

BRITISH CLAIM ANOTHER VICTORY

Generals White and French Said to Have Defeated the Boers at Elands Laagte.

THE BATTLE AT GLENCOE.

Boers Said to be Completely Demoralized. The British Had Thirty-one Killed and One Hundred and Fifty-one Wounded.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, October 21.—The earliest dispatch regarding yesterday's battle conveyed the impression that the whole affair was over in a couple of hours, the British artillery silencing the Boer guns and infantry and then simply charging right over the hill.

According to the latest advices, however, the battle lasted eight hours and nearly seven hours elapsed before the last Boer gun was put out of action. The Irish Fusiliers, under the Duke's Rifles, meanwhile had advanced to the hill and, shooting their way up the hill, driving the Boers back from shelter to shelter, until the final rush of the British carried them to the summit.

It was a bright clear morning, which enabled the operations to be followed by the staff officers without difficulty. A curious fact was that several times a lull occurred in the firing on both sides, the British infantry apparently taking breathing space in the stiff fire and the Boers also holding back their fire.

British Artillery's Fine Work.

The magnificent practice of the British guns was an immense help and the accuracy of their fire was especially great. The British had thirty-one killed and one hundred and fifty-one wounded.

"I had been a great sufferer from female weakness for about two years," writes Mrs. Emma Richardson, of Gosport, Wayne Co., Ky. "I could not sleep at night, and I never ever did. I have also used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and have been greatly relieved. The recovery for ulceration of the rectum has been with good results and half of one bottle cured my throat, which could scarcely swallow."

The permanent benefit to health from the use of Dr. Pierce's Pellets is testified to by thousands of women. They regulate the stomach, liver and bowels. Sold by all medicine dealers.

THE TEMPLE OF FAME.

"How far away is the Temple of Fame?" Said a youth at the dawn of day; And he toiled and dreamed of a deathless name; But the hours went by and the even- ing came. That left him feeble, old and lame, To plod on his cheerless way.

For the path of Fame is a weary climb Up a mountain steep and high; There are many who start in their youthful prime, But the battle with fate and time, For one who reaches those heights sublime,

Are thousands who fall and die. The youth who had failed could never guess.

The nation his quest was vain; But he sought no other to help or bless;

He followed the glittering prize Success, Up the narrow pathway of Selfishness,

And this had been his base. "How far away is the Temple of Good?"

Said a youth at the dawn of day; And he strove in a spirit of brotherhood, To help and succor as best he could, The poor and unfortunate multitude. On their hard and dreary way.

He likewise strove with adversity, To climb to the heights above; But his dream was ever of men made free,

Of better days in the time to be, And self was buried in sympathy— He followed the path of Love.

He was careless alike of praise or blame, But after his work was done, An angel of glory from heaven came And wrote on high his immortal name,

Proclaiming this truth, that the Temple of Fame and Temple of Good are one.

For this is the lesson that history Has taught since the world began; That those whose memories never die, That shine like stars in our human sky,

And brighter grow as the years roll by Are men who have lived for Man.

SUNDAY SELECTIONS.

—He who prays in faith does not wait to see if his prayer is to be answered before he begins to work.

—If we are going to sit together in heavenly places, we had better be glad to stand together in the earthly ones.

—One of the highest of spiritual luxuries is the enjoyment of pure and exhilarating and sublime thoughts.—C. L. Cuyler.

—That Christian has found true rest in his soul who can accept as God's will concerning him the circumstances of the present hour, and cheerfully make the best of them.

—So many people seem to take life as a doom, and allow its inevitable conditions to depress them, instead of taking its conditions and weaving the most glorious issues.—Rev. J. F. R. W. Ware.

—God's promises were never meant to carry out laziness. Like a boat, they are to be rowed by our oars; but many men, entering forget the oar, and drift down more helpless in the boat than if they had stayed on shore.—Beecher.

—Prayer is, in the highest conception of it, a state rather than an act. A full fruition of its benefits depends on a continuity of its influences. Reduce it to two isolated experiments daily, and separate these by long blank hours in which the soul has no glimpse of God for its refreshment, and how can prayer be other than a toil, and often a drudgery!—Phelps.

London, October 21.—The War Office is still besieged late to-night by anxious inquiries, but the officials have no further news from Glencoe.

Some anxiety is beginning to be felt with regard to the Eighteenth hussars whose return from their pursuit of the Boers has not yet been officially notified to the War Office.

Lady Symons heard this afternoon that her husband was slightly better. Reliable news from South Africa is meager, the wires being so overloaded with official dispatches that others filter through in the slowest possible manner.

The latest advices from Cape Town show that all was well at Kimberley on Thursday. Although the usual water supply of the town was cut off, there was ample water for the needs of the town.

The police garrisons of Fourteen Street and Tufts have arrived at Kimberley. Everything tends to confirm the statement that Colonel Baden-Powell temporarily worsened the Boers at Mafeking, and it appears true that upwards of three hundred wounded Boers have arrived at Johannesburg.

The Boers, however, appear to have reoccupied the scene of the fighting, as an attempt to recover the bodies of the British, it is owing, is alleged, to lack Boers refusing to recognize the Red Cross flag.

The news from Glencoe aroused immense enthusiasm among the British residents of Cape Colony, and this is rapidly spreading to Basutoland, where it is feared it will further inflame the desire of the natives to participate in the operations against the Boers.

British Claim Another Victory.

At 4 o'clock this morning the War Office posted the following from Sir General Archibald Hulme:

Ladysmith, Oct. 21.—8:45 P. M. General White rode towards Elandslaagte at 2:30 p.m. The force under General French left here at 4 A. M. by road and rail to Modder's Bridge. By 2 P.M. it had been gradually strengthened to the following total: Fifth Lancers, a squadron of Royal Dragoon Guards, two field batteries, the Natal Field Artillery, the Devonshire regiment, half the Gordon Highlanders, the Imperial Light Horse and two squadrons of Natal volunteers.

"I remain here in defence of Lady-smith with the Gloucester regiment, half the Manchester, half the Gordon Highlanders, a mountain battery and five hundred Natal volunteers.

There was a flight of steps and through a corridor leading to the sheriff's residence, the only avenue of escape from the prison, Flanagan sped, holding the screaming child in his left arm and bandishing his knife in his right hand.

For the presence of the sheriff in the corridor Flanagan would have escaped. Sheriff Talley happened to be in the room into which Flanagan dashed. Mrs. Ruth, the child's mother, was also in the room. The father and mother simultaneously sprang upon the escaping prisoner. Mrs. Talley wielded a broom and the sheriff clutching Flanagan by the neck.

The guard came running down the steps at the same instant in pursuit of the prisoner and the three of them overpowered Flanagan and tore the child from his grasp. The sheriff then drove him back up the stairs and into the cell at the point of his pistol.

Flanagan has been confined in the DeKalb jail since last February, awaiting trial for the murder of his employer, during Miss Ruth Slack, Mrs. Dixon Allen, attempting to murder Mr. George W. Allen and inflicting injuries on the latter's father, Dixon Allen, from which he afterwards died. He has been sentenced to hang, but on a plea of lunacy he has been allowed repeated trials.

Raising Cotton Rates.

Central of Georgia Puts Up Freights to North and South Carolina Mills.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ATLANTA, GA., October 21.—A call to the Constitution; from Dawson, Ga., says:

The Central of Georgia Railway to-day, without notice, raised the cotton rates to North Carolina and South Carolina from 51 cents to 75 cents a hundred pounds, making an increase of 25 cents over every bale of cotton shipped to these markets from this point. It is claimed that the purpose of this action was to make the rate to the Carolina markets virtually prohibitory, throwing all of the cotton from this section which has heretofore been purchased by the Carolina cotton mills at better prices to Savannah for export. This would be considerable loss to the farmers as well as business men of Dawson, and litigation at the action of the railroad is general. This is in direct violation of the present order of the Interstate Commerce Commission equalizing Dawson freights with those of Albany, Americus and Eufaula, and Dawson will appeal to the board of directors.

Will sell all together or the land separate.

Basuto Movement.

LONDON, October 21.—The paramount chief of the Basutos, according to a dispatch from Cape Town, has asked permission to assemble the other Basuto chiefs, with a view of inviting them to pledge loyalty to the Queen. This is assumed to be a forerunner of a Basuto movement and the Orange Free State governors near the Basuto border are said to be in a state of concern, fearing that at any moment the Basutos, despite imperial instructions to the contrary, will take the field and invade the Free State.
