NOW FOR VICTORY.

North Carolina has a splendid State ticket. It never had a better ticket. We do not believe it has ever had as good a one. The Democrats have given us a Presidential ticket that every honest man in the land might be proud to support, for whatever else men may say or think of the ticket they are simply compelled to admit that Cleveland and Hendricks are men of high integrity. With these two tickets why may not North Carolina elect them by full 25,000 majority. Tilden and Hendricks carried the State by more than 17,000 majority in 1876. The population of the State has increased more than two hundred thousand since then. There are more reasons after the eight years of plunder and rascality for a change of Federal rulers in 1884 than there were in We have good reason for say ing that at least 40,000 men who prefer the Democratic to the Republican party do not vote. Let us organize for victory and let us sweep the State by from 25,000 to 30,000 majority. Organization can do that. Now for victory.

The Republican revolt is widening At Eastport, Maine, "several prominent Republicans have declared that they will not support Blaine," says a special to the Boston Post. At Indianapolis, the News says, "quite a number of local anti-Blaine Republicans have signed the independents call for a conference to take place following the Democratic Convention, to decide what is best to be done." The Boston Advertiser, the leading Republican paper of New England, opposes Blaine, and says:

"The independents continue to receive letters from all over the State from Republicans who are not for the Blaine and Logan ticket. One letter stated yesterday that there were scores of old-line Republicans in the little towns of Franklin, Hampden, aud Hampshire counties who avowed their purpose not to support the ticket. Long lists of anti-Blaine men have been sent in from Taunton, Fall River and many of the towns on the cape, while in and about Boston the revolt is said to take in a large proportion of the Republican party.'

The Fourteenth District in New York has taken the bit in its teeth and has not waited for Tammany. Forty members of the Tammany General Committee met to ratify the Democratic nominations. The Sun's report says:

"Among those present were John Farrel, Frank McNicol, James A. Hanley, Leo Sonnenberg, D. J. Moore, Michael Tully, L. J. Conlan, C. Burns, Assemblyman John E. Donnelly, George H. Stokes, Dr. M. J. B. Messemer, and Henry Bischoff, Jr. Dr. Messemer presided. Register Reilly said it was the duty of every man who professed to be a Democrat to work for Cleveland and Hendricks. He had no doubt that the entire organization of Tammany would support them, and use every effort in its power to elect them. Henry Bischoff, Jr., said that while Cleveland had not been his first choice, yet the claims of party were preeminent, and he would leave ammany before he would leave his party. D. J. Moore, who is the Chairman of association, said there was nothing left for the Democrats to do except to support Cleveland. The very worst Democrat was better than a Republican."

Other speeches of a similar character were made. Register Reilly said there would be no traitors in Tammany. Resolutions indorsing the ticket passed, only two or three voting no.

Senator Bayard has a very good opinion of Cleveland. In a recent interview he is thus referred to:

"He referred to Mr. Cleveland's letter of acceptance of the Gubernatorial nomina-tion in 1882 as an admirable document which had attracted his attention at the time and lingered in his memory, and he was prepared to believe that the time had now come when the American people, tiring of the evils of Republican misgovernment, and repulsed by the ticket which that party had put into the field, would demand and secure a change of administration."

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS-VICTORY We surrender much of our space to day to the reproducing of the opinions of Democratic, Independent Democratic, Independent, Republican, Independent Republican, Tariff Reform and Protection pers on the nomination of Grover Cleveland, of New York, for President. The great Independent paper of New York, the Herald, not only warmly supports the Democratic ticket, but it has placed the ticket at the head of its editorial columns, very unusual thing for that paper to do, we think. The leading Republican papers and Independent Republican papers, like the N. Y. Times and Philadelphia Times, are especially warm in behalf of the ticket. We copy from two leading Republican papers of Philadelphia that speak very cordial words for Cleveland. We shall give from day to day other opinions as our exchanges come in. The general voice of all of the papers that we have examined up to this present writing, with the exception of organs like the Philadelphia Press and Baltimore American, and such bilious sheets as the New York Sun and Star, is favorable to the ticket. Gov. Cleveland is especially commended for his high sense of duty, his willingness to do what is right, his purity and integrity of character. Some do not think him the strongest candidate possibly that could have been chosen, but al regard him as possessing excellent qualities for the highest public office and as possessing in an eminent de

