

Table with 2 columns: Date, Price. Shows subscription rates for different durations.

ADVERTISING SCHEDULE. (Entered at the Post Office at Wilmington, N. C., as Second Class Matter.)

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE. The subscription price of the WEEKLY STAR is as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Duration, Price. Lists rates for 1 year, 6 months, and 3 months.

THE TWO THEORIES. Guiteau's counsel attempts by evidence to show that he is insane, and, therefore, not responsible at law for the crime of assassination.

Dr. Spitzka, a sort of veterinary surgeon it is charged, was introduced to prove the criminal's insane condition, and, if we caught his meaning, he is of the opinion that Guiteau is afflicted with what he calls "moral insanity," and is consequently liable "to misinterpret the real affairs of life, especially those of a complex nature."

The jury will be perplexed when the arguments begin, we have no doubt, with subtleties and fine drawn theories. But Guiteau himself seems disposed to remove his case from the psychological arena to that of theology, and to risk his neck upon the question "whether or not his free moral agency was destroyed when he was impelled upon the President."

The general opinion is that Guiteau is a scoundrel of the most ingenious type, and that hanging is too good for him really. The real point is, was he of such unsound mind on July 2, when he fired the fatal shot at the President, as to destroy his moral responsibility. He may be crazy now, or he may have been insane a year since, but in point of fact was he insane during the weeks he hung around Washington in vain asking for, seeking office? Has that fact been established? Is it not apparent that he was more knave than crazy? Is it not clear enough that his mind is lucid and coherent enough to take advantage of every theory that favors him, to perplex counsel, and to try ingeniously to establish his own insanity? He is the first insane man on record who ever attempted to establish his insanity. Ordinarily insane men are very confident they are misjudged and persecuted, especially if they are like Guiteau, of superior mind naturally and by cultivation.

If you think it does not pay in the Northwest to plant trees, and if you think walnut does not fetch a round sum, read the following we clip from an exchange: "A black walnut grove that was planted by a Wisconsin farmer about twenty years ago on some waste land was recently sold for $45,000. The trees are now from sixteen to twenty inches through."

THE WEEKLY STAR.

U. S. SUPREME COURT.

The New York Times, referring to the complexion of the present Supreme Court of the United States, characterizes it as "weak and overworked." Partisanship has done the business. Grant and other stalwarts have not looked to legal attainments and other needed qualifications in selecting men for the highest Judiciary, but have regarded political affiliation and personal predilection merely. The result is a "weak" concern, as the ablest Republican paper stamps it. No wonder the Times suggests that no more "light-weight jurists" be put on the Bench. It says of all the persons mentioned for the place made vacant by the death of Judge Clifford that Boutwell is the only one who is "conspicuously lacking in qualifications for the place."

It says that Chief Justice Gray, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, is the best qualified by reason of character and training. Mr. Arthur owes it to the country to select the very best man possible for the office—a man of pure character and of high legal attainments and ability. The following is a most discreditable transaction and shows too plainly the low status of the Court. The Times says: "The law requires that it shall consist of a Chief Justice and eight Associate Justices. Since the present term began it has practically consisted of a Chief Justice and five Associate Justices, who have constituted a bare quorum. Something like a scandal has been reported in the fact that quite recently, when a case was to be decided in which Mr. Matthews was incapacitated from sitting in consequence of having acted as counsel for one of the parties, Justice Hunt was brought into the conference room in order to make up a quorum. According to the report, the Chief Justice, in announcing the opinion of the Court, stated that Mr. Justice Matthews did not participate in it, but that Mr. Justice Hunt occurred. As the latter has not sat upon the bench for more than three years, and could not have heard the arguments or given the case the least consideration, this strange proceeding to secure a quorum looks like a trick to evade the strict requirements of the law, which is altogether unworthy of so august a tribunal."

