JOHNSTOWN, PA, June 5 .- There has been a disagreeable fall of temperature since yesterday that will be proble of much suffering and many illa. The sight of long relief trains rolling into Johnstown over both railroads and from every section of the country almost every hour, tends to make the observer conclud that charity, weether christian or not, i not so rare under the sun as the cynic philosopher would have us believe. From east and west, north and south came whole train loads of clothing and provisions, accompanied by special messengers having funds, and a large force of volunteer physicians, nurses and workers. Accom-panying the big Philsdelphia relief train was a special car occupied by a corps of surgeons who were equipped with a large outfit of instruments and medicines. Th character of the supplies sent out from the Quaker city is most acceptable, consisting cotton sheeting, clothes, boots, shoes, hard breads of all kinds, salt fish, canned goods, everything, in fact, in the provision

Johnstown, June 5.—The enormity of the devastation wrought by the Conemaugh flood is becoming more and more apparent with every effort of laborers to resolve order out of chaos. Over one hundred men have been all day engaged in the effort to clear a narrow passage from "Death Bridge" upward through the sea of debris that blocks the Conemaugh for nearly half a mile. Every ingenuity known to man has been resorted to by this crew. The giant power of dynamite was brought into requisition, and at frequent intervals the roar of explosions reverberated through the valley, and sticks, stones and logs would rise high in the air. Gradually a few of the heaviest timbers were demolish ed, and the fragments were permitted to float downward through the centre arch, At nightfall, however, the clear space above the bridge did not exceed an area of sixty feet in length by forty feet in width.

When one reflects that fully twenty-five acres are to be cleared in this way, the task shead seems an interminable one. But there is no royal road, and if the hundreds or thousands of bodies beneath these blackened ruins are to be recovered for Christian burial, the labors of to-day must be continued with increased vigor.

There are many conservative minds that recommend the use of the torch in this work of clearing the river, but they are not among the sufferers, and when such coun-sels are heard by the wives, children, sis-ters or brothers, of those who rest beneath this ses of flotsum and jetsam, the sugges tion of cremation meets a furore of objection. It is only indifference to the unreason ing mandate of grief that the toil and labo of clearing the river by means of dynamite and derrick is persisted in. There is no hope in the calmer minds that this task can be pursued to the end. The progress o to-day is discernable, and before two more days have elapsed there is little doubt the emanations of putrid bodies will have be come so frightful as to drive the hardies workmen from the scene. Until that time arrives, however, there is no hope that this grief stricken populace will abandon the cherished hope of again gazing upon the forms of the loved ones whose lives went out in the fire and flood of Conemaugh. Pleadings of sanitarians and the logic of engineers alike fail to find an echo in the minds of the grieving and afflicted, but in a few more days the sterner logic of nature will assert itself, and, in the face of impossibilities, the task of cremation will become a Christian duty.

Where Johnstown's principal stores stood, last Friday, are now pitched 1,000 tents, and before to-morrow this number will probably be doubled. Under this shelter are accommodated the members of the militia and thousands of workmen, who are trying to clear the streets of this wrecked city. Over 5,000 men are thus em-ployed in Johnstown proper.

Great Suffering and Destitution Caused by the Potomac River Flood. By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BALTIMORE, June 5 .- Part of the money provisions and clothing collected here wil be sent to the sufferers in the flooded districts in western Maryland, who are sick, homeless and helpless. A Williamsport Maryland, man was here to-day and told of the destitution and suffering caused by the floods along the line of the Potomac river and canal in western Maryland. While the loss of life will not exceed twenty, owing to the warning given the people, the destruction of property was immense, and scores of houses were swept away, leaving hundreds of people shelter-less and almost starving. In Williamsport slone, on Sunday, thirty homeless and destitute families were fed, and at Pointof-Rocks at least forty families are nearly destitute and suffering. The same is true of Sandy Hook, and other little villages along the Potomac river, some of which have been almost annihilated.