We are gratified to read these tes timonials. We rejoice that the se lection of the candidate for the first place excites so much hearty com mendation and sympathy among that class of journals that can do so much to secure the triumph of our former-firmness, decision, devotion

At the time we make up our pres comments the nomination of ex-Gov. Hendricks has not been commented upon so generally. There can be no doubt of the great acceptableness of his nomination to all Democrats, especially to all who voted for Tilden and Hendricks in 1876, and who re member the great fraud. The Republican papers indorsing Cleveland are not so enamored of Hendricks. They cannot get over the fact that their party was guilty of a stupendous theft and they will never forgive him for it. It is a curious trait in fallen humanity that it never forgives the man it wrongs. Your worst enemy will be the man who has injured you. He is sure to bear eternal malice because at some time he wronged you. Hendricks will give very decided help to the ticket, not only in Indiana, but in other Western States, and he will cause the Democrats in the South to rally with more zeal and heartiness to the ticket. There is not an ugly spot on Hendricks's character. He went unscathed through the most heated campaign since the war, that of 1876, and no stain was found to rest upon his good name. No public man has a better political record-one less obnoxious to criticism. Of course liars and defamers can lie upon and defame the best and holiest men. But we have tire Democracy of the country except, it may be, that element that regards John Kelly as the Mohammed of politics and it will no doubt be supported by tens of thousands of Reform Republicans, not only in New York and New England and New Jersey, but throughout the Union. In all the States there are high-toned, honorable Republicans no reference to the jackals of party.

The ticket will draw to it the en-who will prefer honest men to bad men, and who will support Cleveland and Hendricks. The campaign will be a very exciting one. Blaine will stir up all of the worst elements in his party, and he will have the negroes greatly aroused before November. But the Democrats, as the elections of 1882 clearly showed, are largely in the ascendant in the country, and the best men in the Republican party in a half-dozen States will help, and, therefore, a strong, live; vigorous, pertinacious campaign will be conducted by them. We believe that with an united and earnest and continuous effort we can carry the country and place honest, just and reliable men once more in power. So be it. A suffering country de-

THE PLATFORM-TARIFF AND IN TERNAL TAX.

We had only given an abstract of the Democratic platform a hurried reading when we wrote our editorial of Saturday. We desire to supplement what we said, by referring to two points only. The platform itself is so long, so elaborate, covers so much ground that it would be a month's work to take it up in order and to discuss its propositions and ideas fully.

We will say frankly that the Tariff plank is more for reduction and reform than we at first thought. An examination of what is said shows hat it is much more a triumph for Carlisle and Morrison than for Randall and Judge Kelley. But it is not without some contradictions that onds. He made the last ten in 39 will be difficult to reconcile and that minutes, and the last mile in 3.15.

chance to disagree as to what is the platform for what was it intendmeant. For instance, the Philadelphia Press, Protection organ, represents it as a straddler and gives a drawing to show that one prong rests on Free Trade and one prong on Protection. The Philadelphia Ame rican, an able organ of the Protectionists, thinks the platform is the work of a committee presided over by Mr. Facing-both-ways. But these objections are extreme. platform is a strong Reform platform. The underlying principle of the structure is Reform. However various the ideas presented they are all held together by the silken string of Reform.

The platform favors a reduction of the surplus. A most wise demand. It shows that this reduction must be made by cutting down gradually the present War Tariff until you reach the standard of a Tariff for revenue. The wording differs from the old platforms of the party, but possibly the meaning is about the same. The platform says and it is as true as truth itself:

"Unnecessary taxation is unjust taxa tion. We denounce the Republican party for having failed to relieve the people from crushing war taxes, which have paralyzed business, crippled industry, and deprived labor of employment and of just reward."

