That which to silence is most near. STATE CHOP BULLETIN.

The following is the Weekly Weather Crop Bulletin of the North Carolina Weather Service, co-operating with the U. S. Signal Service, for the week ending Saturday, May 11, 1889: CENTRAL OFFICE, RALEIGH, N. C.

Our reports for the week ending Saturday, May 11, still indicate a favorable condition of the crops. The almost entire absence of rain in the State may have been somewhat injurious in a few localities, but owing to the excessive rains of the week ending May 4th, a great deal of dry weather was required. The temperature in all the districts has been above the average and has been favorable to growing crops and the ripening of fruit. Cool weather and light frost occurred in the western portion of the State the first of the week, without injurious effect. A decidedly warm wave passed over the entire State during the latter part of the week, maximum temperature of over 90 degrees occurring in many places.

EASTERN DISTRICT. There was a marked deficiency of rainfall, about an average temperature and a great deal of sunshine in this district, with a favorable effect upon crops. Planting and farm work generally progressing. Some injury to the potato crop on account of bugs is reported from Edgecombe county. Corn and cotton have been replanted to some

CENTRAL DISTRICT .- The rainfall has been decidedly below the average; the temperature and sunshine above the average, with a favorable effect upon the crops. The excessive heat of the latter part of the week has been favorable to growing crops, cotton especially. An abundance of tobacco plants is generally reported. The season is well in advance and the outlook is encouraging. Light frosts occurred with slight injury. Fruit is doing well, with prospects for a fine yield. Small grains generally looking well. WESTERN DISTRICT .- No rain, an excess of sunshine and temperature in this district have been somewhat unfavorable to the growing crops, although there is no excuse for complaint. Cotton has been retarded somewhat and wheat and oats are not doing well. The fruit crop is reported in excellent condition with probabilities of a large yield. Light frosts are reported without serious injury. Seasons generally in advance. H. B.BATTLE, Ph. D.,

New York Commercial Chronicle FRIDAY, p. m., May 10.-The move ment of the crop, as indicated by our telegrams from the South tonight, is given below. For the week ending this evening (May 10), the total receipts have reached 22,411 bales, against 28,242 bales last week. 36,205 bales the previous week: makof September, 1888, 5,439,581 bales, against 5,292,089 bales for the same period of 1887-8, showing an increase since September 1, 1888, of 147,492 bales.

The exports for the week ending this evening reach a total of 55,367 bales, of which 38,173 were to Great Britain 9,995 to France and 7,199 to the rest of the Continent.

To-day the market opened panicky, under a sharp decline in Liverpool, where stocks were shown to be larger than last year. Not till August touched 10-61c., against 11-15c. last week, was the decline checked. The recovery was slight on a demand to cover contracts. Cotton on the spot declined 1-16c, on Tuesday and again on Wednesday, but yestercay was fairly active for home consumption. To-day there was a further decline of 1-16c., middling uplands closing at 11c., with a fair demand for home consumption. The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 693,700 bales. President Carr's Call. Raleigh Visitor.

In accordance with the sugges tions contained in the above, J. S. Carr, Esq., President of the State Association of Confederate Veterans, has issued the following :

Pursuant to the above resolution, I hereby call upon the Confederate veterans in each and every county of the State of North Carolina, to assemble at their respective courthouses, on Thursday, the 4th day of July, 1889, to form a Confederate Veterans' County Association, under the plan of organization as heretofore adopted and published by this Association. In counties where such associations have been already formed I call on them to meet on said day.

It is earnestly requested that all county associations formed and to be formed shall immediately transmit the proceedings at said July meeting to W. C. Stronach, Secretary of the Association at Raleigh, N. C., said proceedings to distinctly set forth didates for that place to put on their think-the name and postoffice address of ing caps.—Lynchburg News. the president and secretary and the names of the executive committee has had good luck since he hung out his

OUR STATE CONTEMPORARIES.

"A North Carolinian," writing in the Wilmington STAR of May 2d, treats his ubject with marked ability. He undertakes to tell why young North Carolinians eave the State, and lays it in part to local ealousies. But we will leave the reader to examine the article for himself in our next ssue. - Salisbury Watzhman.