All along the track of the angry flood are pitiable scenes of suffering, and many families are living shelterless along the river banks. The people were mostly laborers, working on the canal, and all their earthly possessions were swept away with their PHILADSLPHIA, June s .- The enthusiastic and good natured rivalry existing between the various collectors of funds, clothing, etc., in this city, for the Johnstown sufferers, has been the means of swelling the amount of cash subscriptions to about $550,000, while donations of food and other ecessaries are so numerous that some difficulty is being experienced in handling them. Thirty-one car-loads in all have been shipped, and it is thought that fully as much is awaiting shipment. A portion of the contributions is being sent to Williamsport and other places on the west branch of the Susquehanna river.

THE DEATH PENALTY

To be Abolished in Italy and not Enfereed in Other Countries. Pittsburg Times.

While in the United States the question of the least painful mode of execution is being agitated, in Europe there is a rapid growth of sentiment in favor of abolishing the death penalty altogether. In Italy, on the 1st of January next, such a law will go into effect. This is the more remarkable in view of the frequency with which murder is committed among the hot blooded in-habitants of the Italian peninsula. Not only are killings more numerous in Italy than in most civilized countries, but the murderers are more ferocious and cruel. Though frugal in everything else, the Italians are frightfully prodigal of life. Yet, in spite of this, the statesmen of Italy have concluded that the death penalty has no influence in diminishing the frequency of murder, and that the State would not do credit to its intelligence and humanity by clinging to a barbarous method of punishment. Though Italy is the first of the great States of Europe to abolish it, the death penalty by law has, in practice, been abandoned by a number of others. In Belgium there has been no executions since 1863. In Prussia, from 1870 to 1880, while judgment of death was pronounced upon 558 criminals, but one -Hodel, the would-be assassin of the late Emperor William-was executed. Of twenty-one death sentences recently pronounced in Sweden but four have been carried into effect. In France, of 100 death penalties pronounced in 1830 65 were executed and of 100 death penalties pronounced in 1884 only 15 were carried out. In Austria the percentage of 16 in 1859 declined to three in 1884. Pertugal, Holland, Roumania and sixteen of the Swiss cantons have abolished the death penalty, and Russia is taking steps to abolish it for crimes below the degree of treason.

Compact Between Thurman and Cam-

Barring Ohio, Pennsylvania is probably the most clamorous communi-ty for federal patronage of any State in the Union. For fifty years or more it has been fortunate in having men of great influence as its representatives in Congress, men, too, who saw to it that the Keystone State had a very large share of federal "pap." Both Simon Cameron and his son, who succeeded him, believe firmly in the old doctrine, "to the victors be-long the spoils." Therefore, they have had the ear of every President for nearly half a century, and easily secured places for those who were friendly to their interests. This is one of the sources of Gen. Cameron's remarkable power upon the political end of Pennsylvania.

A Strictly Judicial Answer. Lewiston Journal.

One of the best stories of white-haired, white-chokered, courteous Calvan Record, is about a mellow old lawyer who used to live on the banks of the Androscoggin. The squire was given to deep potations and was fa-mous for his fine distinctions. It is said that in special pleading he could split a hair even more closely than Mr. Record can himself.

But often after the shades of night had fallen, the squire might have been seen struggling home so boozy that he apparently could not split shingle, to say nothing of a hair. One night when he was drunker than usual, he staggered completely out of his course and could not find Realizing that he was lost and drifting into unfamiliar regions, he called at house to ask for informa-

"Madame," replied the old lawyer, assuming a judicial air, "that is en-tirely (hic) immaterial."

The following is the Weekly Weather Crop Bulletin of the North Car-olina Weather Service, co-operating with the U. S. Signal Service, for the week ending Friday, May 31, 1889:

CENTRAL OFFICE, RALEIGH, N. C. EASTERN DISTRICT. The temperature was slightly below the normal, the sunshine below the average amount and the rainfall above the average. Crops appear to have been unfavorably affected. Hail and wind storms, together with heavy rains, were very injurious to cotton in the northern portion of this district.

CENTRAL DISTRICT. There was an excess of rainfall, about an average temperature and an average amount of sunshine in this district with a decidedly favorable effect upon crops, as shown from the reports of 85 per cent. of the correspondents. The weather has been very seasonsble for tobacco, and cotton has been doubtless improved. Freshets are reported in some localities with some injury to crops on bottom lands. WESTERN DISTRICT. The rainfall was above the average, the tempera-ture slightly below the average and the sunshine slightly above the average. Ninety.three per cent. of the correspondents report that the weather has been favorable. In the tobacco sections of this district the weather has been especially favorable. The stand of cotton has been probably improved. Wheat doing well. Oats rather poor. H. B. BATTLE, Ph. D., PNNSYLVANIA. Damage by Floods (in the Juniata River.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star. PHTSBURG, June 5.—A special just received from Huntingdon, Pa., says late news from the suburban districts, in this county, show that the destruction to property by the flood is infinitely greater than at first reported.

