NORTH CAROLINA LEADS.
North Carolina leads all the other Southern States not only in the number of her textile mills, but also in wood working plants. The Dixie Magazine, published at Atlanta, which has been giving attention to this subject, reports that in addition to 500 saw mills, 85 shingle mills and 183 planing mills, sash, door and blind factories there are 63 factories making furniture, chairs, show cases, &c., 36 carriage, wagon and agricultural implement factories, 25 for making boxes, crates, &c., a total of 306 wood working establishments employing skilled labor. There are in addition to these several plants which turn out large quantities of axe and pick handles, spokes, rims, &c., and several for the manufacture of bobbins.

The writer of this, who is not as old as Noah Raby, remembers very well the time when there was not a single one of these manufacturing in the State, with the exception of a wagon factory near Salem. The pioneer wood worker of the State, who started the first spoke and handle factory in it, at Greensboro in 1866, Captain Snow, is now a resident of High Point, where he has established several plants for the manufacture of furniture and other things. The plants are constantly increasing, and if in the past few years it will not be long before North Carolina will lead not only the Southern States, but all the States in the number of them, and probably in the amount of work turned out.

There is no comparison between the amount of money made by manufacturing this lumber in the rough, in addition to which it keeps money at home and gives employment to much skilled labor, and helps others as well. These are called small industries, but in the aggregate they are great and every one of them has growing capacity practically unlimited.

A HOME WEDDING.
Miss Maie O'Connor and Mr. E. K. Bryan Plighted Their Troth
AT THE ALTAR OF HYMEN.
The Marriage Was One of the Prettiest That Has Occurred in Wilmington This Season—Witnessed by a Large Number of Friends.

Added to the list of beautiful weddings that have been celebrated in Wilmington this season is that of Miss Maie Isabelle O'Connor to Mr. E. K. Bryan, which took place at 5 o'clock on the 28th ult., at the residence of the bride's parents, Major and Mrs. D. O'Connor, No. 110 Princess street. All that is combined in elegance and artistic taste was evident in the appointments being used in the decorations being unusually effective in pink and blue. Wild smilax in sprays, festoons and garlands formed the background of green used in all parts of the house to bring out in snowy whiteness the chrysanthemums, pink carnations and roses, forming the floral adornment. An aisle was formed of blue ribbons and pink carnations from the front of the house to the drawing room and the bride and groom standing under a canopy of smilax, beneath which was suspended a wedding bell of carnations.

At the appointed hour the double chorus, composed of Mrs. W. L. Latta, Mrs. Joseph H. Waters, soprano; Mrs. E. G. Wood, Mrs. Burkholder, contralto; Messrs. C. H. Cooper, Robert C. Banks, tenor; A. S. and Herbert Holden, basses, with Mr. Alfred Yopp, accompanist, sang the chorus from the "Bride Maids" and then rendered the chorus from Lohengrin, to which the bride party entered. During the ceremony the attendants, forming a double half circle about the bride and groom, presented a beautiful picture. They were: Miss Burdell Gower, of Washington, D. C., maid of honor; Miss Alice Reilly, first bridesmaid; Misses Anabel Burdell, of Tennessee; Nessie Colthart, Ida Brown and Tallulah DeRoset.

Mr. Will Bryan, the groom's brother, was best man, and the groomsmen were: Messrs. Henry G. MacFarlane, Jas. Kelly, Chas. C. Chabourn, Frank Stedman, T. Morgan Turrentine, and Dr. J. S. Spicer, of Goldsboro.

The beautiful ceremony was performed by Rev. Father O. Dennen, and the bride's father, Maj. D. O'Connor, gave her away.

The bride's dress was of white crepe de chene over tulle and trimmed with duchesse lace. The bride veil was adorned with orange blossoms and a cluster of pink diamonds, a gift of the groom. The flowers were, appropriately, lilies of the valley and bride's roses.

Miss Gower, the maid of honor, wore a becoming gown in applique over light blue tulle. She carried a bouquet of pink La France roses.