The following special appeared in the Philadelphia Evening News: "New York, November 30.—One of the most important results of the French visit at Yorktown has been the formation of a colonization society in this city for the purpose of taking up the grape-growing lands of Virginia and North Carolina, and assisting French emigrants to settle them. The society will have a capital of $50,000,000, over $1,000,000 being subscribed by the President of the New York and Havre Steamship Company. This is the society which Col. Peyton is connected with. He is now visiting our State for the purpose of learning more concerning our climate and soil with reference to their adaptability to grape-growing. A State that has four or five of the finest grapes on the continent and which are indigenous to its soil, ought to offer high and peculiar claims to any company looking to the colonization of experts from wine-producing countries and to large operations. The attempts made thus far in Cumberland, Halifax, Granville, Warren, Wake, Duplin, Columbus and perhaps other counties, to grow the grape on a considerable scale have been very successful. The exhibits made at Atlanta of native wines are reported as fine and as excellent greatly those of other States."

FROM HEADQUARTERS. "So the struck eagle stretched upon the plain. No more through rolling clouds to soar Viewed his own feather on the fatal dart. That winged the shaft that quivered in his heart." BROWN. Governor Jarvis appears in the Raleigh News-Observer in a three column article in reply to the Chatham County Resolutions, of which the readers of this paper are informed. The Governor supplements his first long paper in defence of his course in connection with certain railroads. It will be satisfactory to his admirers, doubtless, and the special champions and friends of the B. B. S. We must do the Governor the simple justice to say that the various papers that bear his signature are well done, both as to clearness of statement and plainness and vigor of style. The last is no exception. It is a very plausible production. If it was subjected to a severe scrutiny and analysis it might not prove such an invulnerable and satisfactory document as might be thought otherwise, and as the author considers it evidently. Gov. Jarvis expresses himself as thoroughly satisfied with his whole action, and is confident that the verdict of the people will be with him. He alone knows what motives controlled him. Others may only draw conclusions

THE GREAT TOURNEY.

A correspondent of the Raleigh News-Observer, writing from Burke county, referring to the Railroad war, says: "It is, however, a general remark in all public places of resort in the Piedmont region that the law allowed no public declaration of a flag purpose to occur. Back-town had ever been made."

That is what the STAR has said time and again. Senator Vance stuck his spurs in the sleepy animal, and ever since it has been yawning and snoring at a great rate. But the Burke writer brings out another point that is certainly deserving of special mention. It is the effort of the Big Buford Syndicate to avoid payment of taxes in the counties through which the Western North Carolina road runs. If they succeed then the people will be defrauded. The Burke correspondent says: "Judge Schenck this week files a bill in equity in the Federal Court in Charlotte, praying that the tax-collectors in Burke and other counties be restrained from getting out of this corporation their part of the great popular burden of annual State taxation. Yet it is known of all men that Senators Henderson, of Rowan, and Carter, of Buncombe, forced Best to swallow the tax feature, and that the bill of sale would not have passed without the tax provisions. And we are told that these men are the assignees of Best. What is an assignee?"

The B. B. S. are willing, after being spurred to their duty by Senator Vance, to undertake to carry out in seeming good faith their contract, or that part which suits their inclinations and pockets. Hence, to prevent the Best Boston Syndicate from getting the road back they will push work for the time with great activity, but they do not propose to carry out that part of the contract which requires an honest payment of taxes to the State. The Burke writer sees the drift of this action and says: "Now, no reader way could have been devised to convince all thinking men that Vance has not half-way stated the case of bad faith than this attempt on the part of the Richmond & Danville to escape taxation—a duty that lay in the threshold, as it were, of the bill."

If there is any thing clean and inviting about this Railroad business it fails to present itself. If Senator Vance is not more popular with a honest people of North Carolina in the future than he has ever been in the past, and we all know how great that has been, then we shall be disappointed. He has borne himself like a true knight who had taken an oath of loyalty and honor equal to that administered by King Arthur to the knights of "the Table Round," and who has kept it amid every pressure of temptation and every appliance of wrong. He has been true to his own honor and, therefore, he has not been false to the people. Says the Burke writer: "We are glad they have undertaken to put down Vance. That makes a kind of question and answer which we welcome it. When that knightly lance, victorious in the Richmond & Danville, goes down, there need come no other Richmond in the field."

In this tourney between the Knight of the Unerring Lance and the B. B. S., the people are very interested spectators. They know that their cause is represented by a most pugnacious defender whose white plume has never gone down upon any fatal field and whose battle axe has never fallen in vain upon the helmet and shield of an adversary. God speed, defend and uphold the right!