There is no mistaking this, The War Taxes have been a curse to the country, "have paralyzed business, crippled industry and deprived labor of employment and of just reward." So the War Taxes are "unnecessary" and "unjust" and must be cut down. That is the declaration of the Convention. Very good! But the platform is even more explicit. It says:

"The Democratic party is pledged to re-vise the tariff in a spirit of fairness to all interests. But in making reduction in taxes, it is not proposed to injure any domestic industries, but rather to promote their healthy growth. Speaker Carlisle, in his speeches in the Congress and in New York, laid down the exact platform of reform and reduction. It was not to impair, or revolutionize the indus tries by sudden and violent changes. He said the efforts of the Democratic party were reformatory and not revolutionary. The platform seems to idea. It says : and must be effected without depriving American labor of the ability to compete successfully with foreign labor, and without imposing lower rates of duty than will be ample to cover any increased cost of production which may exist in consequence of the higher rate of wages prevailing in Here is a concession that is not well taken and which Tariff Reform. ers have been fighting, that the Tariff tax does increase the wages of laborers. But here is probably the cream of the whole milking:

"We, therefore, denounce the abuse of the existing tariff, and, subject to the preceding limitations, we demand that Federal taxation shall be exclusively for public pur-poses, and shall not exceed the demands of the Government economically administered.

If that is not a Tariff for Revenue only with incidental protection we are unable to read between the lines. The New York Sun, a Protection paper with some Democratic leanngs, gives the following as a fair digest or summary of the Tariff plank: I. The surplus in the Treasury must be

II. Internal revenue taxes can only be justified for war purposes. Their proceeds should be devoted exclusively to war pen-sions and to care for disabled soldiers. III. The tariff must be reformed, and in this reform the principle of Protection to American Industry shall be sacredly regarded and maintained

'the Sun likes the platform, says it is "contect with it." It says:

"The whole question is placed on the ground of practical statesmanship and the necessities of the country. The free tra-der surrenders no iota of his aspirations; the protectionist has nothing to construe away or apologize for. It is judicious, wise, and progressive"

If the Protection Sun is satisfied the Southern Protectionists may accept it. The Chicago Inter-Ocean says the plank is "crooked and sinuous," and adds :

"It is significant that of the thirty eight members of the committee thirty-seven were against the Butler tariff plank."

The Philadelphia Times, another Protection paper, likes the platform, and tells its friends, the Protection Republicans, that if they "can think of a better system of tariff, revision they are at liberty to present it, but they will not be able to attack the Democrats for promising the same thing that they have promised and honestly explaining, as they themselves have failed to do, the methods of their proposed reform."

The other plank we but refer to is the Internal Revenue, The plank proposes to retain the tax on whiskey and tobacco until the pensions and war debt are liquidated. It was levied for war purposes and the money must be so applied. This will prevent Democrats from proposing to divert it to an improper use like teaching the negroes the three R's. The Blair bill will find no comfort in that plank. The plank

"The system of direct taxation known "The system of direct taxation known as "internal revenue" is a war tax, and so long as the law continues the money derived therefrom should be sacredly devoted to the relief of the people from the remaining burdens of the war and be made a fund to defray the expense of the care and comfort of worthy soldiers disabled in the line of duty in the wars of the republic, and for the payment of such pensions as Continuous and the care and comfort of the payment of such pensions as Continuous and the care and comfort of the payment of such pensions as Continuous and the care an for the payment of such pensions as Con-gress may from time to time grant to such soldiers, a like fund for the sailors having been already provided, and any surplus should be paid into the Treasury."

The STAR has been fully vindicated in its course by the action of the Democrats of the United States. The prospect is that these taxes on whiskey and tobacco will be in existence at the end of the century,

If the Blair bill does not get a give papers of different classes a black-eye in the following plank in shippers.

John Kelly was born in the city of New York on the 21st of April, 1821. John is 63 years of age, and is old enough to do much better than he does. He is at least old enough to distinguish between right and wrong doing-between the honest ticket and the "tattooed" ticket. John has served as city Alderman, served two terms in the U.S. House and four vears as State Comptroller.