The first two bridesmaids wore effective toilets of blue organdie over effective tulle, with pink trimmings, and the second two wore as appropriately gowns of pink organdie over pink tulle with trimmings of blue. Their bouquets were of pink and blue carnations, respectively. The hair ornaments were blue ribbons and rhinestones. The groomsmen were in conventional evening dress.

The bride's mother, Mrs. D. O'Connor, wore lavender brocade trimmed with duchesse lace.

After the ceremony an elegant reception was given, at which several hundred guests were entertained. The bride and groom received congratulations in the drawing room. The bridesmaids were assisted in receiving by the following young lady friends of the bride: Misses Edith Bolles, Alice Smallbones, Kate Harlow, Maggie Price, Mary Monk, Lucy Wootton and Mrs. Joe Bunting.

In the dining room where the supper was served, the decorations were of blue and pink. The bride's table had over it a cloth of white damask satin. From the chandelier to the four corners of the table were draped pink ribbons caught in bunches of carnations. The centerpiece was a crystal candelabra and had its pink blue covers. The bridesmaids in tall vases adorned with pink and blue flowers. Pink carnations and the general effect and the hon-bons were in pink. The guest cards were artistically decorated and in the bride's cake were the usual souvenirs—the ring, the thimble and the bodkin—drawn for by the bride's maids. The bride's presents were exquisite and extravagant.

The bride and groom left on the A. C. L. train at 7 o'clock for the North where they will spend two weeks, after which they will be at home at the Orton.

The bride, Miss O'Connor, is one of Wilmington's most accomplished and charming young women. She is the only daughter of Maj. and Mrs. D. O'Connor. The groom is a very popular young man and one of the leading lawyers at the Wilmington bar.

Among the out-of-town attendants upon the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Horace P. Springer, of Washington, D. C., and Mr. John O'Connor, of Joliet, Ill., a cousin of the bride.

The majority of Hon. John D. Bellamy for Congress in this district is 11,766 and not 1,766 as erroneously reported in yesterday's Associated Press dispatch from Raleigh.

THE GATTIS-KILGO SUIT.
Jury Awarded Defendant $20,000 Damages. Motion to Set Aside and Appeal.

[Special Star Telegram.]
OXFORD, N. C., Dec. 1.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon after being out two and one half hours, the jury in the Gattis-Kilgo slander suit brought in a verdict in favor of Mr. Gattis on every issue and awarded him twenty thousand dollars damages.

The defendant made a motion to set the verdict aside on the ground that the amount was excessive. Judge Hoke overruled this motion and defendants gave notice of an appeal.

WILMINGTON LEADS IN POPULATION.
She Still Holds Her Place as "Metropolis of the State."

A Washington special to the Charlotte Observer of yesterday says: "Much disappointment was experienced when the census returns from North Carolina were made public today, in that they did not give the population by cities separately, but incorporated the population of the cities in the county in which they were located. It was explained that the population by cities will be given later in a comprehensive bulletin, which will be issued in a month or sooner.

No city in North Carolina, it is officially announced, has a population of 25,000. Wilmington stands first and its close race between Charlotte and Raleigh for second place.

Our Population.
Attention of the Raleigh News and Observer is called to the fact that New Hanover county is accredited by the Census Bureau with a population of 28,785 and not 24,026 as printed in Thursday's News and Observer. The last named figures are those of the census of 1890. Assuming from the relative population in city and county in the census of the last thirty years, that the present population out of the city of Wilmington is 8,750; then the number of inhabitants in the city proper now is 32,035, which as stated in Washington correspondence of recent date, continues to lead the cities of the State.

Sheriff Stedman's Appointments.
Sheriff elect Frank H. Stedman, who will go into office Monday, has appointed Mr. James H. Taylor, Jr., his chief deputy for office work; Capt. R. C. Capps, jailor, and Mr. W. Harvey Cox, deputy. The other appointments of deputies will be announced later.

The creditors of Mr. B. J. Sunderland, of Clarkton, at the adjourned meeting yesterday morning at 11 o'clock at the Orton, compromised their claims at 25 cents on the dollar.