"North Carolina is progressive; her splendid play at the International Exposition demonstrated this; besides, five hundred of her best farmers, merchants, business men and mechanics from various sections of the State attended the Exposition in a body for the purpose of examining and ascertaining the testimony of the officers and mechanics in connection with the various industries and improvements there represented, so that they could put into practical effort the knowledge thus obtained. This is the kind of go-ahead-ness and intelligence that is needed to build up a State or people; and North Carolina is full of it. She is bound to prosper."—Norfolk Virginian.

We thank our friend for his encouraging words in behalf of our State. There is progress, we believe, but the race has just begun. With a greater diversity of enterprise, with more railroad facilities and larger water transportation facilities; with a greater development of the fine natural resources of the State and a constant multiplying of manufactures of various kinds; with more judicious farming, making home supplies and enriching the lands rendering them more productive and consequently more profitable, we may hope for North Carolina to take yet the true rank among the States for which the God of Nature intended her evidently. In climate she is superior to any State because we can grow the productions of the North and the South and to a high perfection.

THE GREAT TOURNEY.

A correspondent of the Raleigh News-Observer, writing from Burke county, referring to the Railroad war, says: "It is, however, a general remark in all public places of resort in the Piedmont region that the law allowed no public declaration of a flag purpose to occur. Back-town had ever been made."

That is what the STAR has said time and again. Senator Vance stuck his spurs in the sleepy animal, and ever since it has been yawning and snoring at a great rate. But the Burke writer brings out another point that is certainly deserving of special mention. It is the effort of the Big Buford Syndicate to avoid payment of taxes in the counties through which the Western North Carolina road runs. If they succeed then the people will be defrauded. The Burke correspondent says: "Judge Schenck this week files a bill in equity in the Federal Court in Charlotte, praying that the tax-collectors in Burke and other counties be restrained from getting out of this corporation their part of the great popular burden of annual State taxation. Yet it is known of all men that Senators Henderson, of Rowan, and Carter, of Buncombe, forced Best to swallow the tax feature, and that the bill of sale would not have passed without the tax provisions. And we are told that these men are the assignees of Best. What is an assignee?"

The B. B. S. are willing, after being spurred to their duty by Senator Vance, to undertake to carry out in seeming good faith their contract, or that part which suits their inclinations and pockets. Hence, to prevent the Best Boston Syndicate from getting the road back they will push work for the time with great activity, but they do not propose to carry out that part of the contract which requires an honest payment of taxes to the State. The Burke writer sees the drift of this action and says: "Now, no reader way could have been devised to convince all thinking men that Vance has not half-way stated the case of bad faith than this attempt on the part of the Richmond & Danville to escape taxation—a duty that lay in the threshold, as it were, of the bill."

If there is any thing clean and inviting about this Railroad business it fails to present itself. If Senator Vance is not more popular with a honest people of North Carolina in the future than he has ever been in the past, and we all know how great that has been, then we shall be disappointed. He has borne himself like a true knight who had taken an oath of loyalty and honor equal to that administered by King Arthur to the knights of "the Table Round," and who has kept it amid every pressure of temptation and every appliance of wrong. He has been true to his own honor and, therefore, he has not been false to the people. Says the Burke writer: "We are glad they have undertaken to put down Vance. That makes a kind of question and answer which we welcome it. When that knightly lance, victorious in the Richmond & Danville, goes down, there need come no other Richmond in the field."

In this tourney between the Knight of the Unerring Lance and the B. B. S., the people are very interested spectators. They know that their cause is represented by a most pugnacious defender whose white plume has never gone down upon any fatal field and whose battle axe has never fallen in vain upon the helmet and shield of an adversary. God speed, defend and uphold the right!

"North Carolina is progressive; her splendid play at the International Exposition demonstrated this; besides, five hundred of her best farmers, merchants, business men and mechanics from various sections of the State attended the Exposition in a body for the purpose of examining and ascertaining the testimony of the officers and mechanics in connection with the various industries and improvements there represented, so that they could put into practical effort the knowledge thus obtained. This is the kind of go-ahead-ness and intelligence that is needed to build up a State or people; and North Carolina is full of it. She is bound to prosper."—Norfolk Virginian.

