Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Headache, Loss of Appetite, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Bilious and Watery Stools. In all Nervous, Rheumatic, and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.
This is a perfectly vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, under the sanction of the celebrated Royal Professor Boerhave. Because of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our country and western here and there over the face of this favored country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be recognized.
It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of intoxication. Generally instantaneous effect. It finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, relieving the torpid spirit, and, in fact, creating new health and vigor in the system.
SOLD EVERYWHERE. Whomever wishes to feel that a beverage will be disapproved, let it be the rich, sweet, and low spirited, it is the most beneficial tonic, possessed of singular remedial properties.

Fire Insurance.
WE refer our readers to the annual statement of the Etina Insurance Company, of Hartford, which will be found in another column. This successful institution was incorporated by the Legislature of Connecticut in 1819, with a perpetual charter. Its capital is $600,000, and its accumulations exceed $800,000 more, making its entire assets over $1,500,000. Invested in such a manner as to insure the most profitable results. These results indicate that during the period of nearly forty years since its organization, (without a single change of its chief officer,) its business has been conducted with judgment and prudence. It has been thus far successful in an eminent degree, inasmuch as we are informed, all its obligations by the payment of about ten million dollars for losses, without asking a day's delay in any instance. It has had but little litigation, notwithstanding the immense number of transactions made. In order to attain as much certainty as possible in such a branch of insurance, it has been the practice of the Company, for several years, at the great labor, carefully to classify and arrange their risks into about fifty distinct classes, so as to ascertain the amount insured on each class, the amount of premiums received thereon, and the amount of losses upon each. This classification, extending over a long period, and covering property to a very large amount, furnishes reliable data, and presents a sound, substantial basis of actual experience, upon which to conduct its business. Insurance is not a matter of luck or chance, as many suppose; it is a business, and its principles are capable of being reduced to a system, the practical working and results of which are as certain as that of any other business. The Etina Company, by adhering rigidly to its system, and placing its business upon a healthy basis, has obtained all the confidence of the community to an extent surpassed by no other Company in the U. S. States, and has increased its business and its income from year to year with a steady growth. One great source of its security is the wide distribution of its risks—a policy which purveys with great satisfaction—limiting the amount to be covered in each locality. By this course it has passed, with comparative impunity, through some of the most sweeping and destructive fires, which have swallowed up other companies. It is cautious in their business, is a system, based upon a long experience, which gives stability and soundness to a company, and to the assured confidence and security.—Baltimore Patriot.
