The bill also in-cludes the woolen and worsted cloth sec-tion of the Mills bill. This measure, it is estimated, would reduce the revenues about $40,000,000. It is generally believed that this measure will be the main recourse of the Ways and Means Democrats in the ap-proaching conflict with the Appropriations Committee. The Weekly Star. TO ADVERTISERS. The report of the Committee on Ways and Meshe upon the Senate amendments raises the constitutional point that the bill as it came from the Senate, is a violation of the provisions of the constitution, allowing the House of Representatives the power to originate revenue bills, therefore the accom-panying resolution directs the return of the bill to the Senate. The remainder of the report is devoted to an explanation of the points of difference between the Senate and House bills, and an argument intended to prove that the Senate bill is in no sense a proper amendment of the House bill. The committee at its meeting this morning practically decided to report a bill making an estimated reduction in the re-venues of about seventy million dollars. no particular reason why the negroes should be anxious to vote. Twenty years ago, when South Carolina was under negro rule, it the Legislature, and the more activeminded of the race cherished political ambitions. But there have now been fonz years of Democratic rule, and the negro voters find themselves neither better nor worse off under Cleveland than they were under Arthur. They long age abandoned the hope of "forty acres and a mule" that animated them during the period of reconstruction and the exisience of the Freedmen's Bureau. They have now nothing tangible to hope or to fear from politics. The interest that enlightened citizens take in good government as such is of course quite beyond their apprehension. The partisanship that serves as a substitute for patriotism is equally remote from them.

Ceased to Pay. New York Herald, Ind.

Our various correspondents have felt the pulse of public opinion in nearly every State of the South, and the result may be found in other columns of this morning's Herald.

The South has large hopes and few fears in connection with Mr. Harrison's administration. The memory of the old carpet bag rule still rankles a little, but the general helief is that Harrison will treat its people "on the square." All they ask is that he will forget that there is any South or any North, or East or West, and pursue a policy which will bear evenly on the shoulders of every section of the country.

They don't need to be encouraged. they don't care to be concilitated. and they don't want to be humiliated. This is about the situation.

Well, if we can read the signs of the times, this bloody shirt business has ceased to be profitable. That article of wearing apparel will soon be-come inflated by the favoring gale, and take its flight to regions unknown. When it soars aloft we shall not cry "God speed you!" but rather "Good riddance."

from all manufactured articles, leaving products of agriculture to bear all the burdens of the internal tax system. The taxes proposed to be repealed by the bill reported are particularly oppressive on the farmer, both in the amount of tax levied against bis products as well as in the vexa-tious manner of i ts collection. There no longer, in the opinion of the committee, any justification for a continuance of these taxes. There are no bonds which are due or payable at par at the option of the government. Under existing conditions the bonds will have to be ported and placed on the calendar, it will itself be privileged, and that a motion may at any time be made to go into Committee of Whole to consider revenue bills.
