputation of some one higher up...

enough to nominate him. Gen. Grant will probably be nominated by the hands of his Methodist friends, while at the same time his many lament the folly of their indiscreet zeal in his behalf.

The nomination of the President for reelection and the scene accompanying it are thus described by The New York Tribune: "After giving a long and detailed account of the church in the South, and other matters, the speaker seemed to raise himself upon his feet, as if to look at a crowd about him, and above the vast audience before him, and exclaimed in loud, stentorian tones: 'I believe that President Grant is the only man who could conquer the enemies of American freedom. If we throw him overboard we should regret it. He continued: 'I believe with the name of the American people and true Christianity, I would have a President and defender to a third term in the office of President of the United States. 'Nearly every voice in that vast audience of profound scholars and venerable ministers responded as if with one heart: 'I second the nomination. Then the Rev. Mr. Bates put the question in regular form, and the proposition of Bishop Haven was unanimously adopted, and a dissenting vote being given. To this was added the loud hurrahs of the ladies and gentlemen in the galleries.'

It is hardly necessary to say that the Methodist Church referred to above is the Northern Methodist Episcopal Church. — THE STAR.

It is a matter of deep and earnest congratulation that in the reorganization of the House of Representatives the Democratic basis, the Southern members, stand so foremost in public esteem, and command so large a share of National attention.

And he has a following worthy of himself. There is Proctor Knott, the brightest talker in America—a Southern Sam Cox, bold and tempered to higher purposes—And—Goode and Rankin and Walker of Virginia; and Waddell of Carolina; and Lewis and Egan and Tall Bradford of Alabama; Swan and Walsh of Maryland; Kegan and Throckmorton of Texas; and Brown, John and Black-burn of Kentucky. Verily, it is a goodly crowd. And there are the staunch Georgia delegation with its reliable members, and its undeveloped possibilities in Hill, Felton, Smith, Harbridge and Candler. If, with these men, the South does not establish her intellectual way we shall be much to be taken.

As to what will be the leader in the House it is not worth a hair to speculate upon. At a common concert Randall, Lamar, and Wood have been named as the trinity of leadership. When a thing is named into a quadrangle the man named will fill it out will be Benjamin H. Hill of Georgia.

It is hardly necessary to say that the Methodist Church referred to above is the Northern Methodist Episcopal Church. — THE STAR.

It is a matter of deep and earnest congratulation that in the reorganization of the House of Representatives the Democratic basis, the Southern members, stand so foremost in public esteem, and command so large a share of National attention.

Another crowd in this crowded business is the report that Bluford Wilson, Solicitor of the Treasury, "expects to go" with Henderson on his head rolling off to save the reputation of some one higher up...