We thank our friend for his encouraging words in behalf of our State. There is progress, we believe, but the race has just begun. With a greater diversity of enterprise, with more railroad facilities and larger water transportation facilities; with a greater development of the fine natural resources of the State and a constant multiplying of manufactures of various kinds; with more judicious farming, making home supplies and enriching the lands rendering them more productive and consequently more profitable, we may hope for North Carolina to take yet the true rank among the States for which the God of Nature intended her evidently. In climate she is superior to any State because we can grow the productions of the North and the South and to a high perfection.

Dr. E. W. Wason, of Onslow, was here yesterday, and, as usual, filled the head of our field editor with visions of flying quill, antlered monarchs and dusky ducks. We shall endeavor to destroy a few score of ten-gauge cartridges on the Doctor's domains before the "Spring time comes, gentle Annie."

A good sign for the country and honest men generally—the Star Route organs are abusing the new Attorney General, Brewster.

The Wilmington and Coast Railway Agents. E. F. Martin, the colored railroad man, called in yesterday afternoon to inform us that things are working all right for the success of his pet enterprise, the building of the Wilmington and Coast Railway from this city to the Sound and thence to Sneed's Ferry, Onslow county, and exhibited to us a map of a survey made some time since by Mr. Roderick McKim, which he said he would have duplicated some time between this and January next. Martin states that the people all along the line of the proposed road are eager for it, and a great many have told him to hurry up, so they can commence cutting the cross-ties. He says the right of way has been freely offered by those owning land along the route, provided the road does not run through cleared land, which Martin says will not be the case. To show the eagerness manifested in the matter he exhibited a silver quarter of a dollar, which was given him by an old colored man along the proposed route, who said he had no means to help build the road, but insisted that he should take the twenty-five cents to buy the paper upon which to write the proceedings of the first meeting.

Martin states that the following named persons have consented to act as directors and do all they can to forward the enterprise, besides whose names will be mentioned hereafter, Geo. M. Crapan, of Wilmington; A. R. Black, of New Hanover; Joe T. Roy, of Scott's Hill, Pender county; E. B. Bass, of Sloop Point, Pender county; Wm. King, of Topsail Sound, Pender county; Dr. E. C. McLenon, of Sneed's Ferry, Onslow county; Geo. T. Wason, of Goldsboro', and Capt. F. M. Wooten, of New Hanover.

Martin was to leave for Goldsboro' last evening on business connected with the proposed road.

Death of the Father of a Former Wilmingtonian. Mr. John B. Plummer, father of Capt. J. W. Plummer, formerly of this city, but now of Robeson county, died at Fairbairn, Minn., on the 30th ult., from injuries received in being accidentally run over by a horse attached to a buggy, the shafts striking his head and fracturing his skull. He was born in Freestone, Lincolnshire, England, moved to the United States in 1851, had been living in Fairbairn 22 years, and was in the 73rd year of his age. He was the father of sixteen children, eleven of which are living. The funeral took place on Thursday, the 1st inst., at the Cathedral, with the rites of the English High Church. Rev. Geo. Whipple, brother of Bishop Whipple, officiating.

A formal acceptance. We learn from Mr. H. Voller that a formal acceptance has just been received from Rev. F. W. E. Peschau, of Nashville, Tenn., of the unanimous call extended to him by the congregation of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, at their meeting on the 7th inst. It is not as yet known, however, the exact date when he will take charge, but it will probably be early in the ensuing year.

A man who, when he got his marriage license three years ago, put down his age as 35 years, was hauled up before Justice McQuill a few days ago, for failure to list his poll-tax, when he insisted upon it that he was 53. It makes a big difference whether it is twicedouble or twicedelete!

MASSACHUSETTS. The Offending Members of the Ninth Regiment to be Summarily Dismissed. (By Telegraph to the Morning Star.) Boston, December 17.—The committee appointed to investigate the conduct of the Ninth Massachusetts Regiment during its recent trip to Yorktown, find that the officers cited as simple intoxication, disobedience of orders and unsoldierly and ungentlemanly conduct, are true against twenty members of the regiment, but that according to the testimony of the officers such officers the more serious charges of stealing cheap whisky, insulting white girls on the streets, striking horses and carriages and mistreating the Libby Prison, have not been substantiated. Orders have been issued by the commander-in-chief of the militia for the summary dismissal of the offenders, and the regiment has been directed not to leave the army in uniform until the spring parade.

