The Weekly Star.

I looked and saw your eyes In the shadow of your hair, As a traveller sees the stream In the shadow of the wood; And I said: "My faint heart sighs, Ah me! to linger there, To drink deep and to dream In that sweet solitude."

I looked and saw your heart In the shadow of your eyes, As a secker sees the gold In the shadow of the stream; And I said: "Ab me! what art Should win the immortal prize, Whose want must make life cold And heaven a hollow dream?

I looked and saw your love In the shadow of your heart, As a diver sees the pearl, In the shadow of the sca; And I mourned not above My breath, but all apart-"Ah! you can love, true girl, And is your love for me?"

TEE MESSAGE.

What the Papers Say. Philadelphia' Times, Ind.

President Arthur's first message to Congress is a sensible document, and uucommonly free from political affec-tation and clap-trap. He is a posi-tive man, with the courage to say what he has to say and to do what he has to do in a straightforward manner. He is an out and out stalwart in politics, and he will be Stalwart in all his political methods and plain spoken in his official utterances. Upon the whole, the message possesses the rare merit of candor and manliness. It is statesmanlike on all questions not directly partisan, and it lays a broad foundation for an imposing structure of Stalwart omnipotence, by the positive control of elections through the efforts and re-sources of Federal officers.

Washington Post, Dem. The first annual message of Presi-dent Arthur is not calculated to impress the reader as being decided evdence of eminent ability on the part of the writer. It is a plain document, free from partisanship, recitative mostly of facts and supplemented with some recommendations. Taken as a whole, the message is a fair document, from a seemingly well meaning citizen of average attainments, relating entirely to the practical concerns of the people and with no allusion, offensive or otherwise, to partisan or sectional politics. Charleston News and Courier, Dem. The message is now before the public, and will excite little emotion. It is plain and sensible throughout, and pays marked attention to small things of importance. There are no surprises in it, and the country needs no political sensations. President Arthur is not demonstrated by his message to be a man of force and genius, but this is no disappointment. We can only express the hope that the last part of the message is as so-ber and well considered as the first. Richmond Dispatch, Dem. Taken as a whole, the messsage has impressed us favorably. It is a business-like document, and seems to have emanated from a man of affairs. The spirit manifested is generally good. In a word, we are agreeably surprised at the moderation of the new President. New York Sun, Ind. Dem. The message of yesterday is a well written, business-like document, marked by the characteristics that belong to Gen. Arthur himself. It is free from novelties and surprises, but is full of facts and suggestions. Baltimore Sun, Dem. The entire document is sensible and business-like in its statements and suggestions, dignified in tone, and written in simple, direct English. It is entirely free from any flavor of "stalwartism" or partisanship of any kind, and, in short, every way wor-thy of the high office which Mr. Ar-Also women troubled with discuss peculiar to their sex. The message of President Arthur is admirably written, calm and dignified in style and tone, and advises Congress, as it is his constitutional duty to do, on many important subjects, with a wisdom and sound judgje 8 Deod&W1y ment which will win for him the public confidence and for his recommendations the attentive consideration of both houses. Most of its recommendations seem to be entirely wise and judicious, and where we should differ from him, as in the treatment of the question of ship-ping, the President has but spoken the sentiments of his party, which vous Diseases .- A treatise by a well known physician, a specialist on these subjects, concludes as follows: "Neuralgia is one of the most painful of diseases, and is attended with more or less ner-vous irritation. Sciatica is also a form of neuralgia, and all painful nervous diseases come under that name. Neuralgia means nerve ache, and therefore you can suffer with neuralgia in any part of the body, as the nerves are supplied to part of the body, as the nerves are supplied to every part." I have for many years clesely studied the cause of neuralgia, and the nature of the nervous sys-tem, with the many diseases that it is subject to, and have found by actual experience that the true and primary cause of neuralgia is poverty of the nervous fluid—it becomes impoverished and poor, and in some cases starved, not because the patient does not est, but what is eaten is not appropriated to the nervous system; there are many causes for this, but Dr. C. W. Benson's Cel-ery and Chamomile Pills have in my hands proved a perfect remedy for this condition and these dis-eases.

Reports from the Charleston and Galveston Cotton Exchanges. [By Telegraph to the Morning Star.]

CHARLESTON, S. C., December 10 .- The report of the Charleston Cotton Exchange for November is based upon . 54 replies received from 27 counties, of average date of November 30. All except 11 report the weather during November as favorable, and in comparison with last year more favorin comparison with last year more favor-able for gathering the 'crop; forty-three state that the top crop has been made, but some of them say that it matured only par-tially; picking is expected to be finished on December 15th by '14, while 29 report picking as nearly finished, and 11 as en-tirely completed. The total yield as com-nared with last year is estimated as the tirely completed. The total yield as com-pared with last year is estimated as the same by two, as seven-eighths by three, three-fourths by fourteeh, two-thirds by twenty-eight, and one-half by ten. Frost came too late to do any damage except to kill some of the unmatured top crop. The proportion of the crop marketed is reported by two to be one-fourth, by six one-half, by seven two-thirds by twenty-one three seven two-thirds, by twenty-one three-fourths, and by eighteen seven-eights; show-ing that an average of about three-fourths of the yield has been marketed.

GALVESTON, December 10.-The Cotton Exchange report is as follows : 104 replies have been received from 77 counties, of average date November 30. Forty-four counties represent the we vember as favorable an he following is one of the very many testimonils we are receiving daily: Sentlemen: -Some three months ago I began the use of DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC, upon the ad-vite of many friends who knew its virtues. I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A racation of a month did not give me much re-lief, but on the contrary, was followed by in-crassed prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your IBON TONIC, from which I realized almost immediate and wonderful results. The old energy returned and I found that my natural force was not permanently abated. I have used three bottles of the TONIC. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the came time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tranquil nerve and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the TONIC has not done the work, I know not what. I give it the credit. Most gratefully yours.
