The Annual Address will be delivered at the Fair Grounds, this morning, by D. K. MacRae, Esq.
DIVIDENDS.—It will be seen by advertisement in this paper, that the Bank of Wadesborough has declared a dividend of 5 per cent. of profits of the last six months.
We do not know whether this is a precedent of paying dividends whilst under suspension, for we have not heard that the Bank of Wadesborough has suspended.
The N. Y. Journal of Commerce of Saturday last has a few remarks on the subject. It says,—"Much interest has been felt in the question as to the proper course of the banks of this city in regard to their next semi-annual dividend. Some have been averse to any division of profits while specie payments were suspended; others have contended that inasmuch as many of the stockholders rely on their dividends as their chief income, it would be unjust not to pay them as usual, provided the condition of the banks would warrant it. So far as the November dividends are concerned there has been as yet no concert of action. A few of the banks which divide the year on the 1st, have voted to pass the dividend, and others have referred it to a committee for consideration and report. The American Exchange Bank, after a searching examination of its affairs, showed its ability to pay its usual rate, and still leave a large surplus, but in view of the suspension of specie payments and the unsettled condition of commercial affairs generally, the directors have to-day voted to divide, the first of November, only 3 per cent. upon the whole capital stock, leaving the remainder in addition to their ordinary surplus as an ample reserve for all future contingencies."
We learn that the Bank of Cape Fear, whose dividend days are the 1st May and 1st November, had not decided the question up to this week, for want of a full Board of Directors. It was probably determined at the meeting of the Board yesterday.
SECRETARY OF STATE.—The Council of State will meet at Raleigh on Tuesday next to appoint a successor to the late Wm. Hill, Esq.

BANKS.—Some weeks ago, almost long enough to be forgotten, we copied a paragraph apparently breathing death and destruction to the banks, from the Warrenton News, a Loocofoco paper; and we asked whether such was to be democratic policy in the future.
After several weeks the News replies, that it "does not wish to see the banks obliterated," but "only 'to see them better regulated.'" Well, and why then are they not better regulated? We have shown that they were nearly all created by the News's party, and their defects are therefore the faults of the News's party.
But what better regulations does the News want? As usual in all such demagogical assaults upon the banks, the News fails to state them, but generalizes its propositions as follows:—"A hard money currency is a Democratic doctrine, which we wish to see reduced to practice as far, and as soon, as is consistent with the public welfare. Therefore we wish a sub-treasury act for the several States, as well as the federal government, and by taking the public money from the Banks, prevent it being a basis for the issuing of delusive promises to pay. There are many other reforms wanting, which it is unnecessary to mention at present. We have been thus particular in giving our private opinion as an independent Democrat, in order to prevent our shrewd contemporaries from imputing to a party the heresy (if heresy it be) of an individual."
If a hard money currency is a democratic doctrine, why should there be any limit to it? Why don't the democracy reduce it to practice, to its fullest extent? They have the power, and yet dare not exercise it. We defy them to the enforcement of this democratic doctrine. Let them attempt it, and the people will speedily "reduce" them. Let them venture, if they dare, to require the State taxes to be paid by the people in specie, by "a Sub-Treasury act" for this State, and that sort of democracy will forthwith be numbered among "the things that were."
But a sub-treasury act would not be a regulation of the banks. In truth there is no necessity for such an act now, so far as the banks are concerned, for if the Treasurer pleased, he need not now deposit one dollar of State's revenues in any bank. And it is well known that the Bank of the State would have refused, this very summer, to receive those deposits, if its charter had not imperatively required it so to receive them. The deposits are not desirable to the bank, but it is very convenient and profitable to the State to make them.—"Take the public money from the banks," as the News suggests, and the banks will be very much obliged just now.
But this proposed sub-treasury being merely a regulation of the State's finances, and not a "better regulation" of the banks, which the News professes to desire, that paper contents itself with the usual resort of ignorant pretenders, with the general remark that "there are many other reforms wanting, which it is unnecessary to mention at present." Unnecessary to mention? Why it is the very thing that is necessary. If the News knows of any thing that will improve the banking system, it owes it to the public, to its party, and to itself, to bring it forward. And until it does bring it forward, the public will be apt to adopt our conclusion, that it is merely pretence,—the demagogue's usual resort. When the News finds the convenient season for mentioning its "many other reforms," the public will doubtless be prepared to hear, and possibly to laugh at the crudities of ignorance.
In addition to the above in reference to the banks, the News has a great deal to say about the Observer. The following is a rich specimen:—"The Observer occupies a solitary position; it is impalpable, a voice without a body, a partizan without a party. It lives upon the recollection of the past, and has nothing in common with the present, save a bitter dislike to every measure proposed by the democracy. We sometimes think the Observer is the mere echo of a party without principles, while again we think it is the ghostly representative of principles without a party; but on one point we are certain—it is the unwavering friend of banks. No turkey-cock ever gets more enraged at the sight of a red garment, than the Observer does, at a disparaging remark upon the immauculate banks. All its sympathies are with the corporations, it has none other for its victims. We were more surprised than edified at some of its late gratuitous advice to the people. It calls upon them to "pay up," but not a word to the Banks to pay out. It advises mechanics and farmers to sell at any sacrifice and pay their indebtedness, but it did not advise the Banks to follow the same course. Specie can be bought in the streets of New York at 1/2 per cent, yet the Banks suspend for want of specie. It would be too much to ask them to sacrifice fifty cents in the hundred dollars, to meet their dishonored paper. Yet it is not too much for the Observer to expect the working classes to sacrifice the products of their toil, to relieve a pressure brought on by financial rascality. The Observer is true to its hereditary instincts, ever siding with the rich few, against the many poor. It would not be Whiggish, if it did not support monopolies."
The Observer is quite satisfied with its position, and we hope its readers, (who probably number four times as many as those of the News,) are also satisfied with it. But how it can be "without a party," and at the same time "the echo of a party without principles," is what we cannot exactly see. As to all the remainder of the above rignarole, there is not an assertion in it that is true, so far as we are concerned. We do not bitterly dislike every measure proposed by the democracy, though in truth they do not propose many that we like. We are not the unwavering friend of banks, if the News means thereby, as it evidently does, that we are the defender of any ill conduct of banks. All our sympathies are not with the corporations. We did call upon the banks, repeatedly, to pay out, and not to suspend. We did not advise farmers and mechanics to sell "at any sacrifice," to pay their indebtedness. The Observer is not ever siding with the rich few, against the many poor. All these and more, are most unblushing misstatements of the course and feelings of the Observer, made by a paper which has heretofore made mis-statements in matters of fact, and then failed either to retract or to attempt to sustain them.
There is one remark in the above extract from the News, which shows its capacity to set up for a reformer of bank operations. It is this:—"Specie can be bought in the streets of New York at 1/2 per cent, yet the banks suspended for want of specie. It would be too much to ask them to sacrifice fifty cents in the hundred dollars, to meet their dishonored paper."

We suppose the News would have the banks of North Carolina send to New York, buy this specie at 1/2 per cent., and bring it out here to meet their dishonored notes. What will the News be kind enough to tell us what they shall send to New York to purchase the specie with? The banks have not exchange to send, nor have they produce. We don't see what else they can send, that the sellers of the specie will take in New York, unless it be specie itself. Our North Carolina banks have in the aggregate perhaps two or three millions of specie, but we don't see that much good would come of sending that to buy its like; and we don't see what else the banks have to send. Will the News kindly inform them?
Of a piece with this, is the complaint of the News, in another part of its article, that the banks "accept or refuse charters as best suits their interests." Was ever such impudence heard of? What right has a man to refuse to invest his money in a bank chartered by a Loocofoco Legislature? If he refuses a charter because he can use his money to more advantage, the only remedy that we can see will be for the Legislature to confiscate his money.
SHERIFF OF RICHMOND COUNTY.—We learn that William Buchanan, Esq., resigned his office of Sheriff at the late Term of the County Court, and that Wm. W. Graham, Esq. was appointed by the Court to fill the vacancy. The term will expire in Oct. 1858.
THE BALTIMORE TROUBLES.—The election in Maryland took place yesterday, and we have as yet no accounts of its results. We suppose however that the rioting and bloodshed were no greater than usual, as the Governor withdrew his martial law proclamation on Sunday last, finding that nearly all the militia declined to serve. Out of 30 companies, not more than 200 men consented to serve, and most of the large number of citizens served with notice of enrolment declared their intention to disregard the orders.
TENNESSEE BANKING.—A Bill is pending before the Tennessee Legislature, providing that no bank shall issue notes payable at any place except that of issue; that no bank shall have office or branch or agency for discount; that all notes of $5 and under shall be withdrawn from circulation by January 1, 1859; all of $10 and under by Jan'y 1, 1860; all of $20 and under by Jan'y 1, 1861; no notes of similar amounts to be hereafter issued; such notes of other States prohibited.
We suppose the Tennessee Democracy intend to confine the benefits of banking exclusively to the rich, who only will handle the notes of larger denomination than $20.
PROSPERING.—During the last nine months England has received about $110,000,000 in specie—balances of accounts due her by other nations. $31,000,000 of this amount was received from the United States.
NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.—Monday's Journal of Commerce says that "the market is increasingly buoyant, and money is more easily obtained upon prime securities. The banks are quite ready to discount short prime paper, and some would considerably extend their accommodations if the right sort of security were offering."