Gov. Fowle was there (at the centennial) big as life and twice as natural," flushed in the reseate and resplendent glory of his handsome manhood. Yet they call him Gov. Scales. Oh, what a mistake, my countrymen! * * But, our Dan! Why the very lilies blush in his presence. From the tip of his patent leather boots to the crown of his Jove-like head the mark of the manliest mould is seen. Why, for the purest and most perfect type of personal pulchritude, "Our Dan" not only swept the confectioneries, but captured every Bowery

"The North Carolinians in the procession lolled in carriages while others file with banners and streamers flying."
Well, why did not our State have a better representation? Every one of the old Thirteen States had troops in the procession save North Carolina. Even Florida, twice the distance away and ever so many times poorer, had two hundred men in line. The fault lies at the door of our Legislature. - Mecklenburg Times. General Lee, in his report of the battle, says: 'While it is impossible to mention all who were conspicuous in the several engagements, it will not be considered an invidious distinction to say that General Jackson, after he was wounded, in expres-sing the satisfaction he derived from the conduct of his whole command, commend ing the total receipts since the 1st | ed to my particular attention the services of General Rodes and his gallant division." What troops, my countrymen, composed Rhodes's division at Chancellorsville? Rodes's Brigade-afterwards Battle's Brigade-of Alabamians; Colquitt's Brigade, of Alabamians and Georgians;

Dole's Brigade of Georgians; Iverson's Brigade, composed of the 5th, 12th, 20th and 28d North Carolina Regiments. It is a significant fact that one-half of the division specially honored by General Jackson in the last official act of his life, were North Carolinians. The combat deepens. The ground shakes with the thunder of artillery. Here, Ram-seur, the ideal soldier of the South, leads the impetuous assauit! There, Pender, the superb, shines like a star on the crest of the battle. The god of war rides upon the wind in his chariot of flame and horses of fire. The woods are ablaze, and wave their burning branches like banners in the sky. Amid this terrific scene, through dame and smoke, and death-shot falling thick and fast, Lee moves to the front of his advancing battalions. * * Just at this time, Sickle's two divisions that were returning from Catharine Furnace came upon the field with loud huzzas and furi-ously attacked the right of Hill's division, but they were gallantly defeated by the 18th, 28th and 38d North Carolina regiments of Lane's brigade. -Gen. Cullen Bat-tle at New Bern on 10th.

Modument Dedicated at Charlest to German Companies in the Confederate Service-Senator Hampton's

Address. By Telegraph to the Morning Star. CHARLESTON, May 15 .- A monument t lead soldiers of four German companies in he Confederate service was dedicated here in Bethany Cemetery to-day. The monu-ment was unveiled by ten little German girls clad in white, while the German band played a German choral The dedicating prayer was in German, by pastor Muller, and the dedication address was delivered by Senator Hampton, in whose famous Legion the German soldiers fought. In his address Senator Hampton said: "We regard our dead as martyrs, and God forbid that any of their living comrades, their descendants to remotest ages, should brand them as traitors. Words, my friends, are not merely empty sounds. In the domain of history they are things, po-tent factors, not only in shaping events but in placing those events in a true light before the world, and we should never acknowledge that we were rebels or traitors. That tion is to be decided by the verdict of impartial history and that of posterity, and we may well be satisfied to commit our cause and our conduct to those august tribunals. L me not be understoo as discussing the nerits of the great con-flict which arranged one section of the country against the other; which wrought such wide-spread devastation, and which cost so much in treasure and in the loss of so many precious lives. The questions which brought about that unhappy war have been settled, and he is no true patriot who would strive to kindle the fires of sec tional hate, or reopen wounds which the kind hand of time has healed. No higher duty can inspire the heart of every patriot than that which impels him to devote all his energies of mind and body to make this country worthy of the admiration and respect of the world; a fit home for all time to come of American freemen. This duty devolves on us of the South as urgently as upon any other citizans of this broad land, for whatever may have been the issues which brought about the civil war. South, East and West, have but one country and constitution, to both of which our allegiance is due. But while we of the South recognise this fact fully, it does not ollow that we should refuse to do honor to the memory of our dead comrades. The men who met us in battle would feel just contempt for us were we base enough to forget those who gave their lives for the cause which they and we believed in our inmost heart to be just and right. All should, indeed, be time-serving cravens, if we al-lowed the memory of these men and of their untimely death to pass forever from our hearts, or if we should fail to leave enduring monuments to them as evidences of our love and our gratitude. "We can do nothing to show grateful people's gratitude to our surviving veterans. Poor, old, maimed, broken in heart as in forfune, they are forced to fight life's hard battle unaided. We have no overflowing treasury from which to pension the brave soldiers who gave their all freely to their States; all was taked on the issue and all was lost

