Washington .- In the year of our Lord 1790, I stood upon the door step of the counting house, of which I was then but the youngest clerk, when the companion beside me hurriedly said, "There he comes. There comes Washington." "I looked up Pearl street, and saw approaching, with stately tread and open brow, the Father of my Country. His hat was off, for the day was sulery, and he was accompanied by Col. Page and James Madi-Never have I forgotten, nor shall I to my dying day forget, the serene, the benign, the god-THE subscriber as Countissioner under an arder of dying day forget, the serene, the benign, the god-the Canaty Court of Cumberland will sell at public like expression of the countenance of that man of suction in the town of Fayetteville, on Saturday the men. His lofty mein and commanding figure, set off to advantage by an elegant dress, consisting of a blue coat, buff small clothes, silver knee and shoe buckles and white vest, his powdered locks, and powerful, vigorous look, (for he was then in the prime and strength of manhood,) have never faded from my mind during the many years which, with all their chances and changes, have rolled between .- Personal Recollections of the Ameri-

The Yankees in Prince William .- We learn that the Yankees are behaving with their usual brutality in the upper part of Prince William. They visited Mr. Lawrence Cole's, about ten miles of Dumfries, last week, killed his sheep and milch cows, and committed other depredations upon his property. They met several ladies on the road, who had been shopping at the store of Jno. King, robbed them of the articles they had purchased, stole their horses and left them to walk several miles to their homes. They robbed Mr. King of his goods and were searching the woods for him. Notwithstanding their sufferings and unprotected condition, the native citizens are as loyal to the Confederacy as any in the South. Rich'd Sentinel

Cured of their Folly .- Gentlemen who left familiar with the state of public sentiment in that section, are of the opinion that the excesses of the Federal soldiery in East Tennessee during their occupation, have produced a very healthy change upon public opinion. Many of the people are entirely and thoroughly disgusted with Yankee rule .- Rich. Enquirer.

The Last Words of a Good Woman .- The wife of a Bishop in England died recently, and being a woman remarkable for her piety and excellence of character, her last words were expected to be full of interest, and so they were. Just before she expired the good woman said to her attendants: "Remember to give the Bishop his warm soup every night."

A good thing is told of a battle-scarred North Carolina regiment, which entered Richmond not a great while ago, while a company of "citizen soldiers" were performing their "evolutions" in the streets. The ears of the Old North State were greeted by a good many uncomplimentary interrogations concerning the persimmon and huckleberry crops. At length one of the F. F. the State, Jeff Davis has bought the last bar'l we had and brought it to Richmond." "What in the d-l does he want with it?" "He wants it Carolina was no further molested.
