Cheerfulness throws sunlight on all the paths of life.-Richter. - A reputation for good judgment, fair dealing, for truth, and rectitude, is itself a fortune.—Beecher. - Cultivate forbearance till your heart yields a fine crop of it. Pray for a short memory as to all unkindness. - The best capital for a boy is not money, but the love of work, simple tastes, and a heart loyal to his friends and his God.

- Though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing.—St. Paul. - A Christian, when he makes a good profession, should be sure to make his profession good. It is sad to see many walk in the dark themselves who carry a lantern for others. - Thos. - I have no doubt that much sor-

Fight Between Spaniards and Cubans. The Cab Strike-Discomforts of Sol-

HAVANA, June 10 .- An immense Spanish flag, with a picture of General Weyler on it, was borne to-day at the head of a party of fifty Spaniards, who were on their way to embark for Spain. As the party proceeded, its members cried "Viva Espana." Two Cubans, Carlos Cruzade and Miguel Atieza, were met by the Spaniards, who endeavored to compel them to hurran for Spain. This the Cubans refused to do, replying with shouts of "Viva Cuba." The leader of the mob, Vincente Morente, attacked Atiezo and was assisted by his companions. Atieza was roughly handled and re-ceived a number of bruises. The po-lice interfered and arrested Morente, but sent the remainder of the party

The cab strike is still on. Private stables are reaping a harvest, they charging for conveyance at the rate of four dollars in gold per hour, and all their vehicles are engaged.

The soldiers at Camp Colombia are still living in tents, the barracks for their accommodation not having been finished. The daily heavy rains are causing great annoyance. All the tents are of new brown hospital canvas, which was thought to be the best obtainable for the climate, but has proved utterly unfit. The chemicals used in the dye eat the fibre and make the tents leak after a week of exposure. The daily rains soak quickly through and drench the men, who are disgusted. All the tents have wooden floors and cots; but unless the barracks are soon completed, sickness will probably develop, although under the present conditions, the health of the soldiers is remarkable.

The army health in the city o

Havana is very gratifying to General Ludlow. Of the 2,000 men, less than two per cent. are sick. The ordinary health of the city remains good. One supposed case of yellow fever is re-ported on board the steamer Ardanmorah from Carthagenia. Some of the army doctors say the patient is suffering from yellow fever, but Dr. W. T. Brunner, chief quarantine officer, declares that he is not. The ship has been quarantined and the man removed to the hospital.

Wm. A. Brady, Jeffries' manager, read from the stage a challenge to fight Tom Sharkey about September 15th, for the largest purse offered by any club and a $10,000 side bet. He stipulated that the entire purse go to the winner, and that no side agreements or secret arrangements by considered, and that the sailor must agree to George Siler as referee. The moon, which is supposed to shed its soft radiance over the garden of the Capulet while Romeo makes love to Juliet on the balcony above, became aggressive and caught fire. It made much smoke which floated out over the audience and created some uneasiness. Finally a nervous woman in the balcony started for the door, and in moment the aisles were full of women follow-the acting business, and, coming down to the foot lights, shouted: "Ladies sit down!" But the ager Powers, of the theatre, climbed that a bit of insulation on the moon wire had become ignited, but a good portion of the moon had been saved, the fire was out, and there was no danger. It was a trying ordeal for played Romeo and Juliet and but for their coolness and that of Mr. Powers, a panic might have resulted.
