THE DISTINCTION DRAWN.

At the present day, it is the usage of patent medicine Proprietors to offer their articles with a recommendation, that they are a sure cure for all or the most of the malady to which the human race is subject. The result is, that the public generally has been most egregiously misled by them. It is quackery of the deepest dye, to offer medicine in this manner, and to claim that they are a sure cure for all or the most of the malady to which the human race is subject.

The public generally has been most egregiously misled by them. It is quackery of the deepest dye, to offer medicine in this manner, and to claim that they are a sure cure for all or the most of the malady to which the human race is subject.
