Augusta, Ga., Nov. 10, 1865. [Correspondence of New York Daily News.] The "Protestant Episcopal" Church of the late "Confederate States" assembled in Augusta, Georgia, on the 8th inst. Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi, were represented by clerical and lay delegates. The bishops were all present, except Bishop Davis of W. & W. R. R. wharf. ### Confederate Colony in Mexico. [From the St. Louis Republican.]

We learn from a gentleman who lived formerly in Lexington, in this state, something of the prospects of the Confederate colony which is being established in Mexico. The one-to which he belongs, and to which he will return, as soon as he can dispose of certain property in this State, lies near Conlova, a town on the road between Vera Cruz and the City of Mexico, and about a hundred miles from the former place. It consists of about a dozen large haciendas of apparently good land, capable of producing cotton, coffee, cocoa and tobacco. A correspondent of the Boston Post speaks of the sugar prospects in Louisiana says: The cane has continued to improve rapidly under the rains and favorable temperature of the fall. The present growing crop is truly splendid, and though cotton promised best early in the season, the sugar planters are now regretting that they did not attend better to their own proper culture. In the meantime, the planters are vigorously preparing for the grinding, which usually begins with us in the early days of November, but, for the reason above given, and others, it will not begin this year until later.

Flax culture in Canada, according to a state-ment from the government emigration agent at Toronto, is a new branch of industry that promiises largely. He remarks:

"It may now be safely said the flax project is a perfect success, although the number of acres The Democrat this morning announces the first did not reach the amount expected this year, case of cholera in this city, John Barnidge, a well known citizen, about fifty years old, having died of it night before last.