FROM POISONED BEER.
Epidemic in Manchester, Eng.—Nearly Seventy Deaths—1,000 Patients.

by telegraph to the Morning Star.
LONDON, Dec. 1.—The beer poisoning epidemic at Manchester, which has so worked its way to the north of England, has now spread to London. The county council announces it is taking active measures to protect the community. Many samples of glucose used in Manchester and Liverpool districts there are already over a thousand patients and there have been nearly seventy deaths due to a particular lot of glucose supplied to favorite local brewers.

A physician suggests that the mystery in the Maybrick case might have been solved had the facts now made public in regard to the success of the venture. The new line will be operated in the interest and the mutual benefit of the three ports.

The steamers purchased included the Planter, which has often visited this port; also the Mercator, John M. Cole and Eutaw. Mr. Moses, will it is learned, operate these vessels not only from Georgetown and Charleston but also from the landings on the coast and Fee Dee river. He will take possession of them within the next thirty days.

Harbor Master's Report.

Elks May Produce Play.
It is rumored that the Elks will give a theatrical entertainment very soon. It will probably be given jointly with the St. Cecilia Circle, a ladies' organization of St. James' Church. The play that is being talked of is a popular comedy that the amateur Theatians of the city are already familiar with and that they can produce on short notice. It is likely that the play will be produced in the course of three or four weeks.

Sport at Orton Plantation.
Col. K. M. Murchison came up yesterday from Orton plantation where he had a week of fine sport. On Friday he killed 35 large mallards and bagged other game. Col. Murchison has recently added to his kennel two magnificent fox and deer hounds—a special order from England—which were brought over on the British steamship Oakland, which arrived in port last week. Col. Murchison will return to Orton this week.

Property to be Transferred.
It is learned that on next Saturday week the property of the Elks, now in the hands of the Elks Company, will be transferred to the Wilmington Lodge of Elks. A charter will be obtained for the latter organization which will in all respects take the place of the Elks Company. The old corporation will become defunct as soon as the new one is started and all the transfers are duly made.

Mortuary Report.
The Report of Dr. Charles T. Harper, city superintendent of health, shows that during November there were 96 deaths in Wilmington; 25 of white people and 31 of colored people. There were 41 births; 16 of white infants and 25 of colored infants.

GOVERNMENT BY TRUSTS.
Wm. J. Bryan has an article in the December number of the North American Review giving his views of the causes which gave the Republican party its success at the last election, a success which far exceeded the expectations of most of the leaders. He attributes it to the war feeling, the cautious conservatism or fear of change when the condition of the country was fairly prosperous, the trusts and other combinations, and the practically unlimited campaign fund which the party managers had at their disposal. These were other factors, but these were the principal ones.

He illustrates the cautious conservatism by noting the fact that the Democratic party gained in the East and in the cities, and lost in the West and in the country, the reason for this being that the anti-imperialism argument, which had force in the East and in the cities, had little force in the West, where the farmers were influenced by the better prices they have been receiving for the past few years, prices which are now kept up to some extent by the war in the Philippines. They were influenced, too, by the assertions so frequently and positively made that expansion would be instrumental in keeping the open door in China, in opening up to us larger markets there and thus creating a greater demand for the foodstuffs of this country.

He doesn't seem to attach much importance to the silver scare and yet that was a mighty factor in the election of McKinley, which will in a great measure account for the sweep of those States which some of the Democratic leaders were sanguine of carrying. This is shown, we think, by the difference in the votes cast for Democratic candidates for Governor in some of these States, and the votes cast for Bryan, many thousands less than those cast for the gubernatorial candidates. The silver scare did that.

But after all the mightiest agency was the corporations, combines and trusts, which worked in accordance with the party leaders and supplied their treasury with all the money they needed. What amount this was is, of course, as far as outsiders are concerned, a matter of speculation. It has been placed all the way from a couple millions to fifteen millions, but even the smaller sum should be, for all necessary and legitimate purposes, sufficiently large, and was considered about large enough before Hanna took charge of the machine. Being a business man he knew the potency of money and utilized it in his political management in a business-like way.

