"It affords me great pleasure to be able to say a few words in regard to the merits of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' writes Mrs. Flora Arn, of Dallas, Jackson Co., Mo. "I was tempted to try these medicines after seeing the effect upon my mother. At an early stage of married life I was greatly bothered with painful periods, also a troublesome drain which rendered me very week and unfit for work of any kind. I became so thin there was nothing left of me but skin and bone. My husband became alarmed and got me a bottle of 'Pavorite Prescription.' It was a quiet day at headquarters and of delegates to Monday's convention.

All the "locals" have met and selected their representatives to the Wilkes-barre gathering. There seems to be little doubt but that the conven-

"To see this ordinarily quiet young man addressing the whole House for a quarter of an hour amid a din which was tempestuous, and in violation of every rule of order, with the Speaker, ministers and all shouting, and the majority helpless, and then afterwards to see him cross the floor of the House and standing in front of the prime minister, who sat pallid with a sickly smile on his face-to see this, was one of the most curious proofs of how honest passion and indignation created by oppression, can cow even the most powerful of ty-rannies. Of all the points of that terrible scene-for it was terrible-the most remarkable was the absolute helpessness, the cowed inaction of the

THE NAVY DEPARTMENT.

Differences of Opinion on the Board of Construction as to Design for the Armored Cruisers.

WASHINGTON, October 18 .- The board of construction of the Navy Department has reached what may be regarded as a critical point in the development of the American navy. For many days past the board has been struggling with the grave problem presented by the necessity of so designing the armored cruisers authorized by the last Congress as to combine the greatest offensive and defensive qualities with the highest speed. The ordnance department wished to clad the vessels in the heaviest armor and place on them the biggest guns, while the engineers wished to give a high speed. These differences of opinion have be come much more pronounced than ever before and there have been some very lively scenes in the board meetings recently. Gradually the issues have been sifted down and adjusted tentatively, save the very important one of weight to be allowed for motive power, which means speed

Engineer-in-chief Melville insists that the new cruisers should not take the wash of anything afloat. CAN DO IT IF HE WILL TRY. A young man writes us from Illinois wanting to know whether it is possible for him to work his own way through one of our agricultural colleges. It is if he is made of the right sort of stuff, and it has to be pretty good stuff. Most of these colleges are so managed that all the work a student is able or will-ing to do upon the college farm is ray-en him at a liberal rate of compensation. A young man should get together a fair outfit of clothes and not less than $100, however, before tackling this job, for he could hardly expect to do justice to his studies and spare mule time for labor than would suffice to pay for his board and incidental ex-penses. Then if he should be shouls nest egg would come in handy. Anied ucation thus dug out by hard knocks, self denial and perseverance is a ways worth more to the boy than when absorbed at the expense of sights didner to upon the governor at home. A course of study attempted on these lines means no luxuries, mighty little athletics, no girl business and quite likely ics, no girl business and quite likely celluloid collars and a ten dollar dress and Sunday suit. Moses put in forty years at this sort of work in the wilderness to fit him to lead his people, and any young man who wants to be somebody and do something can offord to play the Moses act for three years. The very best training for a young man is to want a whole lot of things real bad and not be able to get them. Then after awhile he will learn to

GREAT DRAMA OF BRITISH POLITICS.

T. P. O'Connor's Impressions of Thursday's Scene in the House of Commons.

LONDON, Oct. 18 .- T. P. O' lonnor. M. P., has written for the Associated here, coming principally from the re-gion around Scrauton, that there will Press his impressions of the scene caused by the Irish members in the House of Commons Thursday, and what he believes it portends, as fol-

"I have seen many strange and exciting scenes in the House of Com mons, but that of Thursday was the most strange and most exciting. It deserves serious notice as a symptom of and clue to the present political condition. John O'Donnell, the chief character therein, is not the kind of man one would expect to see figure in

Unionist majority, so divided and har rassed by the sense of the irresistible doom coming hourly upon their leaders that they cannot conceal their depression and are made impotent by panic. And there was the other reason that the spectre of Ireland which was supposed to be laid, had risen finally, there was perhaps some sense of shame at the feeling that this man, who was calling for the right to be heard in the House of Commons, had been gagged in Ireland by systematic persecution worthy of Russia at her worst. He has spent eighteen moaths in jail during the last three or four years and has been dragged from platforms by the police before he opened his lips, and he was recently subjected o a sentence which is an example of deliberate ferocity, his last sentence of six months, October 14th, having The principal speaker was Mrs. Mary been so given by the magistrate that O'Donnell has to spend six weeks on plank bed and nine days on bread and water. All this suffering of the past and to come, was written in legible letters on the pale face and in the excited eyes of this ordinarily quiet gentleman. This, perhaps, was why the ministerialists sat cowed, helpless and abashed at the scene, one of the signs of some great coming change.

"It is impossible to foretell what it will be, but for a good reason Irish men hope it may take the shape of a startling, gigantic surrender. One of the most important portents is the eagerness of nine out of ten of the andlords to attend a conference with the Irish leaders. The movement is only kept from triumph by the fact that the leaders of the landlords are wealthy, with estates in England, and are, besides, politicians first and landlords afterwards. Every thinking man, whether landlord or tenant, believes that two or three years purchase and a small grant from the Imperial Exchequer are all that is now standing between Ireland and a final settlement of the land question, and the re-37 Telegraph to the Morning Star conquest of the land by the Celts from the English garrison. Among those > retary, Mr. Wyndham himself. He urged the landlords to consent to a conference, even travelling long distances to their homes in order to put personal pressure on them. He has already announced that there will be a bigger land bill next year, and I have heard he has said privately that coercion might be over in three weeks in case of certain events, whereby I understood he meant to end it if the landlords and tenants agree on a common basis of settlement. In the meantime pressure on the government is coming from various quarters. It is doubful if the gov rnment can carry theEducation bill without violent clos ure, which may lead to scenes inside the House by the English non conformists very like those caused by O'Donnell, so vehement is party passion: and outside it may produce outbursts in England, also on the Irish pattern. The attempt to force the Irish members into the ministerial lobby on the Education bill died on the first night of the session, when Mr. Balfour insulted Ireland by refusing to give who think that a gigantic surrender is inevitable at an early day is, I have reason to believe, the Irish Chief Sec-her a day to voice her wrongs. "To sum up, the Irish members feel that they have scored. Nobody has a good word to say for the maladroit an tics of Mr. Balfour. The government is threatened from many quarters and is divided, and is, I believe, doomed, while Ireland has once more rushed into the foremost place in the great drama of British politics."

