Another most important question for our people is the water supply. How can there be sound health with had water? We were in Edgecombe county some seventeen years ago. A farmer was having bored an artesian well. We asked why he resorted to this plan? His reply was: "Four miles from here there is a plantation with over a hundred negroes upon it. They were always having chills and fevers. Some years ago the owner had an artesian well constructed and closed up all other sources of water supply. The result is that now none has chills-they have all disappeared." If you drink impure water you do it at a risk. Water derived from sources contaminated by animal and vegetable matter is not fit for drinking purposes until it has been subjected to thorough purification. It matters not how this is done, so it is done. In all water into which animal and vegetable matter enters there are organic germs of a pernicious character. Remember this. You cannot take parasites into the human organism without danger. These parasites live on the tissues and take possession of the internal organisms and scourges follow often. The waters under the earth and the streams are very apt to be filled with these unseen sources of disease that surely and mevitably do their fateful and insidious work. An infinite propagation is going on all the time. Without constant purification people may be drinking death. Bacteria, as they are called, swim in all the drinking water in Wilmington, we may well believe. But just here people will not listen or heed. All water ought to be filtered or boiled before drinking, unless it is ascertained by thorough analysis that the water is free from animalculæ. The people have to learn much that is important in the matter of drinking water.

No sink or similar source of infection and destruction should be tolerated in any town. Instruction at this point is a positive necessity. If those having charge of the public health would consult the leading physicians they would learn that in the matter of sinks, &c., the carting away of soil and the purifying of drinking water there was the greatest need of attention.

A Colored Woman Burned to Desth. A colored woman named Rose Johnson, about seventy years of age, was burned to death a few days ago, in a small cabin occupied by herself and her sister, Mary Merritt, on the "Nat Hill" plantation, about five miles from the city, across Northeast river. Mary Merritt was in town yesterday seeking assistance. She says that she was absent from home at the time of the fire and could not tell how it occurred, having left the house about m idday. When she returned late in the evening she found the house and everything else burned up. Her sister's body, almost entirely consumed, was found in the ashes of the cabin.

WHOLESALE LYNCHING. Five Negro Murderers Taken from

Jall and Hung by Sixty Undisguised Men at Vorkville, S.C. By Telegraph to the Morning Sta

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 5 .- At half past 4 o'clock this morning about sixty unlisguised men forcibly entered the jail Yorkville, broke open the cells and seized Giles Good, Bailey Dowdle, Dan Roberts Prendley Thompson and Mose Lipscom negroes charged with the mur John Lee Good, a young white lad, in December last. Taking the prisoners on mile north of the village they hanged them to the limbs of trees. These negroes on ganized a conspiracy in the fall of 1886 steal cotton, and to murder if necessary to conceal their crimes, and they killed youn Good for informing on them. The prison ers were to have been tried this week, but the lynchers got shead of the law. In the Court of General Sessions to-day Judge Pressley charged the grand jury th while such cases are to be deplored; ye like the Edgefield case, it would be difficu to convict any one through the courts. H said the law should be changed so as to allow sheriffs to summon a posse sufficient to guard their prisoners. The lynchers an not known and no steps have as yet bee taken to identify them. The bodies of the five pegroes were taken charge of and buried by the county authorities. The ynching was quietly executed and showed thorough organization on the part of those engaged in it. John Lee Good, the murdered boy, was 12 years old, and a son o William Good, a prominent farmer of York county. On the 30th of November he detected several negroes stealing cotton from his father's field. They set upon him and beat him to death to preventh is informing on them. Mose Lipscomb, Dan Roberts Bailey Dowdle and Printy Thompson wer suspected and arrested. Printy and Dar confessed that they did the killing and implicated others. Subsequent investigation showed that these negroes belonged to a large band, who were bound together by secret oaths for the purpose of robbery and to kill any one who detected them in the act of stealing.

Death of Hon. D. Wyatt Alken. [By Telegraph to the Morning Star.]

WASHINGTON, April 6.-Hon. D. Wyatt Aiken, late Representative in Congress from the Third South Carolina District, died at his home in Cokesburry, S. C., this morn-ing, aged 59. He had been in ill-health for long time and a severe fall, received during the 48th Congress, compelled his removal to his home, which he was unable to leave to attend the sessions of the 49th Congress, to which he was elected.

Col. Aiken was born in South Carolina in 1828, and, after graduating from the South Carolina College, began farming and ontinued in that occupation till the time of his last illness. In 1861 he entered the Confederate volunteer service as a private and rose to the rank of colonel. At the battle of Antietam he was shot through the lungs and had to resign from the army in 1864 He served two terms in the State Legislature, was Master of the State Grange for two years and a member of the Executive Committee of the National Grange for fourteen years; was a delegate to the Tilden and Hendricks National Convention and was a Representative in Conto the 45th, 46th, 47th, 48th and 49th Congresses, serving as chairman of the Committee on Education in the last Congress.

fearful Explosion of Gas-Works Blown to Splinters and Thirteen Lives Lost.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star CHICAGO, April 6.—A special from Vinita, I. T., referring to the mine dis-sster at Savannah, Tuesday, says: The body of gas fired must have been immense; the torrent of flames forced from the mouth of the slope was over one hundred feet in height and illuminated the whole, country like an immense flash of lightning. It was followed with such a concussion as to startle every one for miles around, and people in immediate vicinity were severely shocked. The engine house and lifting works, a structure over one hundred feet long and two stories high, was blown into splinters by the current driven out of the pe, and in a few minutes was enveloped in flames From the character of the building, and being literally saturated with oil, it was not possible to save anything from the flames. There were six men in the mine at the moment of the explosion, which occurred at 1.10 p. m. These men were all killed. Their names were: Miles Jarrett, Dave Jones, Hugh Dooley, Wm. Barnes, Chas. Parson and Bert French. The most distressing part of the accident is the suffocation of thirteen more, who were attempting with others to reach the were attempting with others to reach the fated men through an adjoining mine. They were James Ward, James McGinnis, Frad Bolz, Thomas Naven, Mike Kelly, Thomas Daniels, George Hill, Pat Glaney, Robert Miller, Pat Fagan, John Williams, Peter Renald and Wm. Hudson. The workings of the two mines run together fan down in the mines, but these means of communication have never been attended to, nor was the top open or in order, although they furnish they only means of escape from one mine to another, and now, when they are needed, it is impossible to get sufficient air through the old disused entries to enable the men to prosecute the search. able the men to prosecute the search.