"Foreign Exchange is firmer, and as the offering is somewhat diminished, it would be difficult to buy selections at the average rates of last steamer. We do not look, however, for any long continuation of high rates, as a large supply of cotton bills would be made if the state of the market would warrant their sale. There may be reshipments of specie to Europe, as many have orders to remit only in gold, until their lines of bills have been reduced, and others may ship specie from motives of policy; but we do not believe that bills will reach a price at which specie can be sent out for a profit, not even taking into account the advance in interest in London."
"The Stock market continues unsettled and somewhat irregular. State stocks are generally firmer, while railroad securities, with a few exceptions, are lower."
"The foreign imports entered at the port of New York for the week are $360,000 in excess of the total for the corresponding period of last year, but show a falling off as compared with the total for the same time in 1855 of $644,578."
RECEIPTS OF COTTON.—The total receipts since the commencement of the season are 247,757 bales. Last year 441,967 bales. Decrease 194,210 bales.
MONEY AND BREAKFASTS.—The Raleigh Standard says that "a distinguished gentleman of this State recently passed through Petersburg and took breakfast at one of the hotels, and offered in payment a N. C. bill. He was asked if he had nothing better, and made the excellent reply that the money was better than the breakfast."
POST OFFICES.—At the commencement of President Pierce's Administration in 1853, there were 22,300 Post Offices. There are now about 26,000, and the average net increase is one hundred per month.
The Bounty Land Business.—The condition of the bounty-land business under the acts of 1847, 1850, 1852, and 1855 is full of general interest. Under the act of 1847 there were issued to the 30th ultimo, 87,715 warrants, covering 13,130,320 acres, of which 79,999 acres were located. Under the act of 1850 188,994 warrants were issued, covering 13,155,360 acres, of which 164,326 acres were located. Under the act of 1852 11,979 warrants were issued, covering 693,520 acres, of which 9,619 acres were located. Under the act of 1855 214,394 warrants were issued, covering 26,710,670 acres, of which 117,685 acres were located. This gives a total issue up to the 30th ultimo, under all the acts, of 503,082 warrants, covering 53,689,870 acres.—Nat. Int.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.
An Immense Amount of Specie Coming.—The "Quaker City" from Havana, with dates to the 29th October, has arrived. The Star of the West had reached Havana, and expected to leave that port on the thirtieth for New York. She has $1,600,000 in gold, besides a half million for England.
It is said to be the intention of the Mormons to remove to the Russian Possessions, should matters assume a serious aspect.
The Mormons in Carson Valley expected to leave for Utah about the last of October. They were forming a cavalry company under orders from Brigham Young.
DIED.

NEURALGIA.
A gentleman living in Philadelphia says,—"In passing through Pittsburgh, some months since, I purchased a bottle of Barkley's Holland Bitters. It relieved me so much, that on returning home I bought two more bottles from Dr. Dyott, which completely cured me of Neuralgia. I have recommended the article to many of my friends, and four or five of the number say it cured them. I think that my recommendation has done more for its sale in Philadelphia than you advertising."
(We are not permitted to publish the name, but any person calling at the store, or communicating with us by letter, will be convinced of the truth of this statement.)

The Annual Address will be delivered at the Fair Grounds, this morning, by D. K. MacRae, Esq.
DIVIDENDS.—It will be seen by advertisement in this paper, that the Bank of Wadesborough has declared a dividend of 5 per cent. of profits of the last six months.
We do not know whether this is a precedent of paying dividends whilst under suspension, for we have not heard that the Bank of Wadesborough has suspended.
The N. Y. Journal of Commerce of Saturday last has a few remarks on the subject. It says,—"Much interest has been felt in the question as to the proper course of the banks of this city in regard to their next semi-annual dividend. Some have been averse to any division of profits while specie payments were suspended; others have contended that inasmuch as many of the stockholders rely on their dividends as their chief income, it would be unjust not to pay them as usual, provided the condition of the banks would warrant it. So far as the November dividends are concerned there has been as yet no concert of action. A few of the banks which divide the year on the 1st, have voted to pass the dividend, and others have referred it to a committee for consideration and report. The American Exchange Bank, after a searching examination of its affairs, showed its ability to pay its usual rate, and still leave a large surplus, but in view of the suspension of specie payments and the unsettled condition of commercial affairs generally, the directors have to-day voted to divide, the first of November, only 3 per cent. upon the whole capital stock, leaving the remainder in addition to their ordinary surplus as an ample reserve for all future contingencies."
We learn that the Bank of Cape Fear, whose dividend days are the 1st May and 1st November, had not decided the question up to this week, for want of a full Board of Directors. It was probably determined at the meeting of the Board yesterday.