KANSAS. A Town Captured by Cowboys—The Marshal Killed. (By Telegraph to the Morning Star.) Wellington, December 17.—The town of Caldwell is in the hands of a mob of cowboys, and the authorities are powerless to do anything. Michael Mosher, formerly mayor, but lately marshal of the town, has been killed. The sheriff of this place, with a posse, has started for Caldwell.

PERSONAL. Among Mrs. Garfield's recent visitors at Cleveland have been the Attorney General and Mrs. MacVeagh. Guiteau seems to have got Corkhill "solid." His pleasant allusions to his approaching "bonnie" by the President must be delicious to Corkhill.—New Haven Register. J. C. Bancroft Davis, who has been nominated for Assistant Secretary of State, began his career in diplomacy as Secretary of the Legation in London in 1849. He became Assistant Secretary of State under Mr. Fish in 1869. In 1874 he was appointed Minister to Berlin. He is at present a judge of the Court of Claims.

Spirits Turpentine.

A pole punching comes off at Scotland Neck, N. C. At Tarboro', 7,360 bales of cotton have been received—a falling off of 639 bales. Mr. W. H. Malone, formerly a prominent lawyer of Asheville, has opened a law office at 508, 13th street Washington, D. C. Mr. Frank Powell has taken editorial charge of the Tarboro' Southern. We greet him cordially and hope he will like his new position.

Senator Vance, in his Boston speech, called the North Carolina Road "the horse-shoe line," a name which is decidedly suggestive and one which is destined to stick. Greensboro' Bugle: A railroad from some point in Randolph county, passing near the several cotton factories in that section, to High Point, on the North Carolina Railroad, is being talked about. We heard a prominent railroad official say last week that it would be built at an early day.

Raleigh Visitor: At the late term of the Superior Court in Vance county a fellow was indicted for robbing a train on the R. & G. R. R. We learn that the criminal was convicted and sentenced to ten years imprisonment in the penitentiary. This is just as it should be, and we trust that such criminals may share the same, or a harder fate. Greensboro' Bugle: The dry summer produced the largest crop of turkeys ever raised in this country. The market is well supplied for Christmas at prices ranging from 50 cents to $1.—We learn that a young man named Andrew B. B. of Guilford county, was killed yesterday evening while cutting wood in the woods near his home.

Thomas N. Arrington, representative in the Georgia Legislature, was attacked with paralysis and died last Sunday. The Albany (Ga.) News and Advertiser says of him: "Mr. Arrington was prominent among the successful, self-sustaining farmers who have given Brooks county a name of honor. He was a well known throughout southern Georgia. He was a good man and his death is universally regretted." It is not this "Nash" Arrington, who was graduated at the University of North Carolina some thirty years or more ago.—STAR.

Tarboro' Southerner: Mr. Jos. Stanton while crossing Grindle Creek, near his residence, fell from the foot bridge and broke his leg just above the ankle. Last Sunday, at Whitakers, an altercation occurred between General Pittman and John Lyman. Pittman was armed with an old musket and John with a razor. Pittman asked John if he wanted to be blown up, to which John replied, "Blow me up." Pittman fired the shot taking effect on the right side of the neck, going downward into the stomach. At the inquest held by Coroner Camper, the jury found that John Lyman caused the death of General Pittman. Pittman was committed for trial.

Norfolk Virginian: We learn that a contract has been entered into for the completion of this road. Some years ago the line was graded all the way from Tarboro' to Williamston, on the Roanoke, about thirty-four miles, eight miles of which were laid with iron, but the work was stopped for want of funds. It is understood that the company is connected with another, organized under the charter of the Seaboard & Roanoke Railroad, and will build about fifty miles of road between Raleigh and Rocky Mount, thus completing the rail route between the capital of the State and the lower Roanoke. Our informant states that hands are actually at work clearing up the old graded track.

