- Raleigh Post: Proceeding from its dead headism were some ugly features in the convention to-day. -A deadhead delegated convention is something new in North Carolina, the like of which we never hope to see again.

Dowd is a native of this county and has here many relatives, warm friends and ardent admirers who will be gratified at this merited compliment to Moore's gifted son. The Major is a man of no uncertain opinion, with firmness of character and decided ability. - Wilson Advance: We understand that on Tuesday, while Mr. John Bynum, of Pitt, was engaged around his wheat separator, one of his arms was caught in the machine and entirely torn from his body. The closing exercises of the Wilson Academy for colored people, managed by E. Moore, A. M., colored, came off last Friday night. Rev. J. C. Price, a well known colored man, who taught school in Wilson several years ago, delivered the annual address, and his effort is highly complimented by .hose who heard it. - Charlotte Press: The "Jarvis Section" have carried the day at Raleigh, which is not greatly to be wondered at; the thing now is to carry the election with him. -During Col. Ham Jones' speech in nominating Jarvis, when he made the allusion. "Go to Malvern Hill and ask," his voice was drowned by the yells of the Fowle men, who disliked the attempt to create such a rallying cry in behalf of Jarvis, and it was kept up ten or fifteen minutes before quiet could be restored by the chairman. -----If there had been a second ballot Scales, they say, would have beaten both Jarvis and Fowle. Col. Fuller made the speech of the day. It is pronounced simply magnificent. Mecklenburg, although her choice was for General Scales, followed the deceptive instruction, and cast her vote for Jarvis. - Lenoir Topic: We regret very much to hear the Democratic Executive Committee say "a large number of good Democrats of this county are in favor of letting all who wish to be candidates have a fair field." -Died, at his residence in Burke county, on the 8th inst., Mr. Robert Alexander, in the 78th year of his age. ----Corn and rye are bringing 50 cents; wheat $1 15, feathers and wool 40 cents, bacon hams 10 cents, ginseng $1 25. --- This section was visited Saturday by a severe wind, rain and hail storm. Considerable corn and other grain were blown to the ground, and fences, &c., blown down. - The peach crop is tolerably fair. ---Mr. John Lane was instantly killed at Ore Knob, on the 8th inst., by the accidental falling of a bucket in one of the new shatts where he was working under ground. Deceased was a young man in the full vigor of life. — The health of the community is not good. Elder E. F. Jones, a very talented and young minister, is about helpless, supposed to be palsy.

Rev. Dr. Collyer responded to the toast "The Stage and the Pulpit." This is one of the "signs of the times." It is mixing up things rather curiously, it strikes us, to see ministers dignified with an ecclesiastical plaster (D. D.'s) orating at a feast given to an actor. But if any actor is worthy of the companionship of the ministry | this city. it is Edwin Booth, who will only allow his own daughters to witness select plays, and not too often, and who has done so much to uphold the character of his profession when so few are worthy. We believe that it is highly elevating to witness a first rate presentation of Hamlet, or Lear, or Macbeth, or Othello, or Julius Cæsar, and others of the great plays of the greatest of men. It educates, it improves, it purifies. Our objection is not to Shakespeare on the stage, or to such actors as Booth and Irving. The Americau stage is in a very debased condition. There are but very few actresses whose good name is not destroyed, whilst most of the men are really vulgar and depraved specimens. When the stage is made what it ought to be there will not be so much hostility to it as now exists But of all men whose genius reflects a certain splendor upon the histrionic art there is none more deserving than the great actor who has been so honored recently in New York.

thorough that many new improvements in the methods of widening and deepening channels may be expected in the near future. Gen. Herman Haupt, the well known civil engineer, was lately before the Senate Committee on Commerce with a novel plan for bettering the navigation of the Ohio, which he claims to be at once efficient and more economical than any device now in use, or any one which has ever been proposed. His general plan includes a reduction in the width o the channel, the reduction in the slope or grade of the bed, and the retardation of the flow of the current by a process of alternate construction and enlargement, and by the use of wicket dams to hold back the volume of water and maintain the required depth at the lowest stage. These dams are made so as to be automatically raised and lowered to suit the needs of navigation. They are to be constructed, moreover, so as to remove themselves without human aid, when the depth of the channel permits them to be dispensed with, or they can be partially removed on a partial rise of water, so as to retain McAllister, R. T. Bryan, Miss L. Pollock, Miss S. Pollock. The last two will have charge of the Kindergarten Department. Distinguished speakers and educators will deliver addresses of interest before the school from time to time.

