self-interest, and when that becomes the case there will be little regard for past associations or for party traditions.

How distinctly this division on sectional lines is becoming marked is noted in the following extract from an article in the Philadelphia Telegraph, Rep., commenting upon the Bland Seigniorage bill:

"An analysis of the vote in the Senate on the Bland bill furnishes much food for thought. It will readily be seen how the line of sectional division is developing itself on this great issue, as recently noted in these columns. A number of members were absent, but if all had been present the result would have been the same. There is a clear majority in both Houses of Congress this time in favor of silver legislation, and so strong is the feeling in favor of this course that this measure was passed without even being put into such technical shape as to permit of no doubt as to the real meaning of the provision. The whole business strikingly illustrates the force of political expediency in the mind of the average time-serving politician of the hour."

The strength of the Democratic party today lies in the South and West. All the New England Senators, and those from New York, New Jersey, and Maryland, were against the bill, and the exception of Senator Hill, who dodged the vote, but was understood to be in favor of the measure. Mr. Cameron occupied the only seat in the Democratic ranks which Quay voted in the affirmative. These three men well know that in this matter they do not represent the dominant sentiment of their localities, but they are politicians looking to the future, and they want to hold on to their places and promote the political interests of themselves and their friends. But the South and West are in the majority, and they will uphold for this bill, with the exception of two or three administration Senators, led by Mr. Vilas, of Wisconsin, who aims to fill the position of executive echo in the Senate. Further, eight Republicans from the West, mostly from the new States, voted for the measure."

This is a correct statement of the situation as far as the Bland bill is concerned and would be in a degree true of any other measure applying to silver. It may be remarked in this connection that the opposition to every movement which looks to an increase of the currency whether by the coinage of silver or by the redemption of the State bank tax comes from the East, regardless of party lines, while the support comes from the West and the South, although not so much regardless of party lines, the Republican Senators and Representatives being still more under the party discipline which is administered by managers who feel the necessity of keeping up the discipline to prevent demoralization and disintegration.

Some of these, however, are beginning to see the danger of defying Western antagonism, and Mr. Clarkson, chairman of the National Republican Committee, is no doubt expressing the sentiments of others as well as of himself when he said a few days ago: "The issue in coming campaigns will be the financial question, and I believe the Republican party should come to an understanding as to the continued use of silver as money. He knows that this is the only possible hope that the Republican party has of maintaining its hold in the West, and Mr. Clarkson advises wisely when he suggests that it accept the situation and put itself in accord with it. The wise party manager if he expects to succeed in the future will turn his eyes Westward, survey the situation and adapt himself to it. From a party standpoint, neither the Democratic nor Republican party has anything to gain by tying itself to the East, and if either or both would avert the sectional conflict to which we have referred, above they will try to realize that the West and the South are the growing sections where the party that survives must have its support and its strength. The leader who doesn't realize this now cannot see far into the future."

Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge is not the only man who is "very susceptible to female charms." A fellow from Pennsylvania arrived in Patterson, N. J., Thursday, hugged and kissed every woman he found on a street car and was about going through the same performance on the females whom he met coming out from prayer meeting near by when a policeman lit on him and took him in.

There is a negro convict in the Alabama coal mines who is well educated and speaks twelve languages, but with all that he couldn't resist the temptation to persuade his neighbor's hogs to climb over into his pen, and that's how he got into the pen himself.

The bill to prohibit "treating" in Massachusetts has passed one House of the Legislature and will probably pass the other. If it becomes the law the abiding citizen can save a good deal of small change and take his social drinks all by himself.

The New York Sun says Col. Hoge made his trip across the continent "on the instalment plan." But he staggered into the Republican wigwam all at once, as it were.

The warm weather is forcing vegetation rapidly forward, and the season for vegetables is two or three weeks in advance of previous years. The market yesterday were abundantly supplied from the truck farms in the vicinity of the city with asparagus, turnips, spinach, beets, etc.

The first strawberries of the season, raised in this vicinity, were on sale at Front street market yesterday morning at 45 cents per quart. These berries were grown at Mr. W. F. Alexander's farm, near Middle Sound, and are far in advance of their usual appearance in this market here.

