These degraded men formed the speculation showing more tone. ffee boilers.' I first saw systematic "coffee boiling," a sure sign that discipline was relaxed, at Cold Harbor. In the woods to the right and rear of my battery groups of unwounded men cooked and boiled coffee. These men had dropped out of their commands as they approached the battle line and had hidden in the woods. There were scores of them in the army at Cold Harbor. There were handreds of them around Petersburg. They were always present when rations were issued. They were never present when cartridges were supplied. They were, without exception, thieves. They robbed the dead. They stole from the living. They were strongly suspected of killing wounded men o' nights. More cowardly creatures were never clad in the uniform of English speaking peoples. They plandered houses. They frightened women and little children. They burned dwellings, To call a soldier of the Army of the Potomac a coffee boiler was an insult to be promptly resented. * * It did not he within the power of any regimental officers to hold these undisciplined blackguards steady under fire. Dozens of times I have seen them break and run, throwing away their arms as they fled, yelling, to the rear and to their coffee pots. They weakened the battle lines, as no man can fight when surrounded by cowards, who are easily panicstricken, and who are unrestrained by any consideration of pride from ignominiously running away to save their lives.- No man really enjoys a battle. One has to string up his nerves, and take a firm grip on him-self morally, and hold himself in the battle flame for a few moments until warmed to passion. The impulse is to run out of the danger. The men the bounty brokers supplied to the army had no morality, no sentiment except of fear, and they could not and would not stand fire. They desired to live to enjoy the spending of the money they had received. So they shirked, and ran, and boiled coffee in the rear until gathered up by the provost guards and sent to their regiments. They were disciplined somewhat during the winter of 1864 65. * * After the battle of June 18,1864, the enlisted men frequently discussed the condition of the Army of the Potomac. They sat o' nights in groups behind the intrenchments and talked, talked, talked of the disintegrating force which Grant commanded. Enormous losses of prisoners were reported, losses that were incurred while charging earth-works, which fact clearly showed that our troops had surrendered after reaching the Confederate intrenchments-surrendered rather than attempt to take them or return to our ine under the deadly accurate fire of the Confederate infantry. Many of the volunteers vehemently asserted that the bounty paid recruits really deserted during action to seek safety in Confederate prison pens. The enlisted men who had gathered into ranks under McClellan, and who had been forged into soldiers by that admired drill master, all said that the this rule, if amended as suggested. all applications would be made to the Board of Examiners, and applicants would have no good reason for calling on either board or the appointing or nominating officer, after their standing had been ascertained and notice thereof had been given to them The notice thereof has observed that members of Commission has observed that members of the Board of Examiners as well as the ap-pointing and nominating officers, furnish blank form of application to personal and political friends, not for their use, but for distribution among persons those friends desire to please. Thus many persons, who have no desire to enter the Civil Service, are induced to become applicants for admission; and in this way, to the great inconvenience of the Commission and disappointment of many hundreds of persons who do desire admision, the number of applicants is increased much in excess of the needs of the service. For the purpose of preventing interested parties from thus using blank forms of application in this injurious manner, the Com mission proposes to have Rule 9 so amend WILMINGTON, N. In view of these facts and considerations, the Commission respectfully advise that Rule 9 be amended as above herein set forth

The Treasurer of the Atlantic Mills Defaulter for About $600,000-Trouble Among Operatives of Clothing Manufacturers.

