

THE OTHER FELLOWS.

The sun had retired through the golden gates. To his bed in the glided west. And the moon was tilting her silver horns.

Was slowly swinging around with me. In the moon's passionate whirl. And my heart kept time to the fairy tread.

She breathed her love on my tender soul. Like a sigh from the bosom of the West. And I looked in her eyes with a right that was mine.

AN APPEAL.

To the People of North Carolina. TARBORO, N. C., October 12, 1888. Major-General William Dorsey Pender was buried in the cemetery of Calvary Episcopal church at Tarboro, N. C. His grave is not marked save with a cordon of cannon balls placed there by his faithful comrades in arms.

The Edgecombe Guards have appointed the undersigned a committee to solicit funds to erect a suitable monument to the memory of the illustrious North Carolina soldier.

History tells of his gallant deeds and the glory of his career. His fame is North Carolina's, and she should take care of his memory. The "peer of Stonewall Jackson" deserves at the hands of his native State a monument sacred to his memory.

Capt. S. A. Ashe, of Raleigh, has consented to act as treasurer of the Pender Monument Fund. Let all men (and women) who love their State contribute something of their means to help build the monument.

The press of the State is earnestly requested to publish this appeal. OREN WILLIAMS, Sr., Captain. WALTER P. WILLIAMSON, 1st Lieut. JAMES Y. PARIS, 2d Lieut. Edgecombe Guards' Committee Pender Monument.

COTTON.

New York Commercial Chronicle. NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The movement of the crop, as indicated by our telegrams from the South to-night, is given below. For the week ending this evening (Oct. 12) the total receipts have reached 228,897 bales, against 165,461 bales last week, 125,032 bales the previous week and 96,819 bales three weeks since; making the total receipts since September 1st, 1883, 713,885 bales, against 682,976 bales for the same period of 1882, showing an increase since September 1st, 1883, of 30,889 bales.

The exports for the week ending this evening reach a total of 74,083 bales, of which 36,940 were to Great Britain, 14,026 to France and 23,117 to the rest of the Continent, while the stocks as made up this evening are now 515,238 bales.

On Thursday the Bureau report was printed, and caused a momentary advance here as well as at Liverpool; but as the report came to be analyzed, it was declared to point to a crop of at least 5,800,000 bales. Then came a sharp pressure to sell, under which prices fell off sharply, and the close was 9 1/2 points below Wednesday. To-day Liverpool was decidedly lower, and this market further declined 5 1/2 points, closing unsettled. Cotton on the spot has met with but a moderate general demand. Quotations were advanced 1-16c on Saturday and again on Monday, and 3/8c on Tuesday. To-day the sales embraced a large line in transit, but the close was easy at 10 1/2 for middling uplands. The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 897,200 bales.

WORK FOR A DEMOCRATIC HOUSE.

Boston Herald, Ind. Rep. No House that has met for years has had its proper course so clearly marked out for it by the condition of the treasury, the state of business and the tendencies of public opinion. It will be confronted with the same problem that met the last Congress: A surplus revenue of $100,000,000 and a budget that has already swollen to enormous proportions. There is need of both strict economy and tax reduction. The excuse of a lack of information as to the state of manufactures, which sufficed to delay action four years and two years ago, no longer exists. The tariff commission gathered all the data which Congress will need to guide its action. Business of all sorts adjusted itself without shock or serious loss, to the changes made last spring. All that needs to be done now is to adopt a brief measure enlarging the free list, to accomplish the double purpose of reducing the revenue and relieving manufacturers from the handicap of taxed materials and lowering the duty on the staple necessities of the people. There is nothing revolutionary or disastrously disturbing in such a policy. It is, in fact, in strict accord with what Mr. Carlisle critic a conservative reduction of revenue.

An unpleasant catalogue constantly being printed, in which human infirmity is specified as headache, nervousness, dyspepsia, neuralgia, paralysis and ague, can be entirely expelled from the records, by the use of Dr. Benson's Celery and Chamomile Pills.

THE TARIFF ISSUE.

Louisville Courier Journal.

How can any thoughtful Democrat imagine that the Democratic party can dodge, and still less hedge, the tariff issue in the next Presidential campaign? During forty years the Democratic party has committed itself to a revenue tariff. In 1856 it was for "progressive free trade." In 1876 it demanded that "all custom house taxation shall be only for revenue." In 1880 it declared in favor of "a tariff for revenue only."

In 1856 and in 1876 it elected its Presidential tickets. In 1880 its nominees were defeated. There are those who think the tariff clause did it. Yet in the preceding canvass the same tariff clause was in the platform. That which defeated Hancock was the mismanagement of the campaign, notably Hancock's foolish telegram to Plaiestad, and his equally foolish gabble about the tariff. The Republicans were of course quick to take the customary advantage afforded them by Democratic folly.