At Charlotte on Monday the mercury recorded 98 degrees. At Charleston on the same day it stood at 96. It was 88 in Wilmington. The highest was Sunday, 90; Monday, 88; Tuesday, 88; and Wednesday, 871 degrees. Wilmington is a good resort for the Charlotte folks during the heated term, it is so much cooler and healthier here.

FIENDISH MURDER.

Particulars of a Horrible Murder in Cumberland County-Posse in Pursuit-The Inquest, &c.

Intelligence of a terrible murder comes

o us from Cumberland county. One day during the latter part of last week there was a cider-drinking on the east side of the Cape Fear river, about six miles from Fayetteville, during which a difficulty occurred between John Chance and Frank Royal, both colored, and both somewhat under the influence of their numerous potations Finally Chance succeeded in getting the better of Royal, and it was generally acknowledged that the latter was a "whipped nigger." His defeat aroused bitter feelings in the heart of Royal and he determined upon revenge. He went home and prevailed upon his wife to send for Chance to come and see her. and he in the meantime concealed himself upon the premises. All unsuspectingly John Chance went to the house of his late antagonist, had a chat with his wife and was on the point of leaving, when Royal, who was on one side of the door, knocked companions, to whom he related the cir cumstances of the bloody tragedy, and actually broke one of his legs and cut off one of his arms with the axe. Sheriff R. W. Hardie was notified, and immediately issued the necessary papers for the murderer's capture, which were placed in the hands of John Chance's brothers, who were deputized to make the arrest. They started in pursuit of Royal, accompanied by a posse, but up to Monday morning they had not succeeded in taking

John Chance, the murdered man, was about 25 years old and leaves no family. Frank Royal, the murderer, is about 35 and is married.

Information Wanted. The following letter is published at the request of Mr. David L. Schively, Superintendent of the National Cemetery, Raleigh, N. C. Possibly the records in the office of the National Cemetery here may give the desired information. Our own impression is,owing to the similarity of the name given by the Herald, that Mr. Eby went down in RALEIGH, N. C., July 15, 1884,

DEAR SIR :- During the latter part of February, 1865, a young soldier, Company A. 7th Penn., Reserves, who had been captured at the Battle of the Wilderness, imprisoned at Hendersonville, and subse quently brought to N. E. Ferry, Cap Paer river, was paroled and went to Wilmington for the purpose of taking passage for his home in Carlisle, Pa., on one of the transports lying there. The last heard of him was that he had scalded his feet and had been carried to one of the hospitals in Wilmington. Yet in the list of those who had gone down on board the General Lyon, published in the New York Herald, was a name which corresponded to his with the exception of one letter, the published name being J. Harry Ely, while his name was J. Harry Eby, an I for a b being the only difference. Still, how could he have been carried from this boat to the hospital and yet sail on the boat unless the boat itself was the hospital, which sometime occurred? The information desired is, did he sail onthe General Lyon, or did he die and become buried at Wilmington. There is a bare possibility that some of the older members f your community may have met and renber something about this young man. Any one able to give any information cerning this matter will confer a great favor upon the members of his family, who are desirous of learning something definite as to his fate, by communicating their knowl-edge to his sister, Miss Kitty M. Eby, Car-lisle, Cumberland county, Pa. Singular Accident to a Soldier. We are sorry to learn that one of the soldiers of the Sumter Light Infantry met with quite a severe accident on the way down to Smithville Tuesday morning. The soldier was sitting on the railing of the lower deck as the boat was about stopping at Kendall, a few miles below the city, for some passenger to get off, when one of the wharf posts came in contact with the back of his head, scraping and bruising it badly. A bandage of ice was placed upon his head. and upon his arrival at Smithville he had to be assisted from the boat. The hurt is not considered serious. Since writing the above, we learn that t was the one of the fenders, that being pressed between the steamer and the wharf. suddenly became freed, and the jar given caused it to strike the soldier on the back of the head. At last accounts he was still suffering a good deal from the accident.

A Cyclone on its Travels. Mr. J. G. Parker, Capt. Paddison and others from Point Caswell report that a evelone passed over that place on Sunday night, about half-past 8 o'clock. Its ap proach was heralded by a loud noise, re sembling the rumbling of a train of cars. A number of trees were blown down near there and at Beatty's Bridge, some miles above, but when it passed the Point it was at too high an elevation to do any damage, except to badly frighten many of the people. 'The cloud was pitchy black, and the sound which came from it as it passed over the village was enough to make the stoutst heart tremble. There was no rain and only a few flashes of lightning.

The same cloud, it is supposed, passed over the city a little later. It was very black and its motion very rapid, while it was accompanied with a gust of wind tha shook up things quite lively for a few moments, but, as was the case at Point Cas well, it was at too great an elevation to do any damage here, though it may have done some elsewhere. The crops in Pender were not hurt by it.

There is a city in North Carolina that lays claim to such a distinction, but it is not Wilmington. Our contemporary speaks of "Dry Pond" slightingly, and as if it were an outlying suburb of Wilmington, as Oberlin is to Raleigh and other such places may be to Charlotte, when in fact it is right in the midst of the city, as much a portion of it as Market street, and contains among its residents some of the best people of Wilmington. We have no outlying suburbs to swell our population and don't need

Sad and Unexpected Death. Miss Mollie J. Parker, a young lady of his city, left here a few weeks ago to visit relatives in Pender and Bladen counties. At the residence of Mr. T. F. Pridgen, her uncle, in the latter county, she was attacked with typhoid fever, and on the 9th inst., at the early age of 18, she was called to pass through the valley and shadow of death, leaving many devoted friends and relatives to mourn her departure. Mr. Wm. Larkins, of this city, was the guardian of the young lady, and she was a half sister of Mr. N. F. Parker.

Pine Fruit. We saw yesterday another evidence of the fact that our soil and climate are well adapted to fruit culture. Mr. Wm. Goodman brought us four peaches, plucked from a tree in his garden, which weighed nearly two pounds. They were not only large, but they were sound, ripe and finely flavored. We are surprised that so little attention is given to fruit culture in this immedate section. - The grapes at Capt. S. Noble's vineyard are ripening, and it is a beautiful sight to see the rich clusters as they hang in profusion and are glimpsed beneath the canopy of green leaves which protect them from the sun's rays. It is also a source of great pleasure to examine the many varieties, some of which are the nfiest and largest we ever saw.

We are glad to learn from one of the surgeons who amputated the arm of Mr. Nathan Smith, who was so badly injured at Rocky Point, Sunday morning, by getting in the way of a passing train, that he is now doing well and is expected to recover. One of his collar bones was fractured, in addition to the loss of an arm.

- Fruit Fair at Goldsboro July 30th and 31st. State Exposition at Raleigh from October 1st to the 28th. Those who have fruit to exhibit should make one a stepping-stone to the other. At all events don't forget the Fruit Fair. New Hanover can make an exhibit to be proud of.

Some of the largest and finest peaches in the State come from the orchard of Mr. L. W. Howard, at Topsail Sound, seventeen miles below this city. We saw a specimen of them yesterday morning. He has ten acres in peaches and pays particular attention to fruit culture.

Butler's candidacy for the Presidency on an independent ticket, and stating definitely and positively the the will run. Shively, who is stopping at the Briggs House, this city, expressed to-day the most absolute certainty that Gen. Butler would be a candidate with the endorsement of the Greenbackers, Anti-Monopolists, and probably the laboring men. Butler's refusal at present to make a public statement, Shively says, is prompted by the motive to see first what can be done at a convention of labor representations. at a convention of labor representations, to be held in Chicago July 30th.

GOV. CLEVELAND'S MANLY SPEECH LAST NIGHY.

ALBANY, July 11 .- This evening at 9 o'clock a serenade was given to the Governor at the executive mansion by the Young Men's Democratic Club, who were joined by their invited guests, the Jacksonians. The number of citizens who congregated in and about the executive mansion was several thousand. The Tenth Regiment band played several selections, after which the Governor appeared at the main portico. He was received with much enthusiasm. He spoke as follows:
