Phenomenon at Sea.-Capt. Robert A. S. Pittman, of the ship Jas. Guthrie, has sent the following interesting extract giving the particulars of an immense water-spout which he saw on his outward passage. His journal says: "September 1, 1859, lat. 40 31, long. 59 34 W., at 2 P. M., took strong breeze from the southeast, which put us under double-recfed top sails, with the mercurial column at 30.1; at 5 P. M. it ran down to 26.5; the wind increasing, close reefed, and furled all light sails and courses. Observed in the southwest a dark, cumbrous looking cloud, which approached the ship with amazing rapidity, while the wind continued to increase, veering to the opposite quarter. When the cloud was within about three miles of the ship the wind suddenly fell to a dead calm, and the phenomenon presented a terrific appearance. The cloud now assumed the form of an inverted cone, and gradually descended towards the sea, which also formed itself into a lofty peak, until the two points met, completing a water-spout of gigantic dimensions. Around the mountain of water a whirlwind immediately commenced, tearing and scattering the sea in every direction, detaching and carrying in its course large masses of clouds. The appearance was like a vast horizontal wheel, turning around this mountain of water, with the spout for its centre, with an amazing velocity; and, as the sky near the horizon was perfectly clear, the revolutions of this wonderful wind and water wheel were distinctly visible, making its revolutions complete in twenty-six seconds, and with a regularity and precision that were truly astonishing. This continued for about twenty minutes, during which time the connexion of the clouds with the sea was several times broken off, without reducing the altitude of the sea mountain, but immediately became reunited, until finally it terminated with a splash, agitating the ship and passing over her, ending in torrents of rain. Very soon the sky became beautifully clear, the wind set in fresh from the southwest, and all nature, as well as myself, seemed rejoiced at the destruction of so formidable a machine.'

A Western Yarn .- A hoosier, an awful ugly man, relating his travel in Missouri, said that he arrived at Chickenville in the afternoon, and just a few days afore, a boat had busted, and a heap of people scalded and killed, one way and another. "So at last, as I went into a grocery a squad of people followed me in, and one 'lowed, sez he, "It's one of the unfortunate sufferers by the bustin' of the Franklin;" and upon that he axed me to drink with him, and as I had my tumbler half ways up to my mouth, he stopped me of a sudden. "I beg your pardon stranger; but," sez he.

"Just fix your mouth that way again?" sez he.

"I done it, just like I was gwine to drink, and

I'll be hanged if I did'nt think the whole on 'em'd go into fits! they yelled and whooped like a gang of wolves. Finally one of 'em sez, "Don't make fun of the unfortunate; he's hardly got over bein' blowed up yet. Let's make a puss for him.' Then they all throwed in and made up five dollars.

"But what?" sez I.

As the spokesman handed me the change, he axed "Whar did you find yourself after the explosion?" "In a flatboat," sez I. "How far from the Franklin?" sez he.

nigh on to three hundred and seventy-five miles!" You oughter see that gang scatter.

Elopement Extraordinary-A Father Outwitted by his Son .- The Wheeling Intelligencer is responsible for the following: We noticed a few mornings ago, the elopement of a young couple from Barnesville, Ohio, who came here from the Metcalf House, and went to West Alexander in a hurry, and got married. It seems that the father of the young man, who lives near Barnesville, had been courting his present daughter-in-law for some time, and recently engaged himself to her. Having great confidence in the judgment of his son, he concluded to send him down in the country where the young lady resided, to take a look at her before the solemnization of the marriage contract. The son went down, and returning, announced himself as highly pleased with the young woman, but counseled a short delay. He wanted time to learn more of his "mother-in-law," and continued to visit her, apparently for that purpose. The old man's surprise, when he found that his son had eloped with the girl, and victimized his (the son's) confiding parent may be imagined. The last will of a queer old miser who has just died is much talked of at Vienna. He cut off all his nearest relatives, and made a very distant one, an extremely handsome young girl, sole heiress of his considerable property. So far there is nothing extraordinary; but there is a condition added to it. The testator was a hunchback, and had a club foot, which defects probably had obstructed many attempts of his to marry. He has made it, therefore, a condition sine qua non, that TONS No. 1 PERUVIAN GUANO, just received and for sale by JOS. UTLEY. Fayetteville, Jan'y 30, 1860.
