The Largest Carriage Factory in the South!

A. A. MCKETHAN DESPECTFULLY informs his friends and the public that he has built up large substantial Brick Build-ings at his Old Stand, expressly for manufacturing Car-riages. Thankful for the very liberal patronage he has received for the last 21 years, he hopes by strict attention to business, with a desire to give satisfaction, to merit a continuance of the same. He warrants his work to be made of the best material and by experienced workmen in each branch of the business. His work will compare favorably with any made in the United States for neatness and durability. He is determined to sell and do any work in his line on as good terms as any work done elsewhere that is as well done. He now has on hand, finished, THE LARGEST STOCK OF Carriages, Barouches, Rockaways and

Buggies, ever offered in this place, and a very large stock of work nearly finished, which will be finished daily. All of which will be sold very low for cash, or on short time to punctual customers. He has on hand more than ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY VEHICLES finished

THE LAST CHARGE OF NAPOLEON'S OLD GUARD Napoleon's "Old Guard" gained by their many des perate instances of bravery an immortality in his tory, but their grand crowning act was their desperate charge at Waterloo, which has few paralels in ancient or modern warfare. They fought for their adored Emperor, and to retrieve the evil fortunes of the day, they fell, as though to do so would secure them immortal glory and eternal bliss in the world of spirits. The most graphic and stirring account of that last fearful and fatal struggle, that we have seen, is from a recently published French work. It reads like war itself

[NO. 934.]

-this is it:-During the day the artillery of the Guard, under Drouet, mantained its old renown, and the Guard itself had frequently been used to restore DR. R. SCOTT would request all those desiring his professional services this Summer to call soon, as he will be absent from Fayetteville from AUGUST 2 exhausted, and in an hour mere would doubtless have been forced into a disastrous defeat, but for the timely arrival of Blucher. But when they Notice to Cotton & Turpentine Farmers, oaw him, with 30,000 Prussians' approaching, their courage revived, while Napoleon was filled with amazement. A beaten enemy was about to who had been sent to keep them in check, was nowhere to be seen. Alas! what great plans a single inefficient commander can overthrow.

In a moment Napoleon saw that he could not TAIL who have negroes for sale, would do well to give allowed to form a junction with the allied force, sustain the attack of so many fresh troops, if once and he determined to stake his fate on one bold cast, and endeavor to pierce the allied centre with a grand charge of the Old Guard; and thus throw himself between the two armies. For this purpose the Imperial Guard was called up and divi-THE subscriber having removed West, offers for sale ded into immense columns, which were to meet his LANDS in Harnett County, lying immediately in the British centre. Bonaparte's star trembled in the zenith: now blazing out in its ancient splendor, now paling before his anxious eye. The intense anxiety with which he watched the advance of that column and the terrible suspense he endured when the smoke of the battle wrapped it from sight, and the utter despair of his great heart when the curtain lifted over a fugitive army, and the despairing shrick rung out, "The Guard recoils! the Guard recoils!" makes us for a moment torget all the carnage in sympathy with his dis-

This is a rare chance for persons wish- Nothing could be more imposing than its movements to the assault. It had never recoiled be fore a human foe, and the allied forces beheld with awe its firm, steady advance to the final charge. For a mement the batteries stopped playing and the firing ceased along the British lines, as, without the beating of a drum, or a bugle note to cheer their steady courage, they moved in si-lence over the field. Their tread was like muffled thunder, while the dazzling helmets of the cuirassiers flashed long lines of light upon the dark and terrible mass that swept in one strong wave along. The stern Drouet was there amid his guns, and on every brow was written the unalterable resolution to conquer or die. The next moment the artillery opened, and the head of that gallant column seemed to sink into the earth. Rank after rank went down, yet they neither stopped nor faltered. Dissolving squadrons and whole battalions disappearing one after another in the destructive fire affected not their courage. The ranks closed up as before, and each, treading over his falling comrade, passed unflinch
