

HON. WM. C. MAYBURY, MAJOR OF DETROIT.

Says He is in Much Better Physical Condition Since Using Paine's Celery Compound.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 22nd, 1901.

'Some time ago, attracted by the very high testimonials published as to the efficacy of Paine's celery compound, I took it on trial for impaired digestion and consequent nervousness. I found very great benefit from its use, and, therefore, desire to bear this testimony to any who may be influenced to try this remedy by my experience with it.'

William C. Maybury.

William C. Maybury is now serving his third term as Mayor of Detroit, Mich. In 1882 he was elected to Congress from Michigan, re-elected in 1884, serving during the 48th Congress on the Judiciary Committee, and in the 49th on the Ways and Means Committee. His leisure is devoted to the affairs of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, to attendance at the aged, the sick, and the poor.

In the light of many such public endorsements as the above from Mayor Maybury, it is easy to see why Paine's celery compound is displacing all other remedies. It has been truthfully said that the men and women who use and recommend Paine's celery compound are not the class of people who take doubtful remedies and patent medicines. Paine's celery compound is not a patent medicine; it is not a secret preparation. It is the formula of Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., Professor of Materia Medica in the Dartmouth Medical School.

household, as thousands of grateful letters testify. The use of this marvelous remedy, now spring is here, makes all the difference between impure, sluggish blood and tired nerves and a healthy, energetic condition—between sickness and health. The incalculable amount of good it is doing these spring days in making sick and ever despairing people well should compel the attention of every judicious person who is out of health in this spring of 1901. It drives the poison germs of deep seated disease from the blood. It gives nerves sleep, so necessary to brain and nerves. It brings buoyancy of spirit in place of lassitude and despondency, and allows the overtaxed system to start fairly on the road to health. Thousands have been benefited; thousands have been cured by Paine's celery compound when everything else failed.

NEGRO BURNED AT THE STAKE.

Brutally Assaulted and Murdered Mrs. Younger Near Corsicana, Tex.

CAPTURED BY BLOODHOUNDS.

The Murderer Made Written Confession of the Crime—Taken from Jail by Citizens—Five Thousand People Witnessed the Burning.

By Telegram to the Morning Star. CORSCICANA, TEXAS, March 13.—John Henderson, colored, who brutally murdered Mrs. Younger, a farmer's wife, living just outside the city, several days ago, was burned to death in the court house square here at noon to day.

A written confession of the crime, attested by Justice Roberts, was secured from the prisoner. Five thousand people witnessed the burning, and business was practically suspended for a time. Henderson was captured yesterday after a long chase. He was trailed by bloodhounds from the Younger home, many miles back and forth across the country, and was finally captured near Hillsboro. The officers took him to the latter place, and were impeded, through fear of mobs, to start for Fort Worth. When the train reached Itasca, a party of Younger's friends overpowered the train, and hustled Henderson from the train. He was conveyed across the prairie, a distance of forty five miles, to Corsicana, where he was burned to prevent the infuriated citizens from tearing him to pieces.

Made Confession. A committee was appointed to see him and pass final upon his guilt or innocence. Finally, he made a written confession of the crime, and was burned to death in the court house square here at noon to day.

Bound to the Stake. A railroad rail was driven into the ground of the court house square. Boxes and dry timber were piled around it and saturated with oil. Just before noon about forty men rushed from the jail and crowded the negro to the place where the rail had been planted. In their midst was Henderson, handcuffed. The men formed a circle, held a chain at the end of the negro's trousers to prevent the crowd from tearing him away. The negro was fastened to the rail with wire and chains.

Chains of Oil were emptied over his clothing and dozens of light matches touched the inflammable material. The fire alarm was rung, and the stores of the city were deserted, as their occupants rushed to the square to witness the burning.

Sleashed with a Knife. Just as the pile was fired Conway Younger, husband of the murdered woman, jumped from the jail and slashed him across the face with a knife. Henderson gave no indication of pain or suffering. He rolled his eyes, to get a glimpse of the negro, which was a slight movement of the hands.

In ten minutes Henderson was dead. At no time did he make an outcry, or utter a word. When the frightful tragedy was over Leve French, a white man, whose wife was outraged and murdered near Corsicana by a negro, was taken to jail at Dallas for safe-keeping. He climbed a tree and addressed the assembled thousands asking them to help him to get the murderer and burn him.

