ahire Boys In 1821. Mr. Briggs asks leave to tell a New Mr. Briggs asks leave to bell a New Hampshire elephant story. He was brought up in Kcene, and there, in August, 1821, every boy was excited by the sight of pla-cards announcing the advent of "a great natural curiosity," nothing less than "a living female elephant"-- "admittance 1935 cents; children half price."

The days of Barnum had not yet come, and so far as Mr. Briggs knows, this was the first elephant that ever set foot in the Granite State. Of course every boy was bound to see it. But how? Ninepences did not grow on every bush, and some scheming was necessary. The boys "got together in convention," like a committee of ways and means, and not without re-

The elephant was exhibited in the daytime and was driven from town to town in the darkness of night. The boys found out in some way that it would be driven into Keene over a certain road-Prison street. On this road, at a point about half a mile from the hotel, was a large com-mon, and half a mile farther away was a bridge over Beaver brook. The boys laid their plans to see the elephant at the ex-pense of a wagon load of shavings and a peck of potatoes.

These were deposited on the common. Then boys were stationed at short inter-vals along the road, beginning at the bridge. The moment the elephant arrived at the bridge the first boy was to shout "Hello!" at the top of his voice and start on the run for the common. The next boy, hearing the shout, was to do likewise, and so on down the line. Well, the night came, and with it the elephant. But when the first boy saw it, PRINCESS ANNE MD. June 9 .- Wm. he was literally struck dumb with aston-ishment. As he could not shout, he waited Andrews, the young negro accused of felonious assault upon Mrs. Berjamin T. to see the creature cross the bridge. When she put her foot on it, however, she felt that it was not safe and refused to proceed, Kelley, was taken from the sheriff here to-day and beaten into insensibility, and the men in charge had to drive her then hanged to a tree by an infuriated through the stream.

By this time the sentry had recovered his voice, and with a vigorous "Hello!" started down the road. Before the elephant reached the common the boys were all there and the shavings were in a blaze. By the light of the fire the elephant caught sight of the pile of potatoes, and no persuasion could get her past them till they were de-

X Ray Humors.

A negro, familiar with chicken coops, who had heard of the illuminating power of the X rays, consulted a doctor to learn whether they could reveal whose chicken he had eaten. Listener of the Boston Transcript tells of a boy who also had confidence in the ability of the rays to make apparent hidden things. A little 13-year-old boy who has een the victim of hip trouble and of several operations, so .that he at least may be pardoned for thinking and talking about surgery, heard that a small friend of his was in danger of having to undergo an operation for some trouble in the stomach, and he said gravely to the child's mother: "Well, if I were you, Mrs. D., I'd first get intimate with Mr. Edison and look through his cathode ray into Tom's stomach and find out what's there before I operated." SHE'S WELL EDUCATED.

Careful Listening. The wonderful development of certain faculties in the cases of persons .who have lest the use of some of their natural functions, or of others whose faculties have not been fully developed, has long been a matter of remark, but it is not aloue the cutside observers who appredate the provisions of nature for the benefit of the unfortunates. The sufferas themselves often appreciate this fully, and in some instances, after years, grow to depend so much upon their acquired facalties as to be afraid of a hange, even if they have the chance of

Curry the Farm Horses.

Horses on the farm do not have the sleek look that horses in the city liveries have. Neither will they accomplish so much work. The difference is partly owing to the fact that the horse in the city has a large proportion of grain, while the farm horse, even while working, gets most of his nutrition from hay. But grooming has also a great deal to do with the superior slickness of the city horse's cost. The currycomb is not so much used as it should be on farm horses.

We know, says The Prince Edward Island A griculturist, many places where the brush and currycomb are seldom used, except while the horse is shedding his coat. But used at any time it promotes the secretion of oil, which moistens the coat and makes it shine. A well groomed horse is usually well fed. But if the grooming were thoroughly done at least once a day, the horse would keep in good condition with less food than it now receives.

Good grooming undoubtedly aids diges-tion, as rubbing the body promotes diges-tion in people, and is an excellent substi-Mexico, and Rev. H. W. # A Wonderful Blind Pianist.

Signor Arturo Nuttini is a blind pianist who is not a freak, but a player of remarkable ability. He was born in Florence 33 years ago and became totally blind in his first year, but he now plays the most difficult rhapsodies of Liszt, sonatas of Beethoven and other classical compositions with wonderful technic and expression. While Paderewski and his contemporaries play Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsodie No. 6," one of the most difficult compositions, in a transposed key, Signor Nuttini plays it in the original key-six sharps. The way Signor Nuttini learns his pieces is curious. He has a little machine, consisting of a flat metal board, in which there are tiny grooves, over which he fits a sheet of thick paper, and, with the aid of a little ruler and awl, perforates all his music in a peculiar manner as his interpreter reads it from the regular staff. No music is too intricate for him to copy, and often after once copying the composition he can play it without first running his sensitive fingers over the perforations.-San Francisco Argonaut.
