chinery now costs the Government. While fiscal revenues to the annual amount of $30,000,000 would be lost to the Treasury by repealing the tobacco tax, nothing would be gained in administrative economy.

Repeal of the tax on tobacco would be the entering wedge of a policy of which the outcome would be the destruction of the entire internal revenue system. The enemies of a fiscal method that gathers nearly $120,000,-000 annual revenue from voluntary taxes upon drink and smoke are attacking it in detail. If they had power they would repeal the whole internal system at a blow as the most effective mode of defeating tariff reform in the next Congress. If they could carry an important outpost by repealing the tobacco tax the rest of their work would be easy of accomplishment. Repeal of the tobacco tax should, therefore, be firmly resisted by the friends of revenue reform, not mere: ly because it would be in itself a mischievous and unwise measure of fiscal legislation, but because it would prepare the way for a complete overthrow of the internal revenue system.

N.Y.Commercial and Financial Chronicle NEW YORK, Oct. 7 .- The movement of the crop, as indicated by our telegrams from the South to-night, is given below. For the week ending this evening (Oct. 7) the total receipts have reached 251,186 bales, against 238,745 bales last week, 187,-740 bales the previous week, and 126,041 bales three weeks since making the total receipts since the 1st of Sept., 1886, 905,962 bales, against 589,325 bales for the same period of 1885-86, showing an increase since Sept. 1, 1887, of 319,471 bales. The exports for the week ending this evening reach a total of 170,439 bales, of which 103,530 were to Great Britain, 14,152 to France and 52,757 to the rest of the Continent. To day the market was very unsettled, but made some further advance in the later dealings. Cotton on the spot met with on a limited demand for home consumption, and although stocks were still small, quotations were reduced 1-16c. on Monday. To-day the market was dull and weak at 9 7-h6c. for middling uplands. The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 542,600 bales.

By putting coal, iron ore, wool, salt, flax, hemp, jute, chemicals, drystuffs, and the rest of the raw materials of labor, on the free list with rice, fish, and certain other necessaries of living, an annual reduction of $20,000,000 would be made in current revenue from customs. Ex-Secretary Manning indulged in no exaggeration when he said in his Treasury report of last December that a repeal of the duties on wool alone would afford more relief to the workingmen of this country than would the total repeal of the internal taxes on whiskey. Yet the duties on wool last year did not much exceed $5,000,000, while the internal reven-

CHICAGO MARKET BEVIEW.

Dull Day in Wheat and Corn -Provisions Weak and Lower. By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.-When the session opened there was a show of activity, but it State vs. Foy, from Craven; argued by Attorney General for the was delusive, for extreme dullness followed State, and Mr. Clement Manly for in all crowds except scalpers in wheat, and business in that pit was light and local. Millhiser vs. Edman, from Craven; The first indication was for better prices, but they too proved delusive in both wheat argued by Mr. Clement Manly for and corn before 11 a m, when wheat was the plaintiff, and Mr. W. W. Clark off ic and corn #c. The corn crowd deserted the pit very largely. Bear tactics operated against very favorable cables, but wheat operators stuck to business and before noon December Guion & Pelletier for the plaintiff rallied to 721c, after touching 721@721c, while much business in the wheat pit was of a scalping order. Underneath this there was considerable quiet investigation by holdere. This, with the fact that there was not much offered except when scalpers attempted to realize, gave the market a general upward tendency. The most depressing time of the day followed the opening. The last half hour was marked by weakness caused by local sellers and the closing quotations were, compared with Tuesday, a shade better for near futures and one point off for May. Cables were decidedly in favor of better prices for corn, so were light receipts, but the spirit of sell-ing was the ruling one of the day, and with local bears easily pulled corn down ic without even getting up moderate activity in the pit. Charters were liberal, 478,009 bushels, but this was not known in time to affect the market. Receipts were 346 cars with 375 cars predicted for Thursday. Willey vs. Norfolk Southern R.R.; In eats the only change of note was the ncreased demand for October, the result of Gatling vs. Boon; error; appellant which was to cause about 1c advance. In other deliveries only a small volume of business was done and the quotations of the day exhibit no essential change. Provisions were weaker and prices averaged lower. A fair business was transacted at the decline. Receipts of hogs were larger and prices lower. This had a de-whole. Within it, marble of every shade and variety, enough to build a palace on every hill. There is slate enough to cover all its habitations, and leave enough to defend them. There is bread enough to feed many times its population, cotton enough to clothe them, water-power enough for all manufacturing, and gold enough for currency; while above it an all-benignant Providence lends the balmiest of skies, and with health-giving breezes drives from its borders pestilential diseases I have singled out the scene immediately around this beautiful city, in order to fix your attention upon the capabilities of a part, that you may more readily calculate the possi-bilities of the whole.

After introducing Mr. Randall, that gentleman said: "Plato's beautiful description of the far-famed Atlantis may be aptly applied to the State of Georgia. We be-hold the extent and fertility of the land, with its lofty mountains, its temperate climate, its mineral wealth, its unmeasured possibilities. The labor and intelligence of the statesmanship of Georgia, it matters not for us to inquire why or wherefore, long slumbered in the midst of this great wealth and knew it not; but soon there came a time when the people threw cff this lethargy, and instructed by the example and success of others, and impressed by industrial ambition, started out upon a career which has already cheered and gladdened this common weath from one end of it to the other. Mountains yield up their hidden treasures, fields furnish abundant harvests, rivers no longer run idly by, but turn the wheels of busy industry; and comfort and plenty, morality and good order, settle down upon this fair land like a benediction. No wonder, then, that we witness the erection of these splendid palaces of peace. Here are exhibited the latest triumphs of labor-saving machines and the choicest products of the farm, mine and factory. They are true and sure signs of the progress and prosperity of the people. They are the outcome from the masses, and not the gift of the select few, and the lesson only needs to be learned in these happier days by those who would keep abreast of modern progress. They are not only the occasion of innocent and laudable festivity and rejoicing for what has already been accomplished, but they serve to stimulate the intelligence, capital and labor of the community to a greater advance and more effective results." From this point Mr. Randall proceeded to give a resume of the statistics of the past nine months, showing the wonderful progress, exemplified by the fact that while the increase in values in the Union last year was 49 per cent ; that in the South was 120. After dealing with these statistics for some time, he arrived at the discovery that while manufactured products necessary for the general use of the people had decreased in price the wages of labor had largely increased. From this discovery he proceeded to the conclusion following: "Bearch after truth has exposed the fallacies of science as well as the falsehood in history. It has for example been declared with dogmatic energy and persistence that under certain conditions of duties on imports, prices of food and clothing would be higher, while the wages of labor would be lower. Now, it has been demonstrated by the investigation to which I have alluded, that in the years since 1860, the reverse has been ac tually proven to be the fact, by whatever standard tested, and the prices of food and clothing have been reduced, the wages of labor increased, and the profits of capital lessened : while despite those whose theories predictions and selfish interests have contemplated failure and discomfiture of people in developing their industrial resources, the people, nevertheless, have risen superior to all adverse influences, and achieved complete, and I believe lasting victory." At 3 45 o'clock Mr. Randall concluded speaking and touched a button. The signal was given to General Young, batteries opened, and to the music of booming can-non, the machinery of the great Exposition started. The bicycle race was won by Homes Reed, of Atlanta.