The waters are receding; the Juniata river is passable in several places. Carriers have arrived bearing news of an unprece dented flood. From Bedford to Huntingdon on the Rosstown branch, and at Lewistown on the Juniata river, the devastation is great. Not a house is left that stood within reach of the swollen streams. Damage to property will reach $500,000, while other towns in the county have suffered correspondingly.

and this morning the streets in South Washington were free from water, and along the river front it gradually receded. The Long Bridge, which it has been feared all along would be swent amounted in the would be swept away, remained intact, though badly strained, until 2 about o'clock this afternoon, when one of the spans next to the draw broke loose and started down the river. One other span will have to be cut away, and to-night or to-morrow the work of repairing the bridge will begin. It is badly racked and torn, and will cause considerable loss to the Pennsylvania Railroad, which crosses it to make its

In response to a call issued by the commissioners of the District of Columbia. missioners of the District of Columbia a public meeting to devise means of aiding the sufferers by the flood at Johnstown and vicinity, was held here this afternoon, There was a large attendance, including the Commissioners of the District, President Harrison, Private Secretary Halford, Postmaster General Wannamaker, Secretary Noble, and many representatives of the business and social life of Washington. Shortly after 3 o'clock the meeting was called to order by Commissioner Douglass, who introduced President Harrison as the presiding officer of the meet-ing. Upon taking the chair the President was loudly applauded. He began his speech by saying that every one present was conscious of the circumstances for which the meeting was convened, and that it would be entirely superfluous for him to attempt to set before the audience more impressively than the newspapers had already done, the horrors attending the calamity which has fallen upon the city of Johnstown. He said this was no time for a speech; that while he talked women and children were suffering for the relief of which they had assembled. The President, in dismissing the meeting said:

[By Telegraph to the Morning Star. RICHMOND, June 3 .- No mails have been received here from north of Washington since Friday, The Richmond & Danville railroad south is all right agair, trains running on schedule time. The steamer Old Dominion is at City Point waiting for the water to subside. She is expected here to-night. The steamer Ariel has been lying at City Point since Saturday. She is expected here to-morrow. There is a big break at five-mile locks, another at Dover Mill and another at Gallwater, above Lynchburg.

The Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac railroad is badly damaged at various points. At Hazel Run the iron bridge is town. The telegraph line is open as far North as Quantico, and the work of re-pairing the breaks is being pushed. The officials were unable to say to-day when the road will be open for travel. The break between Richmond and Hanover Junction s expected to be repaired and trains running to that point by to morrow evening. Passengers on the train which left Friday evening and was caught at Fredericksburg were sent North via a Rappahannock steamer to Baltimore.

The various railroad companies are help. ing one snother to overcome their troubles. The Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad passengers are using the Chesapeake and Ohio tracks to Old Point, thence to Cape Charles, where they take the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk trains northward. The Chesapeake and Ohio passengers for the west are taken over the Richmond & Fredericksburg Railroad to Hanover Junction; here they take the Chesapeake and Obio trains for the west. The break on the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad is between Richmond and Hanover Junction. It will probably be repaired to-morrow, when trains east and west will be running on schedule time between Newport, New York and Cincinnati.

Disastrous Fire in Jacksonville-About Sixty Buildings, Principally Small Ones, Consumed.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star. JACKSONVILLE, June 5.—The most ex-tensive fire which has visited Jacksonville for many years broke out at 2 o'clock this morning, in the rear of the building on Bridge street formerly used for the electric light plant. A high wind was prevailing and the fire spread rapidly northward until it had consumed everything combustible in an area of five blocks, bounded by Hawk street on the west, Adams on the north, Clay on the east and Creek on the south. The buildings were mostly wooden and of inferior quality, but many business firms were located among them At least sixty buildings were destroyed, the majority being the homes of colored people.

The loss is difficult to estimate, but will