Fayetteville Examiner: The new factory of Mr. H. G. Hall, on Person street, went into operation on Monday, the 5th inst. The main building is a substantial structure, thirty by eighty feet, with the roof and is well lighted. It is well fitted with machinery for the manufacture of cotton yarn, running from No. 8 to 16, the market for which will be Philadelphia. The most satisfactory guarantee that any purchaser of the State's interest in the C. F. & Y. V. R. R. can give of good faith and an intention to complete the road is the fact that the State has no other building built in an additional guarantee of an intention to keep on building. Any grantee, therefore, we take it, will be required to complete a certain number of miles of road within a limited time.

Kinston Journal: C. F. Harvey has a receipt from the Mills at the Oxford Orphan Asylum for $108, the proceeds of the Thanksgiving festival. The dwelling house of Senas Noble, colored, in Pink Hill township, was burned last Thursday evening. The children of the oldest being five years old, were left alone in the house, but the boy had presence of mind enough to get the smaller ones out. The water in Neuse river is again too low for the steamer Neuse to reach Kinston. Elsie Lang, of Hanrahan's, Pitt county, in 1873 purchased a plantation which produced a bale of cotton to eight acres. This year she made on the same land, with the old mode of culture, twenty-five (25) pounds each on 87 acres, 50 barrels of corn and 250 bushels of potatoes.

Norfolk Public Ledger: North Carolina has certainly done her share in showing to the world the extent and variety of her products—mineral, vegetable and agricultural. Her collection of minerals and woods is the finest on exhibition, and her farm products are second only to the display of Kansas, which latter collection was prepared for the Philadelphia Centennial. The specimens of wood from North Carolina number one hundred and twenty-eight, and embrace a larger variety than can be found in any other State in the Union. Dr. Carpenter of Edenton, has on exhibition a section of a cypress tree from the Roanoke river, furnished him by Mr. Dennis Simmons, which measures nine feet four inches in diameter. The same tree was recently depicted in the North Carolina department a certificate from Mr. Simmons, stating that the latter had obtained 20,000 shingles from one tree cut in the Roanoke region.

Charlotte Observer: It was stated in this city yesterday that Maj. J. W. Wilson, of the Western North Carolina Railroad, will run a train over that road to Paint Rock to-morrow. D. A. Davis, Esq., of Salisbury, a gentleman well known throughout North Carolina, took his residence in that place on the night of Wednesday, 14th inst., in his 80th year. Mr. Davis was for many years cashier of the Bank of Cape Fear, at Salisbury. Intelligence reached this city yesterday morning to the effect that Dr. Cyrus Lee Hunter, of Lincoln county, suffered a stroke of paralysis Wednesday evening while on his way home from Dr. S. K. Johnston's, where he had been visiting. Dr. Hunter was stricken while on horseback, and fell by the wayside, from which place he was removed to his home, where he has since lain in an insensible condition, with no hope of recovery. Mr. Rozzell, living at Rozzell's Ferry, on the Catawba river, reports that the number of fish being taken in traps from that stream exceeds anything within his experience, although he has been familiar with this business along the Catawba for the past forty years. The larger portion of the fish being caught now appear to be about a year old, and it is thought the large run of fish in this stream is the result of the plant made by the fish commissioners.

Raleigh News-Observer: We have a communication from Senator Vance that will appear to-morrow. E. C. Smedes was yesterday thrown from his horse, on Fayetteville street, near the capitol, but fortunately sustained no injuries. Mr. Smedes' horse, which was a defensible but commissioner, returned yesterday from Washington, D. C., bringing with him treasures in the shape of 1,500 young German carp for distribution. Judge Geo. Y. Brody's health continues very feeble. A meeting of the Hornets' Nest Riflemen and citizens of Charlotte was held Tuesday, to take steps to build a handsome armory for that company, which is one of the best in the State, and of which Charlotte is very proud. The sold men of that city are lending a helping hand to the project. It is proposed to have a military fair. The company at Henderson, known as the Henderson Light Infantry, has been disbanded, and the arms held by it are to be turned over to the Horner School. A motion made before Judge Seymour at Fayetteville, in the case of McDonald county vs. the Western North Carolina Railroad, for the appointment of a receiver, has been refused. Governor Jarvis has commuted the sentence of William H. Fann, while, who was convicted of the murder of Mr. Gatling, in Hertford county last year. The commutation is to imprisonment for life, at hard labor, in the Penitentiary.

