A Marvelous Linguist. Professor Thomas Davidson was a master of many languages. On one occasion he had an interview with the pope. The one of the little cotorie related a personal experience.

"I read law at home and had my examinations through a little country lawyer who knew a great deal, but never had a blg case and was notorious for his ability in abusing justices of the peace. It may seem a preposterous statement, but I had never heard or thought of such a thing as contempt of court when 1 had my first professional experience in a common pleas court. No sooner had the opposition attorney made an objection than the judge ruled against me.

"I proceeded to inform him that he was wrong, that he knew he was wrong and that I wished he would guit his pettifogging. The lawyers in attendance were temporarily petrified; the venerable judge glared at me over his glasses, finally smiled in a forgiving sort of way and told me to proceed. Very soon there was another well taken objection, and again he ruled against me. This practically took the props from under my case, and I went at the judge as my instructor had been accustomed to go at a justice of the peace in a back township.

'Your honor,' I declaimed, 'is a political accident. In the eternal fitness of things you should be digging coal or cleaning out underbrush. You have no more sense of justice than a Zulu chief of mercy. Thank heaven there is a higher judicial tribunal in this state that'- But there I was halted by a fine of $200 or 90 days in jail. The judge took me to his private room, where he learned my story and remitted the fine. To pay $200 at that time would have pauperized me. I now have quite a reputation for never rubbing the court the wrong way."-Detroit Free Press.

A Kall and Kipling Medley. Mr. Barrie was one day at Waterloo station in a hurry to catch a train. He was hastening from the bookstall laden with papers, "a good many sixpenny ones among them," he dolefully relates, when, in rushing around a corner, he fell into the arms of Rudyard Kipling, equally in a tearing hurry. They turned on each other with scowling faces, then smiled in recognition and asked each other whither he went. Then Kipling, exclaiming, "Lucky beggar, you've got papers!" seized the bundle from Barrie, flung him some money and made off. "But you did not stoop to pick up his dirty halfpence, did you?" queried one of Mr. Barrie's bearers amusedly. "Didn't 1, though?" returned Barrie, and added ruefully, "But he hadn't flung me half enough."-St. James Gazette.

Odd Features of French Elections. There are some curious features connected with Ffench parliamentary clections. For instance, no wall literature issued by a candidate or his friends may be printed on white paper, white being the color reserved for official announcements. In the days of the empire, when official candidates we p known in the land, the addresses of the government's nominees were printed on white paper, and this no doult had due weight with the more ignorated voters. Again, any elector whose nan.e is mentioned in a newspaper can, if he feel himself aggrieved, call upon the editor to publish a reply. This, however, is not confined to elections, but is a right enjoyed by French citizen: under the law of the country .- Londo Mail.

Has now been in touch with its patrons for the past eleven years. It has grown from a very small beginning, step by step, to its present location, where it occupies the entire building covering 19,200 square feet of floor reom, which we claim is one of the largest stores of its kind in the State. We have this large store full of goods-all the shelves, tables and counters are well stocked. We have accumulated this large stock of goods by fair dealing, spending less money than we made, giving our patrons big values and getting the money down. To-day we are in a position to buy goods in any quantity and as cheap as the cheapest. If you are a customer of this large store, accept our thanks for your past patronage. If you are not, then allow us to ask, WHY NOT? I stand ready to offer you values in every department that you cannot match or equal.