We are glad-heartily glad that the Republicans in Congress have taken the stand they have in regard to counting the electoral vote and the appointing of deputy marshals. If they do not suffer from it then we are mistaken in the character of the voters of our country. The whole purpose and efforts of the Republicans are revolutionary and nothing else. If Garfield can stand their position then the Democrats can. Carry out the principle and purpose indicated by his party and there is abuse of authority and a guarantee of confusion and anarchy sooner or later. We shall recur to this more at length hereafter.

Mr. John S. Wise, son of the late Gov. Henry A. Wise, is out in a card emphatically denving that he wrote the article for the Whig that caused the Smith-Elam duel. Mr. Elam has stated that he wrote the editorial and was alone responsible for it. That ought to-settle it: Col. W. E. Cameron, of Petersburg, is also accused of the paternity. But neither Mr. Wise nor Col. Cameron would allow another man to fight their duels, as both are known to be ready to answer the roll call for themselves.

Lamar's speech on the Exodus is ment It was propo session of the Legislature, but received with no sort of favor. It is a scheme which no skilful party leader would for a moment entertain seriously. It would damn the Republican party in New York, and ruin the prospects for election of its candidate for President. The indignation of the general public would be so great that Ohio and Illinois would almost certainly each cast its solid electoral strength for the Democratic nominee for President. Instead of carrying only fifteen districts in the State of New York the Democrats would probably carry two-thirds of them. Mr. Conkling would be buried beyond the hope of resurrection. The fifteen votes which it is conceded the Democrats would get in New York, let the State be districted as it might, would be all that the Democrats would need under the circumstances. Either Illinois or Obio gives votes enough to elect the Democratic candidate when added to 138 from the South, 15 from New York, and 15 from Indiana. These 168 votes may be considered just as safe for the Democrats as if they were already cast (in the event that New York should elect by dis-Only 17 more are needed; and ander the circumstances supposed, either Illinois would be sure to cast her 21 or Ohio her 22 votes for the Democratic candi-

"The one great objection to Mr. Arthur s that he is a part of Mr. Conkling's following. He is nothing in public life of himself, but merely an appendage to the New York Senator. The motive which governed the Convention was the desire to conciliate the most dangerous and irascible of the Grant leaders, but the Convention would have consulted its own dignity and that of the nation if they had selected a more eminent man from the Grant ranks for this honor. Mr. Arthur is not the man to fill rightly the Chair of the Senate." It says his nomination "has not produced a favorable impression throughout the country." Not exactly. The people can stand hardly a man who was too corrupt for Hayes and Sherman and had to be driven from office.

Ex-President Davis's testimony in the Dorsey will case will form a good text for the Northern press. He believes in the eternity of the Southern Confederacy, although it went out amid the flash of artillery and the rattle of musketry. Appomattox was the scene of its death-throes, and there the "conquered banner" was forever furled. Mr. Davis's belief will hurt no one really, but the Stalwart organs will see in the old gentleman's crotchet gorgons, griffins and

"chimeras dire." How they will howl, and how the snivelling hypocrites will beslaver their cushioned point the Tories. It is said Mr. Glad-to undermine if possible his popularity and to destroy the confidence of the people in the wisdom of his Government. But it should be borne in mind that the Liberal Ministry is pledged to make war upon the Beaconsfield policy. Mr. Gladstone is specially obligated to undo as far as possible the mischief wrought by his predecessor in office. The financial policy c. the late Tory Government is one of the main objects of attack. No Englishman of any age or period ever had a greater financial reputation than the present Premier. He is marvellously great in finance. He is giving his first attention to overhauling the financial blunders of the Beaconsfield Administration, and preparing his own plans and estimates for a supplementary budget. No English Minister has had a greater task assigned him, it is thought, within the last forty years. The finances as left by Beaconsfield were indeed a tangled skein. Gladstone's skilled hand can alone straighten it.