Coroner's Verdict. Justice H. G. Roberts held an inquest over the remains of Henderson and gave the following verdict: I find that the deceased came to his just death at the hands of a confessed and outraged feelings of the best people in the United States, the citizens of Navarro and adjoining counties. The evidence, as well as the confession of guilt by the deceased, shows that the punishment was fully merited and commendable.

MARYLAND LEGISLATURE. Practically Certain That the Election Bill Will Become a Law.

By Telegram to the Morning Star. ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 13.—The Democratic leaders are breathing more freely to night, for when the Senate adjourned at 11 o'clock, it was practically certain that the new election law, popularly known as the "disfranchisement bill," will become a law. Nothing but an accident which cannot be foreseen can now prevent its adoption, and in such form as to fully carry out the purpose of its promoters, which is to make it almost, if not quite, impossible for a disfranchisement bill to cast his ballot intelligently.

THE BRITISH BUDGET. Unless the Revenue is Increased Will Show a Deficit of $54,000,000.

By Cable to the Morning Star. LONDON, March 13.—With the naval estimates presented in the House of Commons yesterday, the budget for the coming year shows an expenditure of upwards of 181,000,000 against 180,000,000 pounds sterling for last year. Unless the revenue is increased the deficit will amount to 54,000,000, the largest ever estimated.

THREE MEN KILLED. Boiler of an Engine on the Lehigh Valley Road Exploded.

By Telegram to the Morning Star. WILKESBARRE, PA., March 13.—The boiler of an engine on the Lehigh Valley railroad exploded to day while pulling a coal train near Mifflin and three men were killed. The train was not affected and ran for some distance without the engine. It is not known what caused the boiler to explode.

THE ISTHMIAN CANAL.

An Informal Discussion Concerning the Panama Canal Route—Three Parties Interested.

By Telegram to the Morning Star. WASHINGTON, March 13.—Senator Martinez Silva, Minister of Foreign Affairs for the Republic of Colombia, and at present accredited as Colombian minister to Washington, had a conference with Secretary Hay to day in connection with the discussion of the canal question with the Colombian government, the latter government is now disposed to remove any obstacles on her part in the way of the adoption of that route. Thus far the discussion has been of a preliminary character, tending to bring out what the respective parties desire.

SNOW IN THE NORTHWEST.

The Worst Storm in Years—All Railroad Lines Blocked—Travellers' Situation Perilous.

By Telegram to the Morning Star. DETROIT, March 13.—A special to the Free Press from Grand Rapids says: Raging along the entire coast of Lake Michigan, north of Grand Rapids, and reaching out over the Saginaw valley is one of the most disastrous storms in years. Railroad reports here show that all lines are blocked and that no train on the Grand Rapids and Indiana or the Pere Marquette north and northeast of here is able to move. So far the winds have been southeasterly, but railroad men fear that it is turning to northwesterly and that the worst is yet to come.

Five Grand Rapids and Indiana passenger trains are stalled between here and Mackinac City. Two Pere Marquette passenger trains are fast in the snow and are rapidly being snowed in completely and are freight trains out on both lines are held up in the snow and frozen slush. Railroad men say that the storm is one of the worst that they have ever encountered. The storm is causing a great deal of damage to the windows of the coaches and the cabs of the engine were in some instances broken.

Travellers in reporting from the north say that their situations are perilous and they ask for immediate relief. They say they are being blown about in the clouds and that they are unable to assist themselves.

BEST OF ALL. To cleanse the system in a gentle and truly beneficial manner, when the proper time, when the body is weak, is a slight movement of the hands. Buy the genuine, Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, for sale by all druggists, at 50 cents per bottle.

NEGOTIATIONS AT PRETORIA.

Concessions to the Boers—A Distinct Promise of Grant of Free Institutions by the British.

By Cable to the Morning Star. LONDON, March 14.—"We understand that there has been an active interchange of telegrams between the home government and the Cape authorities and Lord Kitchener," says the Daily Chronicle, "concerning the negotiations with General Botha, and also the immediate withdrawal of troops from Pretoria by way of Delagoa bay, which are destined to feed the Boers when the final surrender is made."

