Negro Soldiers.

Last night about half past twelve o'clock, a disturbance occurred on North Water street, between the police and some negro soldiers. Two shots were fired at the policemen without any damage having been done, although in the melee both felt the weight of a sabre bayonet, one of heir hands having been tot pretty badly. The eporter thought he FOKUmked while standing near the door of Bailey's hotel. An excited negro fired a gun at some one near the corner of Front and Princess street, whether at him or not he previous to her incarceration in the lock-up for could not say, but in order to be able to beat a hasty retreat he opened the hotel door and placed Fannie Clark and Lavinia Williams testified to her the thickness of the wall between him and the ALEXANDER IL STEPRINE DIOODIO The police at first engaged were Messrs. Coley and Andrews, the latter of whom has the severe wound. Mr. Andrews was surrounded at one time by six of the soldiers, while engaged in carrying one of their number to the lock up, which was nevertheless accomplished, and it was at this time that his pistol was a rested from him. After putting the man in prison, and while reurning for assistance to arrest the others, they were fired on when near the City Hotel, by one of the gang, but fortunately without injuring either. The report of the gun called together quite a number of the police, and they immediately started in search of the rascals, but they had escaped. Some half dozen made their appearance while on the search upon some trifling pretext, but they were not disturbed, although the object was perfectly apparent.