QUICK TRUCK TRAINS.

An Arrangement Between the Growers and the Atlantic Coast Line and Old Dominion Steamship Line for Prompt Delivery of Vegetables in New York.

The Charleston News and Courier gives the annexed details of the final arrangements between the railroad and steamship lines and the South Carolina truckers. And it may be that truckers on the line of the Wilmington and Weldon can arrange to have cars connect at Wilson with these fast trains:

The committee of the Truck Growers' Association of South Carolina met by appointment Messrs. Kenly, general manager, and Emerson, traffic manager, of the Atlantic Coast Line, at noon on Tuesday, at the Northeastern Railroad, to perfect the arrangements for handling their crops via the Atlantic Coast Line and Old Dominion Steamship Line.

Among other matters discussed several letters from Mr. Gilliland, vice president of the Old Dominion Steamship Company, were read by Mr. Emerson to the committee, explaining just how that company was going to handle the business in connection with the Atlantic Coast Line in the way of providing new and fast ships and sailing days. Mr. Kenly, General Manager of the Atlantic Coast Line, followed and assured the growers it was his intention to give Charleston the very best facilities that his Company could offer which he had been endeavoring to do for some time past.

THE COURT SAID IT WOULD ALLOW THE TWO INDICTMENTS TO BE CONSOLIDATED.

The Attorney General said the State could not proceed in face of the ruling of the Court; that nothing he could do here would ever put defendant on trial in this court, and he asked postponement of the case until to-morrow to give counsel an opportunity for consultation; he would then either file an affidavit for removal, or take a nolo prosequi in the case.

The Court thereupon postponed a further hearing till 10 o'clock Friday morning.

The jury was then discharged and a recess taken until 10 a. m. to-day.

Items of Interest from Bladen and Pender.

A letter to the STAR from Wooten says: Last Thursday night, robbers entered the R. R. P. Allen's smokehouse, at Kelly's Cove, and carried off some 300 pounds of bacon and 30 or 35 pounds of lard. There is no clue to the robbers.

Near Point Currituck last week at a log-rolling at Mr. Corbett's place, five men were injured. Three of them cut their feet with chopping axes, a falling tree caught two men, crushing one's heel and breaking another's leg.

The same week some entered Mrs. Larkin's corn-crib, stole about 20 bushels of corn and burned the building.

Wadesboro's Bank.

Mr. J. W. Norwood, President of the Atlantic National Bank of Wilmington, the Wadesboro Messenger says, arrived there yesterday morning for the purpose of attending a meeting of the stockholders of the First National Bank of Wadesboro. Mr. S. W. Norwood, who is cashier of the bank, and his father, Mr. G. A. Norwood, of Greensboro, were also expected to attend the 1.30 p. m. train to attend the meeting.

The Southport Leader says: Warrants were issued from New Hanover county last week for nearly all the fishermen between Wilmington and Southport for violating the law of 1887, which orders the stopping of shad fishing between the hours of 6 a. m. on Tuesday and 6 p. m. Wednesday of each week. The fishermen submitted their cases to Dr. W. G. Curtis, of this city, and were left off on payment of one dollar and five cents each.

Death of William Webb.

The Fayetteville Observer says: "William Webb, a highly respected colored man, five years a pilot on the Cape Fear river steamer, and for twenty years a member of the Wilmington hotel keeper, died on Saturday in his 55th year. He had accumulated considerable property, which is left to his wife, who will manage the business."

John Harper the Owner.

The full amount of the purchase money ($14,000) for the steamer Wilmington was paid by Capt. John W. Harper to Mr. Junius Davis, Receiver, yesterday, and the legal transfer of title made to him. The STAR congratulates Capt. John on his ownership of this fine boat—the veritable "Queen of the Cape Fear"—and trusts that he may not be compelled by a sense of duty to his business interests to take the Wilmington to Savannah, where a fine opportunity for making his boat profitable is offered.

The people of Wilmington would be very sorry to part with the Wilmington, the old William Hotel, and the cash, and it is hoped some inducement