A MISSING CASHIER.

Committed Forgeries Amounting to $100,000 Before He Disappeared.

By Telegram to the Morning Star. MILES, MICH., March 13.—The directors of the suspended First National Bank filed a declaration against Chas. A. Johnson, the missing cashier of the bank, alleging that forgeries amounting to $100,000 against leading citizens of the county have been committed by him. It was found to day that there was a great quantity of forged bank notes in the possession of the bank. Salden filed papers with the county clerk at St. Joseph at which all of Johnson's property, but it will not cover the shortage by many thousands to day as of Johnson was discovered to day.

GEN. HARRISON

DIED YESTERDAY. Ex-President's Death Was Quiet and Painless at His Home in Indianapolis.

RELATIVES AT THE BEDSIDE.

None of His Children Present—Arrangements for the Funeral—President McKinley Will Attend Official Announcement to-day.

By Telegram to the Morning Star. INDIANAPOLIS, IND., March 13.—General Benjamin J. Harrison died at 4:45 this afternoon without regaining consciousness. His death was quiet and painless, there being a gradual sinking until the end came, which was marked by a single gasp for breath as life departed from the body. The relatives with a few exceptions, and several of his old and tried friends were at the former President's bedside when he passed away. The General's condition was so bad this morning, after a restless night that the attending physicians understood that the end could not be far off, and all bulletins sent out from the sick room were to the effect, that the army and friends were prepared when the final blow came.

News of the death spread quickly through the city, and several of the more intimate friends at once hurried to the Harrison residence. The word was flashed from the bulletins of all the newspapers, and thus communicated to the people on their way home in the evening. The announcement produced the greatest sorrow. Within a few moments, the flags on all the public buildings and most of the downtown business blocks were hoisted at half-mast, and other outward manifestations of mourning were made.

None of General Harrison's children were present at his death. Neither Colonel Russell Harrison nor Mrs. McKee had reached the city, although they were on their way. Elizabeth General Harrison's little daughter, had been taken from the sick room by her nurse before the end came.

Announcement in Washington. WASHINGTON, March 13.—Deep interest was exhibited in all of the executive departments throughout the day in the reports that came as to the condition of ex-President Harrison. His office hours had closed for the day before the end came the first official action regarding the death will be deferred until to-morrow when, following precedents, President McKinley will issue his proclamation to the people, notifying them of General Harrison's death and setting out in becoming terms his virtues and characteristics. He will also order salutes to be fired at the various army posts the day of the funeral and on shipboard when the news is received. The Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy will send out special notices to soldiers and sailors conveying the President's directions in this matter. Little more can be done officially at the present time. March 3d, 1893, specifically forbids the draping of public buildings in mourning or the closing of the executive offices on the occasion of the death of an ex-official. It is a curious fact that two orders, issued by President Harrison himself, probably before the death of the ex-President, were obliged to issue an order announcing the death of ex-President Hayes, the closing of the departments of the Interior and the War, and all public buildings to be draped in mourning. Almost before this period of mourning had expired, ex-Secretary of War, General Sherman, issued a proclamation issued from the White House. The long continuation of the exhibition was too much for Congress, which promptly passed the act referred to, prohibiting mourning displays and the closing of the departments on the occasion of the death of an ex-official. The late President Harrison was personally known to every member of the cabinet, and all its members in the city to day spoke in praise of his magnificent intellectuality and force of character.

Gen. Harrison's Wealth. INDIANAPOLIS, March 13.—General Harrison's wealth is variously estimated, public opinion rating it as high as half a million dollars. Those who know Mr. R. Reynolds, the well known tobacco manufacturer, donated $1,000 to erect a technological and industrial school at the Baptist Orphanage, Thomasville, as memorial to J. H. Mills, founder of the Orphanage, provided Dr. Boone, the present Superintendent, would raise $4,000. It has been truthfully said that the boys will be learning trades, as wood workers, machinists, etc. Dr. Boone has raised all of the $4,000 with the exception of $150, and he expects to get this yesterday (Sunday) in Wilmington.

To Accommodate Those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions but changes their character and renders them more active. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.