Shall the errors of the past be repeated in the future, or shall we in 1884 take the field, having an affirmative policy, believing in that and prepared to defend it? No matter what we do, or what we say, or whether we do nothing or say nothing, we shall be described and denounced by the Republicans as free-traders.

There is no way to escape this. It is a charge which springs from the Democratic record and addresses itself in the absence of a definite Democratic policy to the ignorance and credulity of the floating vote.

As when Shaker's Young. "I have used Parker's Hair Balsam and like it better than any similar preparation I know of," writes Mrs. Ellen Perry, wife of Rev. P. Perry, of Goldbrook Springs, Mass. "My hair was almost entirely gray, but a dollar bottle of the Balsam has restored the color to the brown color it had when I was young—not a single gray hair left. Since I began applying the Balsam my hair has stopped falling out, and I find that it is a perfectly harmless and agreeable dressing."

NO ABOLITION OF TAXES ON LUXURIES.

Warrenton Gazette. Some of our exchanges are demanding the total abolition of the internal revenue system. This may be a very popular slogan, but is it feasible? This is a big country; a great deal of money is required to pay its annual expenses. This money must be raised in some way. The only way the Government has of raising revenue is by imports—that is a tax on all goods brought into this country from other countries, and from the internal revenue on tobacco and whiskey. We favor the abolition of the internal revenue, if an import tax sufficient only for current government expenses, and not for protection, can be raised. If this kind of a tax can not be raised by the tariff, then we favor a tax on tobacco and whiskey because they are not real necessities, and therefore unnecessary, can be taxed as luxuries. But if the internal revenue is retained we want it collected by the sheriffs of the respective counties, who will report to the State Treasurer, who in turn will settle with the United States Treasurer.

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE. FOR WAKEFULNESS.—Dr. Wm. P. Clothier, Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I prescribed it for a Catholic priest, who was a hard student, for wakefulness, extreme nervousness, etc. He reports great benefit."

NEEDED REFORM ON RAILROADS.

Richmond Christian Advocate. On some of the Virginia railroads traveling in the winter is an invitation to disease to make an attack. In the heating of the coaches the worse possible system prevails. A tall coal stove is used. The upper part of the car is as hot as the desert of Yuma, while the feet of the passengers are shivering with cold. The head ought to be in the cool atmosphere, and the warmth brought to the ankles. It never seems to have occurred to the builders of these vehicles that warm air rises and cold air clings to the floor. If the management would go to a neighboring line, they could find steam or hot air pipes at the feet of the travelers, and no high red hot stoves to scorch the scalp. A trip of a half day in those sweat and freezing cars during the winter is a sure road to serious sickness. Wise travelers avoid such lines.

Attention to the illustrations thrust into ladies' laps by the news vendors might save a blush and teach these young scamps a lesson in decency and politeness. A fellow with obscene papers ought never to be allowed to peddle his filthy wares on a conveyance for modest and clean people.

Ministers found its Prevalence. Rev. Mr. Greenfield, Knoxville, Tenn., writes as follows: "Samaritan Nervine permanently cured my son of epileptic fits. Here's food for thought. Sold by druggists, $1.50."

What is a Blood Corpuscle?

A blood corpuscle is one of the smallest things on earth. It is a flat little disc, not exactly round, but nearly so, and not quite the thirteen hundredth part of an inch long.

Blood corpuscles are closely laid alongside of each other in your blood. They are of a bright red color. They owe this color to the iron that is in them. But for this red color of the corpuscles, the blood would be a colorless fluid.

As the blood rapidly goes its rounds through arteries and veins, driven by the heart, the corpuscles go with it, forming a very important part of it.

If there is not enough iron in the blood, the corpuscles suffer. You cannot feel a corpuscle, nor can you see one, except with the microscope. But you can tell that they suffer, by finding out that you are weak and poorly and pale. The cheerful red that is on a healthy cheek is owing to the iron in the blood corpuscles.

When the cheek is blanched and pale and looks almost lifeless, it is because there is not enough iron in your blood. "How can I get iron into my blood?" asks somebody whose acquaintance with that metal is in the way of nails, poles, horseshoes, or railway rails. The iron in the blood is the self-same metal as in the heavy hardware. But oh! in such a different shape!

There is a wonderful preparation of iron that is made so that it nourishes the blood by entering into it and becoming a part of it thus traveling through arteries, veins, and heart. This preparation is an important part of Brown's Iron Bitters, the medicine which has acquired such fame as a builder-up of broken-down systems, and an invigorator of the blood. Brown's Iron Bitters gives you the health and strength which you can obtain from no other source.
