half of the larger buildings of New York are now erected by half a dozen big construction companies, with a labor policy radically different from that of the other contractors. These companies came into being with the steel structures-stores, hotels and office buildings -of the last decade. Erecting only modern structures, which are equipped and fitted in styles of luxury and extravagance, their profits at first were large and they paid large wages in order to insure the completion of their work with out interference from strikes or other sources.

But, while these favorable conditions of labor were in process of realization and enjoyment, trouble sprang up between the several labor organizations themselves. According to the authority quoted a dispute between the Brotherhood of Carpenters and the Amalgamated Association of Carpenters tied up half the buildings in the city.

There were other disputes between unions, and finally the construction companies that were paying the highest wages, and were meeting with acquiescence every demand made upon them by their men, found that they were suffering just the same as were the other contractors and were no more able to make has attractions for him. The idea of progress than were the contractors the Presidential nomination does not who had refused the demands of their men.

Then all the building contractors joined in one organization and proposed a plan of arbitration. Up to the present the parties to the controversy have failed to come together, and so one hundred thousand men are idle and one hundred million dollars which would be spent in buildings remains unused. It is proposed that all the building trades form a single organization with central body to control it, so that ed the establishment, tore out the the contractors will not have to deal with so many different unions, and thus matters of difference can be reached and dealt with more readily.

But the entire stagnation of business caused by strikes, while producing great trouble, delay and even misery, and enormous losses in business operations and wages, is having the result of working out its own remedy. Hand labor will be eliminow, on steel skeletons. The exterior walls will be made of terra

General Fitzhugh Lee, of Virginia, was in Kansas City, Mo., a few days ago. Speaking of lynching, he said:

"I don't believe in lynching. No body believes in lynching. However, there is one of the objects attained by ynching that is seldom considered If a man, say a negro, shall assault woman, perhaps some very dear rela tive of yours, he has got to be killed or arrested. If this negro is arrested after his crime and is brought into the courtroom, the woman, the one who has suffered already, is the principal witness. She must appear, and perhaps, under the cross-eximination of lawyers, relate every detail of the assault, thus subjecting her to humiliation to an extreme degree.'

J. Martin Miller, the Washington correspondent of the Newark Evening News, called on Judge Alton B. Parker, at his home on the Hudson a few days ago. Miller says : "The distinguished jurist declared his intention of remaining on the bench and of enjoying his home and his family as he is to-day. The bench the twelve months ended June 30 was received in local financial circles today. It attracted much attention and appeal to him." We have no doubt but that he would accept the nomination if it were tendered him.
