Gen. Lewis was elected to remembered, by the Board of Internal Improvements. The former surveyor. John A. Ramsey, of Salisbury, will be paid up to that time. Ramsey insists that his term of office has not expired and the board has no right to turn him out, under the recent Supreme Court decisions. It is not known whether he will bring suit or not.

The Board of Education also gave a quit claim deed to a number of parties in Columbus county, against whom the board has had suits involving the title of their lands. Permission to bring these suits was granted in 1895 to W. G. Burkhead and others. The Federal Court decided against the board, and now these quit claim deeds are given to prevent a recurrence of such litigation in future and as an evidence of the validity of the future purchasers. Red Shirts to Be Indicted.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 29.-It is learned to day that an effort will be made to have the "Red Shirt" leaders in Robeson and adjoining counties indicted in the Federal court in order to assist Dockery in his contest against Bellamy. A large number of witnesses, both white and colored, have been summoned and are here to go before the grand jury. Among them are A. J. McKinnon, Democrat; J. C. Parish, deputy marshal; B F. Mc-Lean, United States commissioner; J. P. Smith, Republican, and E. L. Mc-Cormick, Populist. Among the negro witnesses are Milton L MacRae, Randall Smith, Tony McLean and others. The Western Union Telegraph Company and the Southern Bell Telephone Company to day complied with the provisions of the Craig bill and became domestic corporations.

Insurance Companies Domesticated.

The following insurance companies were to-day domesticated: Royal Exchange, British America, Western Assurance, Westchester, Queen, Orient, Northern, United States, Eastern, Banker's Guarantee Fund Life and Michigan Mutual Life.

Insurance Commissioner Young is sues a circular letter, saying that the object of the law-makers in domesticating corporations by the Craig bill was solely to confine them to the use I State courts, and that there was no intention of getting them where they could be compelled to bear new burdens of taxation or interfere with their internal management.

He adds: "There are no injust burdens in the present insurance laws, nor is there any intention on the part of the State to place the companies where they can be unjustly dealt with, and yet be in such position that they cannot help themselves. Under our present laws a corporation forfeits its character by non use or by failure to hay any franchise tax. I have consulted the Attorney General, the Seerelary of State, and the State Treasirer, and am authorized to say that they concur in this letter,'

FOUL PLAY FEARED.

The Disappearance of Cashier Benedict o the Athens Exchange Bank. By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ATHENS, GA., May 31.-Indications n the case of Cashier Benedict, of the Athens Exchange Bank, who disappeared at Greenville, S C., last Tuesday, now point to foul play It has been ascertained that he did not leave Greenville by rail. His valise was brought from Greenville to-day by Chief of Police Culp. From the valis were missing his pistol, money and roller cover samples-such articles as he would have carried on a visit to the Spartanburg mills. The roller cover samples were in a package that might have been mistaken for bank oills. The present theory is that he has been murdered or is temporarily insane.