Raleigh News-Observer: In the cotton department there are now 60 pupils of these 25 males and 30 females are blind. There are now in the white department of the Deaf and Dumb Institution 190 pupils. Of these 94 males and 33 females are deaf and dumb, and 29 males and 30 females are blind. Judge R. T. Bennett has been appointed to hold Mecklenburg Court January 9. Judge A. A. McCoy has been appointed to hold a term of Sampson Superior Court January 16. Judge J. C. G. Gutter has been appointed to hold a term of Guilford Superior Court January 23. These are all special terms.

Yesterday two negro street laborers quarreled while on duty at McDowell place. From words they came to blows, when one of them, Anthony Farrar, struck the other, Eaton Drake, just above the forehead with a heavy iron hammer, falling him to the ground. The man who was injured man was literally covered with blood. Farrar was taken before the Mayor, who held him to appear at court. Strange to say, had as the wounds of Drake appear as they are, they are not to be "written." On Tuesday was a grand affair: A large party from Norfolk went to Edenton and were received by Mayor Hathaway, to which Mr. Phillips, of the State, and other real syndicate, responded. Maj. John Gatling, of Raleigh, made an excellent speech. Among other speakers were Col. J. D. Starke, of Norfolk, and Col. R. B. Crockett, of the same place. The length of this new road, just completed, is 78 miles. The sheriff of Alexander county, yesterday, brought down to the penitentiary a white convict, sentenced to one year imprisonment for robbing a two-story building, which was burned on Monday night, at the store owned by Miss Anna Hardie. Evidently it was the work of an incendiary. The house, which was a two-story building, was burned to the ground. The upper story was used as a residence by Mr. Henry Bailey. He lost all his furniture, which was insured for $200. The lower story, which had been rented and made ready for merchandising. The insurance on the building was $1,500.

OUR STATE CONTEMPORARIES. The glittering prize of a seat in the Senate Chamber would not tempt any North Carolinian of standing to share the obloquy which attaches to the treason of "Little Amintion." The entire North produced but one Arnold, and the entire South but one other, but merely as Republicans.—Raleigh News-Observer. We do not think there is any probability that the tax will be taken off, as the government cannot do without the revenue, and there is no other way that the people would sooner pay tax on. Nearly all European governments tax tobacco and most of them have a monopoly of the business. If our government can do with less tax, let it be removed from the necessities of life first, then tobacco next. However inconsistent it may sound to some editors who are clamoring for a speedy removal of the tax, yet it is nevertheless true that it would be almost as damaging to the tobacco grower as to the manufacturer.—Durham Recorder.

POLITICAL POINTS. Senator Hill says the difficulty about civil service reform is that while everybody preaches it nobody practices it. "It will be curious to note how many National Banks will rush to the Treasury Department to surrender their circulation, now that Senator Sherman is anxious to farther a three cent bond, says a discriminating financial paper, the Somerset Journal. Has Mr. George Jones, of the New York Times, turned over the $250,000 bequest to our great Object of National Charity? The public anxiously await a report. Did Mr. Jones make a speech, and did the Object reply? We think there is some fun behind all this mystery.—Atlanta Constitution, Dem.

The President has developed the highest qualities of constitutional statesmanship," were the words that little Mittides Haines, of the New York Times, was holding and then added: "What does that mean, pop?" "It means, my boy," explained Mr. Marrowfat, "that the editor is probably a postmaster and feels aggrievedly disappointed that his crank 'been turned out.'"—Brooklyn Eagle, Dem.

SOUTHERN ITEMS. A grand consolidation of the St. Louis iron mills is being perfected, in which $5,000,000 capital will be represented. In one of the Mississippi towns, not very far from Memphis, on the line of the Mississippi River, a man named Bessie the lady, aged fifty years, shot and severely wounded an impudent white tramp who attempted to enter the house after being ordered not to do so. The lady, who is small but game, and a crack shot with the pistol, was the only white person in the house when the burly tramp approached.

Guiteau is being rapidly proved a "lewd fellow of the baser sort"—an inveterate beast and devil, who ought to be speedily put out of a world he has disgraced.—Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle.