The Largest Carriage Factory in the South!

A. A. MCKETHAN
RESPECTFULLY informs his friends and the public that he has built up large substantial Brick Buildings at his Old Stand, expressly for manufacturing Carriages. Thankful for the very liberal patronage he has received for the last 21 years, he hopes by strict attention to business, with a desire to give satisfaction, to merit a continuance of the same. He warrants his work to be made of the best material and by experienced workmen in each branch of the business. His work will compare favorably with any made in the United States, for neatness and durability. He is determined to sell and do any work in his line on as good terms as any work done elsewhere that is as well done. He now has on hand, finished, THE LARGEST STOCK OF Carriages, Barouches, Rockwags and Buggies, ever offered in this place, and a very large stock of work nearly finished, which will be finished daily. All of which will be sold very low for cash, or on short time to punctual customers. He has on hand more than ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY VEHICLES finished and in course of construction.
His work made by him is warranted 12 months with fair usage, and should it fail by bad workmanship or material, will be repaired free of charge.
Persons wishing to buy would do well to call and examine for themselves.
Orders promptly received and promptly attended to. Repairing executed at short notice and on very reasonable terms.
May 28, 1859. 89-1f

J. W. BAKER

JAPANESE IMPRESSIONS OF AMERICANS.
Some one has contributed to the New York Times some very good things as "intercepted letters" from the Japanese Embassy to friends at home. We extract:

JAPAN AND THE UNITED STATES.
It were not well, oh son of Frum, to institute a comparison between the institutions of this country and those of Nippon, for the reason that this country is yet young. Civilization, as thou canst well divine, is not attained in a day. The march of refinement is like that of the sun. When the night of Barbarism beginneth first to break, we see a faint glow upon the hill-tops; gradually the light increaseth until the earth is bathed in a glory, and we say, Behold! it is day. Thus, the sun is now high above Nippon, but with this people it is yet dawn. It is not probable that in another century the young men of this country will spit in the presence of a Prince, or seize upon the folds of his taishi with unwashed hands. Nor is it probable that the maidens will wear garments which trail upon the ground in luxuriant length, and yet expose bosoms like full-orbed moons to the gaze of Ambassadors who come from a strange land. They will cut the superfluous silk from the bottom of their dresses and place it upon the neck, where it cannot be trod upon. Nor will it be necessary, when the light of civilization is perfect, that they incline themselves to those curiously wrought cages of steel, without which, in this country, no woman has assurance of safety.

CANDIDATES—POPULAR VOTE.
But the Government of this country, oh son of Frum, is that which has most filled the soul of thy country with wonder. The people choose a Tyeoon from among themselves once in four years. In making choice they do not say: Has this man wisdom? Have the Planets rained their treasures upon him? But they say: Can he run? Thus one party has chosen a man whose legs are longer than the mandates of the Mikado; for they say: Behold! he can run like the bird of the desert. And they say of him, He is used to the splitting of rails. In the wonder of my soul I said to Gen. Scott-Kami, is rail-splitting one of the qualifications of thy Tyeoons? And he made answer that this people designed to tence their country in, and that Hon-et-Abe will do it! Oh son of Frum, lord of the moon and kisser of the stars, over the province which Nieu Rai has given to thy charge thou reignest well, and yet none of thy fervent admirers assert that thou excellest in rail-splitting!

Namoo Anashi. Another party desire to have a Tyeoon whom they call Dug-a-lust; but the people say he cannot run well; which must be true, as his legs are exceedingly short and his stomach is round. Another party says that for Tyeoon they wish a great scribe whose name is Er-et-at-it. He delineates the sentiments of his soul upon a paper called the Lejger, and he signs himself Bon-ner. It was this great scribe who wrote that book called The Gun-maker-of-Moscow, which, as thou wilt remember, is translated into the language of Nippon, and which the Grand Lama reads with joy. Should Er-et-at-it be made Tyeoon, his friend, whose surname is Cob, will sit at his right hand, and their united wisdom will be published to the land in the Lejger. Truly, oh son of Frum, this is a singular people.

They have here what they call the "popular vote." We have nothing like it in Nippon. This "vote" is a thing which as yet the soul of Moorageke does not understand. Many people get rich by it, and ships bring barbarians from a distant island called Ireland, to do nothing else. The man that gets the most "votes" is generally made Tyeoon, but he is an unhappy coo, for this singular people do not honor their rulers.

THE LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.
The laws are made by mandarins, whom they call Con-gress-men. But the Con-gress-man is of very low caste: there is only one lower, and that is said to be the Con-moon-Coun-cil-man of New York. (We have met the former, but not the latter, and our souls tremble to think this affliction must come upon us.) It is a sad disgrace to be mistaken for a Con-gress-man. There is none greater, unless it be to be called an Alms-house-Gov-er-nor. Gen. Scott-Kami related me a story of a man of distinction, entitled to wear a red flannel shirt, and write horse-car after his name, (which is a great honor) who, happening to stand near the Con-ate-house, was pointed out by an ignorant Irish-man—whom my Daizo confound—as being a great Con-gress-man; thereupon the good Frum-knew that nothing in life could wipe the stain from his soul, and putting his trumpet to his mouth he committed Harri Karri by blowing out his bowels. His wife said he had done well; mothers called their children after him, and his name is now honored in the land. It is good to be virtuous.

PIETOUS QUARRELSOME—AGREE ON ONE POINT.
There is great strife among this people, and in only one thing do they agree; this is in despising their present Tyeoon, whose name is Buch-an-an; and when a man plucks him by the beard all mouths are loud in his praise. The Dem-o-crats and another body of Christian called Re-pu-b-lic-ans, wage bitter war with each other. The Dem-o-crats come from that land of which thou hast read in that book of which mention has been made—Gun-maker-of-Moscow—it is called Ireland—and the people are brought to this country chiefly to assist in the building of rail-roads, and to "vote." This latter duty they do well. The native shores of the Re-pu-b-lic-ans are not certainly known, but it is the opinion of an illustrious person, whose name is Ben-nett that they came from a "happy land" called U-tah, which is only inhabited by Re-pu-b-lic-ans and Go-ril-las. The Dem-o-crats are that kind of people of whom I have made mention in a former letter, who bring the beautiful Nig-ger from Ethio-pia, and teach him the art of cultivating cotton, which is so honorable an employment that those engaged in it are allowed to carry a "hoe" upon their shoulders, and sometimes two shovels. While the nig-gers are thus allowed to distinguish themselves, the natives of that part of the Kingdom known as "Down-South" are obliged to show themselves by sitting ignobly upon the seat of their taishi, thus doing silent homage to the cotton-pickers. The Re-pu-b-lic-ans wish to abolish this present system, for which they are sometimes called Ab-o-l-i-t-i-o-n-i-sts; but the Dem-o-crats will not bow, and threaten to go back to Ireland, in which event there will be no one left in the country to "vote," to act as Con-gress-men or Com-mon-Coun-cil-men, which would be a great pity. Gen. Scott-Kami says it is only a little difference as to the comparative merits of wool and