"I have no words of censure for the liberality of the North in granting pensions o her soldiers. The feeling that prompts this course is natural, proper and generous, and on all occasions my support has been freely given in the Senate to all applications of this sort made in deserving cases, Had the conditions of the great civil war been reversed, we should have dealt as generously with our disabled veterans as the North has done with hers, but as the losers in the great struggle we must accept the inevitable results of defeat. These debar us from proper recognition of the services but they do not deny to us the right to onor the memory of our dead, and no more sacred duly is imposed on us that that of keeping green in our hearts, and in those of our children, the memories of those who fell under the folds of the Southern Cross. Defeat cannot mar the glory o their deeds, nor ever detract from fame, nor time obliterate the love we cherish for them, and God forbid that it may ever be otherwise with us of the South." FOREIGN.

CUBRENT COMMENT.

- Already Mr. Harrison has fallen upon trouble in Virginia, which, from having been the mother of Presidents, seems to have become an agent of the father of evil for Presidents who seek to have anything to do with it. The first serious blunder committed by Mr. Garfield was in turning over the "patronage" of Virginia to Mahone, whom he quite naturally, but very erroneously regarded as the possible savior of the State to the Republi-can party. * * But despite these facts, the first appointment made by Mr. Harrison, in Virginia, is in the interest of Mabone and in opposition to the anti-Mahone Republicans. He has named R. R. Farr, of Fairfax Court House, to be Marshal of the Eastern District, rejecting Mr. Morgan Treat, who was urged by the opponents of Mahone. Mr. Treat, besides being the representative of Mahone's opponents, 18 a man of much better standing than Mr. Farr, had been a delegate to the Chicago Convention, a warm advocate of Mr. Harrison's nomination, and an efficient supporter of his election. - N. Y. Times, Ind. Rep.

- The Southern Democratic newspapers which are so eager to promote the scheme of granting subsidies to steamships, in order to develop our trade outside of the home market, should be encouraged to find that their efforts and arguments are highly approved by all the extreme Republican organs. The fact is that the subsidy scheme is a clumsy Republican device to obscure some of the injurious effects of the Republican high tariff policy, and it is easy to understand therefore why Republicans desire to put it in practice. It is not so clear why any Democratic paper should lend its aid to the success of a purely Republican measure. And it is particularly inexplicable why any Protectionist, of whatever party, should desire to cultivate trade relations with the employers of "pauper labor" in any part of the world .- Charleston News and Courier, Dem.

Polk, of North Carolina. The sessions are all secret. Representatives of the bagging factories are present in conference. The following is furnished as a portion of the proceedings in secret session: Col. L. L. Polk, of North Carolina, appointed to confer with bagging the manufacturers, read letters from six of them. More than three disclaimed any connection with the Trust, and stated positively that they would stand by the prices set by it, These letters, with the report of the bagging committe, were ereferred to a special com mittee of one from each State, consisting of the following: Messrs. Massey, of Florids, Livington, of Georgia, Payne, of Kentucky, Clayton, of Louisiana, Brennan, of Mississippi, Carr, of North Carolina, McIntosh, of South Carolina, and Gowan, of Tennessee. The committee was instructed to confer with Doniphan, of St. Louis, now in the city, in the interest of the Jute Bagging Trust, and see what proposition he had to submit to them and report.

"You see," he went on, "our daughter was sick and liked to die; she drooped and grew weak and pale, had headaches, no ap-petite, back ached, feet and hands like ice, couldn't sleep, backed with cough, and we thought she had consumption. No medicine belped her till we tried that Dr. Pierce's Prescription mentioned in your paper, when she began to mend in no time and is now well and handsome as a rose put me down as a life subscriber.