In some cases the railroads which were with him and wanted McKinley elected carried voters who wanted to get home to vote free of cost, when it was known that they intended to vote the Republican ticket. When free transportation was not given tickets were bought and given to voters, and thus votes were secured to decide elections in close districts, in Lent's district, for instance, in Ohio, where he was defeated by fourteen or fifteen votes.

The pressure brought to bear by some of the banks was another factor. Mr. Bryan states that he saw letters from bank officials written during the campaign, refusing to loan money for the time being but promising accommodation in case of Republican success. Of course the object in this was to influence votes for McKinley and doubtless it, in a good many cases, succeeded. And with all this came the potent power of the trusts, with the people they employed and the money they contributed to the Republican campaign fund. Some of these trusts are thus enumerated by Mr. Bryan:

"The American Agricultural Chemical Company, organized in 1899, has an authorized capital of $40,000,000, and controls 23 of the largest fertilizing concerns in the country."
"The American Hide and Leather Company, organized in 1899, has an authorized capital of $35,000,000, and controls 75 per cent. of the upper leather output of the country."
"The American Lined Oil Company, organized in 1898, has a capital stock of $33,500,000, and controls over 85 per cent. of the lined oil properties of the United States."

BOERS IN THE TRANSVAAL.
Large Number of Families Propose Emigrating to the United States—Instruments Offered.

By telegraph to the Morning Star.
NEW YORK, December 2.—Last June an interview with Mr. Reitz, Transvaal Secretary of State, was called to this city, in which the secretary said that the Boers would fight for their liberty as long as there was any hope of gaining it. They would never surrender to Great Britain or become part of the British Empire. Sooner than do that most of the hardy thirty Boer farmers would emigrate with their families to the United States.

The publication of an interview in the New York World brought spontaneous expressions from the Governors of several States, including Arkansas, Colorado, South Dakota, Wyoming and Nebraska, in which attention to the millions of acres of unoccupied public lands in the States which were still open under the homestead law, and the fact that many of these could obtain 160-acre farms free immediately upon their arrival on declaring their intention to become citizens of the United States. Since receiving the dispatch from Consul H. G. Miller, of this city, this city a copy of the following dispatch:
"Lawrence Marquez, South African, November 27, 1900.—To the Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.: I, Lawrence Marquez, a native-born South African, and a member of the Boer families here, maximum six hundred men, one hundred and fifty women, contemplating emigration to the United States, and the New York World if offer of homestead farms mentioned in said newspaper telegram to President Kruger, sent my care, June 15, 1900, and I have since come here as a result of their message to the State Department.

In connection with this movement, third assistant Secretary of State Thomas G. Miller, of this city, has issued a copy of the following dispatch:
"Lawrence Marquez, South African, November 27, 1900.—To the Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.: I, Lawrence Marquez, a native-born South African, and a member of the Boer families here, maximum six hundred men, one hundred and fifty women, contemplating emigration to the United States, and the New York World if offer of homestead farms mentioned in said newspaper telegram to President Kruger, sent my care, June 15, 1900, and I have since come here as a result of their message to the State Department.

A CORNER IN EGGS.
Engineered in Chicago by Armour, Swift and Other Large Packers.

By telegraph to the Morning Star.
CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—The Times Herald to-morrow will say:
"A corner has been made on eggs. The price is now nineteen cents a dozen and how high it will go no one but the men who are engineering the deal can tell. The men, Armour, Swift and other packers and dealers who control the corner, have already made about half a million dollars and their profits have only begun. The deal is of such proportions that it makes the Phillips corner on corn seem insignificant. The deal has been engineered by the packers, Armour and Swift, who are the largest owners of refrigerator cars in the country, and who have facilities for handling eggs to better advantage than regular dealers. There is also in the combination the Western Cold Storage Company, the Monarch Refrigerator Company, Furcell, Frankham and C. H. Weaver Company, all of Chicago; Haskell & Bowser, of Beatrice, Nebraska, who buy at 150 stations in the country, are also heavily interested."
