STUDY OF STATE HISTORY AT THE UNIVERSITY.

President Battle on Thursday evening last invited the faculty and students to meet in his office for organizing a society for the study and development of the history of the State. The meeting was very successful. President Battle, who was appointed temporary chairman, urged the importance of being lost, records destroyed. Injustice is done our State by writers of history elsewhere and no effective contradiction is offered. Efforts were made in 1879 to interest our people in a State history. Let us not repeat the same old new plan. Let us go to work. Let an association be formed of members who will prepare monographs on the thousands of subjects of interest in our history. The part taken by North Carolina in the Revolutionary struggle has been obscured and maligned. Let us take warning from the past and prevent similar injustice in the future. A great impulse has been given to the study of American history especially at the North. Let us place ourselves in rapport with these workers. Let us ask for cooperation by patriotic citizens throughout our limits.

Albany (Ga.) News and Advertiser. Here is something we want our free-trade contemporaries to digest: Nine-tenths of all manufactured articles used by farmers are cheaper in the United States than in England. Atlanta Constitution, Potomacist. If that be true it is a successful refutation of every argument that the Constitution has added to show the pretended necessity for protection. What can it profit us to continue a useless policy? If our manufactured goods are cheaper in this country than English goods are in England, why try to legislate foreign products out? Cotton should run well except that water should run up stream. The truth is very few understand the philosophy of legislation. The statute law ought to be auxiliary and not opposed to the natural laws of trade and traffic. A wise legislation is in conformity to the trend of natural law, as is the law of cause and effect. Nothing is not evil or harmful because it is prohibited, but prohibited because it is evil or hurtful.

Democracy of New York proposed to take of the State a new yielding $100,000,000. The Tribune. Dearest of neighbors! The word "duties" is not once used in the recent Democratic platform. It is Federal "taxation" that it declares should be "straightway reduced" by $100,000,000 a year. Pray remember the $116,000,000 or $119,000,000 of internal taxes, all of which Mr. Kelley insists in the last Forum must come off! This is the New York Democrats' order of reduction, or removal altogether, as Congress shall decide: 1. Duties on imported raw materials. 2. Taxes which increase the price of clothing and necessities of life. 3. Several hundred articles, which now pay petty duties, to be put on free list. 4. Reduction or removal of internal revenue taxes to complete the $100,000,000.

Our very able contemporary, the State Chronicle, in a long editorial in its last issue insists that North Carolina Congressmen ought not to vote for Carlisle for Speaker because he is opposed to the repeal of the internal revenue laws. The Chronicle is in error. He is not opposed to the internal revenue law as the Chronicle can be; but it finds no reason in this for opposing Carlisle who is par excellence the leader of the Democracy in the House. A purer, abler man can not be found—a truer Democrat—a more philosophical statesman. Why then shall Congressmen vote against him when he is in perfect harmony with them on all subjects except this? We recognize the fact that this is an important exception; but what would the Chronicle have our representatives do? It says they would not do for them to vote for Randall, because he is not in harmony with them on the tariff reduction. There's the rub. With the exception of North Carolina and Virginia representatives nearly all of the Democrats in the House who are Tariff Reformers are opposed to the abolition of the internal revenue. Those who favor its abolition with the above exception are protectionists.

Carlyle's "Heroes and Hero Worship" has just been translated into French and published with a dedication to M. Renna. Where the Gods Pines. Certain dentists who have tooth troubles to sell, and who find that the BOZDONT is taking the place of every other tooth in the land, have the best knowledge and hint that it is deleterious. If they mean deleterious to their interests, no doubt they are right. But if they mean deleterious to the cavities who have nothing to say against it, as evil effects would bring grief to their mill; their motives are too transparent not to be seen by every intelligent person.
