SIR JONES AND HIS WIFE. MARGARET VANDERGRIFT.

Sir Jones he twisted his slight mustache, And he gazed in the glass with pride, And if it were not, he said, "so hot, I would take her this day to ride."

Sir Jones he pondered in thoughtful mood, And he gazed in the mirror still, Till at last right firmly he stood, And he said, "By St. George, I will!"

Sir Jones he hired a stately steed, And a buggy both narrow and high, And he drove to the lady's door with speed, And he waited for her reply:

The lady graciously said him yes, And she decked herself in white, And he lashed his steed, and they went in a pricelike boom, and yet, for 10 cents, you can satisfy yourself that there is a cure for you, and for $5, at the very furthest that cure can be fully secured.

From a very short half-hour's ride, Sir Jones he gazed from his window high, And he ground his teeth that Fourth of July.

Saying, "Gust shall this holiday be! Yes, ever henceforth, this Fourth of July Shall be a black-letter day, For she said me nay, with scorn in her eye, And I for the steed and the tall buggy Must a whole week's salary pay!"

GROWTH IN SILK CULTURE PREDICTED. A number of invited guests were present at the American Silk-Rearing Exhibition, in New York, Monday evening, to listen to a lecture by Herman Rookes on the purpose and process of, and other matters pertaining to, silk culture in this country.

Before the lecture the invited guests visited the tables covered with silkworms in all stages of life, from the egg to the butterfly, while a Japanese boy was reeling off the silk from the cocoon, and the weaving process was going on at the loom.

Since the opening of the exhibition there has been added a large number of the various kinds of worms, and the hall has been decorated with Japanese pictures representing the silk culture in that country.

The object of the exhibition, the lecturer said, was to show what could be done in silk culture in this country. The silkworm for silk could all be kept here. There were mulberry trees enough that would give food to the worms sufficient to produce all the silk needed.

It was easy work, the speaker added, for the children to take part in, by feeding and watching over the worms, and that France was able in a large degree to pay her great debt incurred in the Franco-Prussian war through the part the chrysalis took in the silk culture.

In conclusion, he predicted a large growth in silkworm culture and silk manufacturing in this country within a few years.

ENCOURAGING BUSINESS REVIEW. Bradstreet's, Saturday. The special dispatches to Bradstreet's this week from the leading trade centres of the country are again encouraging.

The generally satisfactory crop reports have served to give greater confidence, and to warrant preparations for at least a fairly active fall trade. The excessive rains throughout the central West created fears that an average corn crop would not be secured.

While the rains have retarded the growth of the plant greatly, there is no present reason for believing that the crop will not be fully, if not more than an average one. The outlook for the wheat crop is quite all that could reasonably be desired.

Wheat harvesting is general as far North as Kentucky. In Southern Kentucky threshing has begun. The berry is reported large, but owing to dampness the condition is not satisfactory.