Already he has reported his plans, and already the great Tory organs have opened their batteries upon him. But let not the American readers be deceived. It matters but little what Mr. Gladstone does or leaves undone, he will be assailed bitterly, fiercely, ably. The Tory policy is to assault the Liberals all along the line. They will do this because their own policy is subjected to criticism and attack at every turn. Mr. Gladstone, for instance, makes a concession to the French in the matter of wine duties. This of course excites Tory disgust. He pext accepts the responsibility of a share of the cost of the Afghan war, instead of extorting the whole sum from the overtaxed people of India. This is contrary to the Beaconsfield plan. So this creates opposition and assault. So will it be throughout. Every financial plan will be opposed and criticised by the Beaconsfield party.

We see it mentioned that Gladstone has yielded to the wishes of his followers, and Sir Bartle Frere, who caused the Zulu war, will not be left at the Cape. This again will disap.

Professor Crawford Howell Toy, late of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, at Louisville, Kentucky, has been elected Professor of Hebrew and other oriental languages at Harvard University. He is a man of very remarkable scholarship. He is a native of Norfolk, Va., son of the druggist of his name, and was educated at the University of Virginia and at Berlin, Germany. He is really one of those strange things often heard of in the newspapers but rarely seen in real life, a man of learning. He is probably forty-two years of age.

The Philadelphia Notes, a Republican paper, has a peor opinion of the Radical platform adopted at Chicago. It says:

"The resolutions are a string of humdrum commonplaces, which pledge the party to no great advance of any kind, and which were constructed on the safe principle that nothing was to be said of which any one in the Convention could seriously disapprove. Exactly the opposite method of construction would have been wiser.'

George Hill, colored, who was convicted of larceny at the April term of the Criminal Court for New Hanover county and senteaced to imprisonment in the penitentiary for six years, made his escape on Monday last from the gang with whom he was working on the Quaker Bridge road, near Newbern. Hill was arrested in March last for stealing a quantity of beeswax from one of the river boats, and was also charged with the larceny of a lot of canvas from the Messrs. Kidder's saw mill. At the time of his escape he was engaged in carrying water

And again I gaze, and in the dim distance I see a mountain, and as I approach, upon the green slopes of Monticello I see another tomb, and upon it is inscribed Thomas Jefferson, the father of the Constitution.

A bull in a china shop is a faint mage of the part Gov. Foster has played, unless Gen. Garfield's pamphlet, addressed to the simple-minded farmers of his district, can pass the ordeal of intelligent public criticism. It seems that the pamphlet did not satisfy even the limited Republican audience to which it was addressed. In spite of it Gen. Garfield lost nearly six thousand five hundred votes in the election which followed its publication. We never heard of this pamphlet until Governor Foster took the bold risk of advertising it. He (Garfield) is on the defensive in any event until these grave charges are disposed of. If he can refute them, let him do it once for all. If he declines to make any defense the natural presumption will be that he has no defense which would help him. The case against him has a terribly ugly look as presented by his adversaries; the recent apologies of his friends are as damaging as the original accusations; unless he comes to the rescue he is beaten out of sight before the Narrow Escape of Dr. Hoge from Drowning.

We learn by letter from one of the party that the Rev. Dr. M. D. Hoge met with an accident while traveling in the land of Palestine which nearly resulted in loss of life. While traveling along the seacoast between Tyre and Sidon they came to the month of the Litany river, which empties into the sea about midway between Tyre and Sidon.