WHAT THE AGE NEEDS.

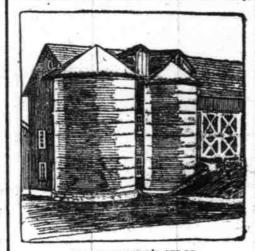

The law of supply and demand gets in its work on all the professions, as hundreds of nice young fellows who have been educated for the law, the ministry, teaching and medicine at an expense of $1,500 or $2,000 find out as soon as they graduate. They find that they have stuff to sell on an already glutted market and that only a few of them-really a very few-can make place, position and a good living. There is a great waste right here. The world is clamoring for men in a hundred departments of business, but not this sort. It is a practical and constructive age, and it is the men who can do things who are wantedwho can open mines, assay ore, build bridges and great buildings, buy, judge and handle stock, raise big crops at the smallest cost, economically utilize the labor of other men, handle complex machinery, originate new methods-rather than those who know of and have to do with the past as expounders of ancient theory or explorers in metaphys-ical mysteries. Call it a bread and butter age if you will, the fact re-mains that the essential spirit of modern progress deals almost wholly with the future and not the past. Leave the past with the monks, the ritualists and the dust of cathedral sepulchers and blaze out a new road, young man.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought

The Question of Found and Its Prepare ration For Quiry Cattle. Since dairying has become one of the principal agricultural pursuits, espe-cially in the east, the supply of fodder or the raising of forage claims almost the first consideration of the farmer, Says T. H. Mitchell of Cayuga county, N. Y., in American Agriculturist. We have tried on Oakland farm the various forage crops recommended and have come to the conclusion that they all too expensive on account of the necessary labor. We except rape for pigs and sheep and ensilage, which we have for some years past used practically the year around. Ensilage is just as valuable in the heat and drought of summer as in the winter's cold. If when you cut your new crop in the fall any is left in the silo, cut right on to the old. We are now feeding out of the smaller of our two silos shown in the illustration corn put in in 1900, and i is just as good as that put in last fall. When building the first silo, place it convenient for a second one. You may need it. The photo shows that ours are so placed, and it is not necessary to move from one to the other while filling. This is not only a saving of time, but allows one to get much more forage into a given space, as it has time to settle. I believe that every one is agreed that ensilage corn must have cultivation and light and not be planted too thick. But I believe that it is not settled that grain in the silo is of as much value as the same grain dried and fed as grain. My experience leads me to believe that by chemical action or by some unknown cause to me, at least, the corn put into the silo with the stalks is not of as much value as the same would be if dried, ground and fed as grain. This subject our experiment stations should investigate more

CONVENIER I SILOS.

We are so well convinced of this that this spring we shall plant and raise as good a crop of field corn as we can, striving especially to raise a large quantity of grain, remove the ears and cut the stalks into the silos. If it proves a failure, we will let the readers of this paper know why. But we don't intend that it shall prove wrong. On the contrary, we believe it a decid ed step in advance, the serious question being how to get the stalks into good ensilage if put in as dry as they must be if left long enough to mature the grain. Our idea is to have plenty of ensilage for winter feed, enough for summer and some left over. We will do away entirely with green forage crops, as they cost too much labor and do not produce enough per acre.

The Steady Milker. From testing the best milking cow are found out, and it is wonderful how, animals are discovered to be good milkers when a whole twelvemonth is taken, which yet have never yielded a very large quantity at one time, while, on the other hand, animals which have yielded an enormous quantity over a short time and have had great notice taken of them are really poor milkers when their total yield for twelve months is summed up. The cow that yields a moderate quantity over nine. ten or eleven months is the sort to have and breed from, and it is only by a record that this is found out. In addition to this, the quality of the milk must be taken into account, and it is desirable to test this from time to time also.

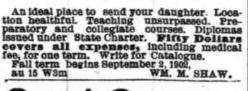

To cure a hard milker confine the cow so that you will be safe to insert the teat bistoury into the teat, then cut the small opening in four opposite directions. This will make a free opening and allow the milk to run on its own accord for a short time, but it will soon close, leaving an opening sufficient to allow the milk to come easy. In fact, milking in itself will keep it from closing too tightly. Above all things have your instruments clean, also the teat. Inflamed Udder.

When an udder becomes swollen and inflamed because of a bruise or other injury, poultice the swollen parts with hot linseed, well ground, twice daily. When it has gathered enough so you think it is ready to break, make a free incision, allowing all the pus to come out. Wash the parts twice daily with castile soap and warm water, and keep on with poultice until parts are reduced to their natural size. A full dose of physic is advisable.

Ringworm. The treatment for ringworm is to wash clean with soap and water and rub them once daily with a solution of chloronaphtholeum, according to directions on package.

Horns That Grow Backward. To prevent the horns of calves from growing backward scrape the front parts of the horns to a thin shell with a piece of glass, and ther will soon turn forward.