SECRETARY OF STATE.—The Council of State will meet at Raleigh on Tuesday next to appoint a successor to the late Wm. Hill, Esq.

York at 1/2 per cent, yet the banks suspended for want of specie. It would be too much to ask them to sacrifice fifty cents in the hundred dollars, to meet their dishonored paper."
We suppose the News would have the banks of North Carolina send to New York, buy this specie at 1/2 per cent., and bring it out here to meet their dishonored notes. What will the News be kind enough to tell us what they shall send to New York to purchase the specie with? The banks have not exchange to send, nor have they produce. We don't see what else they can send, that the sellers of the specie will take in New York, unless it be specie itself. Our North Carolina banks have in the aggregate perhaps two or three millions of specie, but we don't see that much good would come of sending that to buy its like; and we don't see what else the banks have to send. Will the News kindly inform them?
Of a piece with this, is the complaint of the News, in another part of its article, that the banks "accept or refuse charters as best suits their interests." Was ever such impudence heard of? What right has a man to refuse to invest his money in a bank chartered by a Loocofoco Legislature? If he refuses a charter because he can use his money to more advantage, the only remedy that we can see will be for the Legislature to confiscate his money.
SHERIFF OF RICHMOND COUNTY.—We learn that William Buchanan, Esq., resigned his office of Sheriff at the late Term of the County Court, and that Wm. W. Graham, Esq. was appointed by the Court to fill the vacancy. The term will expire in Oct. 1858.
THE BALTIMORE TROUBLES.—The election in Maryland took place yesterday, and we have as yet no accounts of its results. We suppose however that the rioting and bloodshed were no greater than usual, as the Governor withdrew his martial law proclamation on Sunday last, finding that nearly all the militia declined to serve. Out of 30 companies, not more than 200 men consented to serve, and most of the large number of citizens served with notice of enrolment declared their intention to disregard the orders.
TENNESSEE BANKING.—A Bill is pending before the Tennessee Legislature, providing that no bank shall issue notes payable at any place except that of issue; that no bank shall have office or branch or agency for discount; that all notes of $5 and under shall be withdrawn from circulation by January 1, 1859; all of $10 and under by Jan'y 1, 1860; all of $20 and under by Jan'y 1, 1861; no notes of similar amounts to be hereafter issued; such notes of other States prohibited.
We suppose the Tennessee Democracy intend to confine the benefits of banking exclusively to the rich, who only will handle the notes of larger denomination than $20.
PROSPERING.—During the last nine months England has received about $110,000,000 in specie—balances of accounts due her by other nations. $31,000,000 of this amount was received from the United States.
NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.—Monday's Journal of Commerce says that "the market is increasingly buoyant, and money is more easily obtained upon prime securities. The banks are quite ready to discount short prime paper, and some would considerably extend their accommodations if the right sort of security were offering."
"Foreign Exchange is firmer, and as the offering is somewhat diminished, it would be difficult to buy selections at the average rates of last steamer. We do not look, however, for any long continuation of high rates, as a large supply of cotton bills would be made if the state of the market would warrant their sale. There may be reshipments of specie to Europe, as many have orders to remit only in gold, until their lines of bills have been reduced, and others may ship specie from motives of policy; but we do not believe that bills will reach a price at which specie can be sent out for a profit, not even taking into account the advance in interest in London."
"The Stock market continues unsettled and somewhat irregular. State stocks are generally firmer, while railroad securities, with a few exceptions, are lower."
"The foreign imports entered at the port of New York for the week are $360,000 in excess of the total for the corresponding period of last year, but show a falling off as compared with the total for the same time in 1855 of $644,578."
RECEIPTS OF COTTON.—The total receipts since the commencement of the season are 247,757 bales. Last year 441,967 bales. Decrease 194,210 bales.
MONEY AND BREAKFASTS.—The Raleigh Standard says that "a distinguished gentleman of this State recently passed through Petersburg and took breakfast at one of the hotels, and offered in payment a N. C. bill. He was asked if he had nothing better, and made the excellent reply that the money was better than the breakfast."
POST OFFICES.—At the commencement of President Pierce's Administration in 1853, there were 22,300 Post Offices. There are now about 26,000, and the average net increase is one hundred per month.
The Bounty Land Business.—The condition of the bounty-land business under the acts of 1847, 1850, 1852, and 1855 is full of general interest. Under the act of 1847 there were issued to the 30th ultimo, 87,715 warrants, covering 13,130,320 acres, of which 79,999 acres were located. Under the act of 1850 188,994 warrants were issued, covering 13,155,360 acres, of which 164,326 acres were located. Under the act of 1852 11,979 warrants were issued, covering 693,520 acres, of which 9,619 acres were located