[By Telegraph to the Morning Star.] Boston, August 17 .- The managing diectors of the Atlantic Mills Company are still engaged upon the books of the corporation in relation to the shortage of Wm Gray, Jr., late Treasurer, but at present the exact amount of his defalcation cannot be learned with certainty. In an interview this morning with two of the principal directors, who are anxious that their names should be withheld, the following facts were learned: Last Friday the deficiency was discovered by an examiner appointed by the directors, and on Saturday Gray came to the office and was confronted with the charge. He, after a moment or two, confessed the crime and acknowledged that he had embezzled the funds of the Company for $500,000 or $600,000, but as to the use to which he put the money, his only reply was "building operations." This ac counting is believed to be true by the direc tors, who say his operations of this charac ter in Roxbury have been notorious. It is also believed that Gray has told the truth regarding the amount embezzled, and the irectors do not expect to find that it wil exceed $600,000. On Sunday Gray, ac-companied by his brother-in-law and other friends, went on board his yacht, the friends, went on board his yacht, the Huron, and cruised about the lower harbor and bay during the day and spent the night below. Monday morning the yacht came up to the city and landed Gray and his companions on the Central wharf. Gray ordered the captain to get ready to sail again at 2 p. m., at which time Gray stated he would be on board. The captain has not seen Gray since, and the Huron still

He may possibly be traced by his turnout. Gray is 55 years old. He wears a dark moustache tinged with grey, and the top of his head is slightly bald. His hair is streaked with grey and he brushes it so as to cover his baldness, his neck and hands are much sunburned. Officers say he has gone empty-handed, the money he spirit that has caused this war in Belfast has been manifested in Lan-coshire with deplorable results.

of the Mill Troubles at Augusta. By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

AUGUSTA, Aug. 17 .- The following pro position has been accepted by the mill presidents of the organization as the basis of settlement. It is respectfully suggested that the authorities of cotton factories open said factories and place all employes in their former positions at the present sched-ule of wages; then the matter of wages and grievances, such as the pass system, in-creasing the amount of labor to constitute a day's work, and what is termed the "Vic timization of members of Knights of Labor," shall be submitted to a com-mittee of five disinterested parties, to be mutually agreed upon for arbitration. The conclusion arrived at by said urbitration committee shall be binding on both parties, and date from the reopening of the mills. The said arbitration committee shall be appointed by the following plan: The Executive Board of the Knights of Labor shall select five men; the Executive Committee of the manufacturers five men, and from these ten men each party shall strike off one alternately until four names remain. These four shall select a fifth man, having with themselves the qualifications hereinafter prescribed. The names from which the said arbitration committee is to be chosen, shall be furnished within twenty-four hours after this plan shall have been agreed to, and arbitration shall commence within forty-eight hours after the acceptance of the plan. No person shall be eligible to serve on arbitration committee who is a Knig Labor or interested in mills, cither as holder, president or employee In the justment by the committee of five in the matter of wages, the sum total of the present pay roll shall not be exceeded, but the committee may increase wages in some cases and decrease wages in other cases, on said committee's discretion. The committee of Knights of Labor shall have the first strike in form ng the committee of five, as this proposition is authorized by them. The four committeemen shall not be of the number stricken off by either party. The agreement arrived at gives great satisfaction to all classes of our people. It re-opens the doors of the factories to three thousand idle operatives. Fred Turner, Grand Secretary and Treasurer of the Knights of Labor, is entitled to much praise for his conservative action. He leaves tonight for Birmingham, Ala., to settle trou-ble in that city.

Democratic State Convention-Ringing Speech from the Temporary Chairman.

Ev Telegraph to the Morning Star. HARRISBURG, August 18 .-- The Democratic State Convention was called to order at 10.30 o'clock, in the Opera House, by Chairman Hinsel. Hon. R. Miller Speer nominated Judge M. O. Hermann, of Cum berland county, as temporary chairman. After calling the roll of delegates fifteen contests were announced, of which nine were from Philadelphia.

stage was greeted with applause, and upon assuming the chair he said the Democratic party has always been the promoter of the the national wealth and the prosperity of its people. The gentlemen here met are manifestly bent on the most judicious nominations, will do their work well, and adopt a platform o as to meet the approbation of the people. Our adversaries, who insist upon asserting that the usefulness of the Democratic party is over cannot be believed, in the light of the facts that here in this State Democrats stand at the head of executive affairs, and that Grover Cleveland, backed by a Democratic House and the Democratic party, is giving the purest ad-ministration of public affairs that has blessed us for a quarter of a century. The people will give a most vigorous and de-termined support to the ticket that shall be
