CONSCRIPT OFFICE, CAMP HOLMES, N. C., July 22, 1863. GENERAL ORDERS. 7

Enrolling Officers of North Carolina are directed to make their appointments immediately to visit the Regiments within their Districts, commencing on the 20th

Notice is hereby given to all interested, that persons liable to conscription have the right to volunteer in any company in regular service of the Confederate States before enrollment. After enrollment they must come to camp, where they will be assigned to commands of their choice as far as practicable. All persons, therefore, desiring to volunteer, must do so before the 20th of August (the day of curoliment.) Transportation will be furnished at this office.

After enrollment substitutes cannot be accepted under any circumstances except at this office. The principal is required to appear in person with the substitute. Substitutes under 18 or over 50 will not be accepted. Certificate of good moral character is required before the substitute will be taken.

This call is made by the President from absolute necessity to meet the increased force of the enemy; to strengthen and support our gallant and veteran army: strengthen and support our gallant and veteran army; to protect and defend our homes and firesides, and drive the invader from our soil. Our veteran troops require the assistance of every man who can shoulder a musket or draw a sword. The Commandant, therefore, earnestly hopes that this call will be responded to promptly, cheerfully, and with an unwavering determination to swell the list of our glorious and gallant dead, if necessary, for our freedom and independence.

The Commandant takes pleasure again in acknowladging the efficient aid rendered him by the State Officers, and exhorts them to renewed zeal in supplying the necessities of the army.

The Contest Above the Graves. - A correspon dent of the New York Herald, writing from Gettys burg, thus alludes to the traces of the struggle at the cemetery:

Monuments and headstones lie here and there overturned. Graves, once earefully tended by some loving hand, have been trampled by horses' feet until the vestiges of verdure have disappeared. The neat and well trained shrubbery has vanished, or is but a broken and withered mass of tangled brush wood. On one grave lies a dead artillery horse, fast decomposing under the July sun. On another lie the torn garments of some wounded soldier, stained and saturated with his blood. Across a small headstone, bearing the words, "To the memory of our beloved child, Mary," lie the fragments of a musket shattered by a cannon shot. In the centre of the space, enclosed by an iron fence, and containing a half dozen graves, a few ruils are still standing where they were creeted by our soldiers, and served to support the shelter tents of a bivouacking squad. A family shaft has been broken to fragments by a shell, and only the base remains, with a portion of the inscription thereon. Stone after stone felt the effect of the feu d'enfer that was poured upon the crest of the hill. Cannon thundered and foot and horse soldiers tramped over the sleeping places of the dead. Other dead were added to those who are resting there and many a wounded soldier still lives to remember the contest above those silent graves.

After Yankee Horse Flesh .- Some of the Peuzylvania Dutch resorted to tricks, some of them ludicrous enough, to save their favorite fillies and fat conestogas from the clutch and halter of Jenkins and Imdoden's guerillas. A wounded eavalryman, who reached Richmond yesterday, related how a very desirable animal was found boxed up, with an only aperture large enough to admit food and drink. Others were found tied in the midst of dense thickets and cornfields, and were loosened because Jenkins had need of them. But Yankee and Dutch ingenuity combined proved too much for the guerillas in numerous instances where the horses were found forming with the people a family group in the kitchen or parlor. As the orders strictly prohibited the molestation of private families, they could not be disturbed. Altogether, between four and five thousand horses were stampeded out of the Union over into Secessia.

Human Bulk .- As to the exact amount of fat which may exist without proving injurious to. health there appears to be the greatest variation. It is certain that many individuals have possessed an enormous development of this tissue, who, nevertheless, enjoyed perfect health and the complete use of their faculties. Maccary states that he encountered at Pavia a man who exhibited himself as a dancer, and was extremely agile and graceful in his movements, although the most enormously fat man he ever saw. Dr. Williams mentions WESTERN RAIL ROAD.

THE Trains of this Road leave Fayetteville daily, (Sundays excepted) at 8 o'clock, A. M., and returning leave McIver's at 1 o'clock, P. M. and replace containing three hundred and fifty acres, of which Freight Train MONDAY, WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY.

The Trains of this Road leave Fayetteville daily, decressary out-buildings. Adjoining, are eleven hundred and fifty acres, of which is swamp having a desirous of viewing the land will call on the undersigned, or upon Mr. John McDonsld who lives in the immediate neighborhood of the tract, either of whom will take pleasure in showing it.

HECTOR Meneral.

The Train MONDAY, WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY. twenty could carry 250 lbs. weight in each hand with ease; and another girl who at the age of five began suddenly to accumulate fat with great rapidity, so that by the time she was twelve years old she weighed 182 lbs., and yet preserved good health and strength. The celebrated Daniel Lambert, probably the fattest man whose history has been recorded, lived to a good old age, and, though much encumbered by his bulk, preserved his faculties well; at the culminating point he weighed 739 lbs. Platerus records the case of a man who attained an enormous bulk without any diminution of his remarkable agility, which was such that he walked and danced with usual ease and grace. Nor is it only the muscular system which may retain its full powers in presence of an extreme accumulation of fat. It is a common prejudice that fat persons are slow of intellect; and the provincial epithet of 'fathead' sufficiently expressed the popular idea of the mental powers of the corpulent. But there are plenty of instances which conflict with this view; and I need only mention David Hume and Napoleon to convince every one that it is not universally true. - Cornhill Magazine.
