These results indicate that during the period of nearly y years since its organization, (without a single change of its chief officer,) its business has been con d with judgment and prudence. It has been thus far successful in an eminent degree, discharging, as we are informed, all its obligations by the payment about ten million dollars for losses, without asking a lay's delay in any instance. It has had but little litgation, notwithstanding the immense number of transactions made. In order to attain as much certainty as ssible in such a business as insurance, it has been their bills when presented. the practice of the Company, for several years, at great labor, carefully to classify and arrange their sks into about fifty distinct classes, so as to ascertain the amount insured on each class, the amount of premiums received thereon, and the amount of losses up-on each. This classification, extending over a long period, and covering property to a very large amount, fur nishes reliable data, and presents a sound, substantial basis of actual experience, upon which to conduct its business. Insurance is not a matter of luck or chance, as many suppose; its hazards are ascertainable, and its principles capable of being reduced to a system, the practical working and results of which are as certain that of any other business.
