He conceals the fact that the platform adopted by the Democratic National Convention at Chicago contains a plank which demands the repeal of the ten per cent. tax on the circulation of State banks of issue so that State banks may be established and thus give the people all the money they need for the transaction of business, and in a volume that may be expanded or contracted as the business needs may suggest. If Gen. Weaver had said it is useless to look to the Republican party to espouse this issue he would have spoken the truth, for that party is tied to the National banks, and is stubbornly opposed, not only to any other system, but to any material increase in the volume of currency, but when he couples the Democratic party with the Republican party in this he simply misrepresents the Democratic party and makes a declaration for which there is not a particle of foundation.

THE BANK ISSUE.

The Republican managers have tried to dodge the Force bill issue, and feeling that they are losing ground on the Tariff issue they are trying to bring the bank question to the front and make a leading issue out of that. Mr. Harrison did it in his letter of acceptance and so did James G. Blaine in that "ringing" letter which he wrote shortly before the election in Maine.

As to its being an issue they are right, and they are right as to its being an important issue, for it is, with the exception of the Force bill and the tariff, the most important issue now before the people. Messrs. Harrison and Blaine speaking for themselves and as representatives of the Republican party bring this issue to the front now not so much because they are especially interested it as because they hope by doing so to divert attention from the tariff and the Force bill, the two absorbing questions, and also to make some political capital in those the negroes of the South, but that States where the National Banks they would fight it out there with are numerous, where money is the ballot or, if necessary, with the abundant and where there is, conse- bullet." MINOR MENTION.

The Third party orators in the South pronounce the Force bill a mere bugaboo conjured up to scare people into the support of the Democratic party and declare that it is not an issue in this campaign. They say that in spite of the fact that the platform adopted at Minneapolis endorses the Force bill, that President Harrison was an is an ardent supporter of it, and that Tom Reed,

Senator Hoar and numerous other Republican leaders insist that it must be pushed, and that it is to-day a live topic of discussion on the Republican stump North and South. The negroes are standing by the Republican party because they are told and believe that a Force bill will be passed if the Republicans elect their President and secure a majority in the next House of Representatives. Some of the negro leaders, are desperately in earnest in the demand for it, in which they have been egged on and encouraged by such firebrands as A. W. Tourgee, Fred Douglass,

Col. Shepard of the New York Mail and Express, and others. A meeting of the Afro-American Press Association was held this week at Philadelphia. Among the speeches made speech in the South." was one by a negro named Mitchell, who presided over the meeting, in

The Leslie Accident,

Concerning the accident to Mr. Thos, Leslie, advance agent of George Wilson's minstrels, at Florence, the Times has this to say: "The evidence taken by the railroad authorities is that he had been drinking heavily. He came in on 23, and is thought to have registered at the Central Hotel and returned to the depot. He must have laid down between the track and the eating house. The shifting engine was backing the Columbia coaches around the Y, with a flagman on the end, but on the curve side, and did not see the man. His right arm was cut off near the shoulder. As one of the results of the quarantine squabble between the New York and the National authorities, New York claims that Sandy Hook belongs to her instead of Uncle Sam who has been lodging claim to it and has been trying to hook it, so to speak.

Weaver spent much of his time on the stand in Raleigh telling of his stumping tour, and what a fair pros pect the Third party had. The sum and substance of his horoscope was, that he felt pretty sure of Colorado and Nevada.

Chris. Magee, the Pennsylvania Republican manipulator, who went down to Alabama to "harmonize" the hair-pulling Republican factions, says that State will surely go for Harrison. It will "go for him" in the usual able-bodied style.

Gen. Weaver dilates freely upon the cordial reception he has had in all the Southern States he has visited -except Georgia. This disposes of the allegation that there is "no free

Glenn spoke for an hour and a half, and completely annihilated Butler and his crowd. He was bold, fearless, aggressive, eloquent and convincing. Butler winced beneath the sledge-hammer blows that were plied thick and fast upon him. No better speech has been ade here in years. He forced Butler to abandon his position on the tariff, his government ownership of railroads, and made him take water on the money question. Butler consumed forty minutes in trying to explain his inconsistent record. His reasons satisfied no one, not even his own party friends. Butler's speech was a flat failure, and made a poor impressiou on all. Butler seemed sullen and ill at ease. - Mr. N. J. Hodge, of Milburnie, has left the Republican party,

- Kinston' Free Press: Henry Daniels, a negro, who says he is from Nasheville, and who has been working in the Dover saw mills, got very badly beaten Tuesday night, and is now resting in jail here, after having his injuries attended to by Dr. C. B. Woodley, There are various reports about the way the negro received his injuries, but the most probable is that he stopped with another negro, a railroad section hand, who lives in a hut near the railroad, about a mile and a half from Kinston, towards Falling Creek, to spend the night, and that about 11 o'clock, thinking the other negro, his host, was asleep, was asleep, he left. The other negro was not asleep, however, and on finding that Daniels had taken 'his clothes along, followed him and beat him with an old gun barrel. One of Daniels' arms was broken and he was cut in several other places, it is thought with the tube of the gun barrel. Another ac-count is that Daniels says he was set upon by a white man and two negroes, but that is a very improbable tale. - Charlotte Observer : This beautiful weather is making cotton roll in right lively. The fields are white, the cotton in this entire section being reported fully open. All hands are busy bicking, and just as fast as the cotton can be gotten out of the fields and through the gins, it is brought in and put on the market. Yomb was only slightly hurt, and was brought to Charlotte last evening. Liddell was fatally injured and taken home. --- Gen Rufus Barringer introduced cuttings from vines bearing the James grape in this county some time ago and these grapes are now on the Charlotte market. They are of extraordinary size and delightful flavor. The lames is distinctly a North Carolina grape, having originated in Pitt county, and has taken the premium at whatever exposition or fair exhibited. It is black and not infrequently measures 11 inch in circumference. The vines are very

Ballot System.

Republicans Don't Want the Australian By Telegraph to the Morning Star. INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 1 .- Excitement

POLITICAL EXCITEMENT. has been created in local political circles

by the development of a plan to mollify the Australian ballot law, although the expected decision of the Supreme Court declaring the legislative apportionment of 1885 unconstitutional, has not been made yet. It is said that as soon as the court decides the apportionment act void, suit will be filed to set aside the Australian ballot on the ground that the Legislature of 1889, by which the law was enacted and which was elected under the apportionment of 1885, was an illegal body under the courts' decision. It the aportionment suit now pending related only to the act of 1891, no such question could be raised, for no legislature had been elected under its provisions. But
