direct firing by squads, always with telling effect. It was beginning to look as though a bayonet charge down the slope would be necessary to dislodge the enemy, when suddenly the latter began to break for a thicket a hundred yards further on. Little groups could be seen fleeing from the camp, separ-ating, darting through the brush and signaging to escape the bullets. It was then the American fire became most deadly. Man after man could be seen to fall in a vain rush for shelter, and the fire from the Spanish became scattering and almost ocased. in high spirits. The little black Cuban warriors waved their machetes and howled curses at the Spanish in sav-age fashion. Their firing had been wild throughout, but they all dis-played the utmost contempt for the Spanish bullets, apparently being ab-solutely without fear. As the enemy was-breaking from the camp the Dolphin; which fay out at sea, was signalled and began pitch-ing shells toward the thicket for which the Spaniards were making. Meanwhile, Lieutenant Magill was seen coming with forty men as reelief of the beleagured at Lucknow came the welcome news to the Navy Department this afternoon that the little band of American marines who had planted the flag on Crest Hill and were defending it night and day Meanwhile, Lieutenant Magill was seen coming with forty men as re-inforcements, and Captain Mahoney was on the way with a hundred more, but before either could reach the scene the trouble was over. As the Spanish retreated the Amer-icans moved slowly forward, firing as they went, and by the time the camp was reached the enemy had all got away, taking their wounded and prob-ably many of their dead. Fifteen bodies were found scattered through the brush, but the Americans were against heavy odds, were not only safe but were strongly reinforced by Cubans from the commands of Garcia and Rabbi, and were now strong enough to more than hold their own. It was disclosed in a dispatch from Ad-miral Sampson and brought much re-lief to naval officials. The most sig-nificant feature of the Admiral's dis-nincant reature of the Admiral's dis-patch was the statement that the Cuban General Rabbi had occupied Aqui-dores, only eight miles from Santiago, and practically a suburb of that Spanish stronghold. It was the execution of a plan arranged in Washington some weaks area when two of the dos the brush, but the Americans were unable to examine the spot where their firing had been most deadly. At that time Garcia and Rabbi were at Bayamo, in the western part of San-Bayamo, in the western part of San-tiago province and more than 100 miles northwest of Santiago de Cuba. The news also indicated o the authorities here that the panish garrison at Santiago has prac-ically retreated inside the city proper giving up the outlying towns. In making his march, Rabbi has crossed he line of communication between the panish commander, General Pando, at Holguin, and the Spanish forces at San-tiago de Cuba. This fact makes it clear that Santiago is not likely to get rein-forcements from General Pando. In circling around Santiago to reach Aquadores, Rabbi, it is believed here, has also established it as a fact that the lines of communication and relief to lines of communication and relief to Santiago are interrupted and practical

An Appropriation for the State Fair Re fused-Death at the Soldiers' Home. Judge Whitaker to be a Major. The Brigadier Generalship.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

RALEIGH, N. C., June 15. A private letter from Washington says that Senator Pritchard has written Adjutant General Andrew D. Cowles, saying that he has resolved to have the President give him deserved promotion. General Cowles is now lieutenant colonel of the Second regiment, and the letter says Senator Pritchard's idea is to make Col. Cowles Pritchard's idea is to make Col. Cowles a brigadier general, since that position was refused by Gen. R. F. Hoke. It is further said that the only block in the way at present is the sickness of Col. Cowles, and as he is expected to be out within six weeks it is yet thought to be a probability. The ap-pointment of Andrew D. Cowles to the lieutenant colonelcy met with ap-proval all over the State. The appointment of either Col.

The appointment of either Col. Cowles or Col. Armfield to a brigadier generalship seems probable and public opinion seems to be drifting that way. Over one-hundred companies have volunteered under the second call. It is believed that within sixty days two or three more white regiments will be organized in this State. The work of recruiting the First regiment goes slowly forward. The Second is doing better, but the recruits are not coming in as rapidly as was at first expected.

[Special Star Telegram.] The Board of Agriculture, by a vote of seven to five, refused an appropriation to the State Fair. It will meet again July 21st, at Gov. Russell's request. Harris also asks an appropriation for the Agricultural College. William Lindsay, of Currituck county, Company G, Fourth N. C. cavalry, a Confederate veteran, died at the Soldiers' Home to-day. Judge Whitaker is to be appcinted major by the President.

The constant reports that Germany s on the eve of making a serious issue in the Philippines are unaccountable to officials here, who have the most direct and positive information that Germany has never contemplated such a step, and is not now moving toward its execution, either alone or with other powers. There is the highest official authority for saying that each one of these reports is groundless, and they are all attributed to a malicious purpose to embitter the feeling between Germany and the United States.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15 .- Anchor was weighed by the second Philippine expedition at 1 o'clock this afternoon. As the sun was setting the last trans port passed out of the Golden Gate and, led by the flagship China, the fleet stood away towards Honolulu.

At that port the vessels will re-coal. To-day's expedition carried 3,500 men, distributed among four vessels, as follows:

June 14, 8 P. M., via Kingston, Ja-No Call for More Troops. maica, June 15, 8 P. M.-The United States cruiser New Orleans, having been ordered by Rear Admiral Sampson was considering the advisability of making another call for volunteer to destroy the new emplacements half a mile east of El Morro, on which a large number of Spaniards had been working, took up a position at 5 o'clock this morning about eight hundred vards from shore and 2,000 yards from the Morro battery. She opened upon the emplacement with her rapid fire guns. Red clouds of sand rose on the hill top where the emplacements were building. Following the fifteenth shot, the Morro batteries re-plied with one shell that fell near the stern of the flagship New York. After twenty minutes gun practice Admiral Sampson signalled the New Orleans to cease firing. Then, as she retired, the Morro batteries sent ten shells after her, but without dam age. dynamite cruiser Vesuvius The joined the fleet yesterday and was put $5.50 to $6.50. o work immediately. Ensign Palmer, of the New York, went on board the Vesuvius with Lieutenant Com-mander Pillsbury, to explain the location of the batteries. A few min-utes from midnight the Vesuvius was about half a mile from the beach west of El Morro. The Oregon's search-light played on the battery, while the black nose of the cruiser pointed at the westward batteries. Lieutenant Commander Pillsbury gave the word to fire and Lieutenant Quimby opened the air vent. There was a slight hissing, a sort of coughing noise, but no flame, no report, no warning to the Spaniards who were hiding in the darkness. Thirty seconds later a dull roar broke the silence of the tropical night. Two hundred pounds of gun cotton had exploded on the hillside below the battery. The ships on the blockade lines two miles away shook with the explosion. A firing of a thirteen-inch shell is a mere rifle crak compared to the deep and mighty roar. Clouds of earth throws up from the hills seemed to stand out against the black sky. Another package of gun cotton was dropped on the other side of the battery and may possibly have struck the torpedo boats anchored below. Before the echoes of the second died away the Vesuvius sent a third charge hissing out. It fell right on the brow of the hill, where the battery seemed to lie. Into the air flew tons of earth and the smoke covered the land for half a mile. The Vesuvius retired at a sixteen-knot rate. Two flashes from the hills and two Spanish shells flew beyond the cruiser.

The test was regarded as highly satisfactory, and there is intense interest in the fleet over this first trial in war of a dynamite cruiser.
