SUPREME COURT.—This tribunal met yesterday but transacted no business save the examination of applicants of license to practice law.

The class was a large one and composed of young gentlemen of great promise.

PREMIUMS OFFERED.—We cannot take up a State or any other paper that we do not see blazoning announcements of "premiums offered."

First, to any Wake county man engaged in the wood trade who cannot conscientiously sell rotten, worthless stuff for "first class wood, seasoned under cover," and who won't always take pains to put the few sound sticks there may be in the lot outside.

Second, a premium is offered to the man who will not sell a thirteen year old, starved to death, dead hen as a spring chicken, and beef that comes, right out from under a stag's yoke as sirloin beef from a two year old beef.

Third, a premium is offered to the man who will not sell a thirteen year old, starved to death, dead hen as a spring chicken, and beef that comes, right out from under a stag's yoke as sirloin beef from a two year old beef.

LET IT BE DONE.—We hear it suggested by business men of the city that the present Court House is much too small for Court purposes and that an addition must be made to it.

Furthermore, it is proposed to move the jail on a lot in the rear of where it now sets and west of Salisbury street, and then move the Court house just on a line with the Engine house.

With this in view, it is suggested that one who would not believe it the same place. Then there could be the necessary sewerage from the jail, something so much needed.

All this can be done for less than four thousand dollars and not for a brick. So says Mr. O. R. Smith, the great house-movist.

By all means, we say, let it be done—just imitating the new Post Office on one side, the Masonic Temple on the other and the Yarborough House, when completed, in front.

FACTORIES.—We are informed that Mr. Robert Love is having machinery put up near Hadley's Mills, in Chatham county, on the Raleigh and Augusta Air Line...

WAKE COUNTY SUPERIOR COURT.

Yesterday at 10 a. m. Sheriff Lee opened the Court, Judge S. W. Watts on the bench.

The following is the Grand Jury: J. P. Prairie, foreman; Thos. Manly, J. C. Morgan, Paschall Evans, R. Malvin, John Rhodes, James Weathers, A. H. Davis, Dan Tucker, Oliver W. Roane, Geo. Lee, Isaac Hunter, James Doyle, Sylvester Dunston, Henry Hunter, Murray Smith, Mac Smith and E. D. Haynes.

In several petty cases a nol proas was entered, and in several others defendants submitted and judgment was suspended on payment of costs.

The Court adjourn till 2:30 p. m.

EVENING SESSION. Court met at 2 1/2 o'clock. The case of the State vs. Calvin Adams, colored, for affray and assault and battery, was the only jury case tried.

A verdict of not guilty was returned. Several other cases were called, and judgment nisi entered against both principals and securities where the parties failed to answer.

"OH, VARE! OH, VARE! SH MISE LETLE DONG GONE?"—A young gentleman of this city, (well, not so young either), left Henderson Monday noon, in company with a long keen nose, slim bodied, slick tailed grey bound purp. The conductor objected to his being transported in the passenger car, and our young, or rather medium aged friend, transferred his tender charge to the kindly care of Theodore Joseph, the mail agent.

Arriving at Franklinton, our young, or rather medium aged friend, disembarked from the train to greet to a lady acquaintance. The purp heard the voice of his master on the outside, and at once plunged through the mail coach door. The persuasive dog eloquence of the young or medium aged friend, with the Dutch accompaniment of Theodore Joseph, to persuade the "purp" back, was enough to make a dog laugh, but the last seen of the purp, he was travelling in a opposite direction from the departing train, with head erect and his tail likewise.

COMPLAIN.—The following communication explains itself. In our various business connections with the post-office in this city we have always found the clerks and officials prompt and efficient in the discharge of their duties, and in showing justice to the venture of honest and candid conviction that the fault is not with the office in this city, but it is somewhere, and the evil should be remedied.

Capt. E. C. Woodson, City Editor Daily News.

On the 23rd day of Dec. last I mailed a letter in the Raleigh post-office, directed to E. G. Hill, Esq., Smithfield, Johnston county, N. C. The letter contained a sum of money.

Mr. Hill writes Jan. 2d, 1873, that he never received the letter or money, particularly that Mr. Mort Flemming, of the Raleigh & Gaston railroad, on Edenton street, built in accordance with the very latest style of architecture, and one of the neatest, and cheapest buildings for a small family we have yet seen.

Mr. Flemming is a Warren county man. The timber in the building was grown in Warren county, and a Warren county man, (J. S. Allen) is the builder.

TEMPERANCE.—We are not a temperance man in a strict literal sense, but a firm advocate of the principle, and therefore call the attention of young men to the following exhibit for their own good:

Three drinks a day, at 15 cents a drink, will cost 45 cents a day, or $3.15 a week, including Sundays, or $12.60 a month, or $151.20 a year. Three "good" cigars a day will cost the same.

At the end of the year, what has the moderate drinker and moderate smoker to show for his money? The amount wasted for these dangerous luxuries (3) would pay the premium on a very handsome life insurance policy.

THAT CRADLE.—Walking along Fayetteville street yesterday, in company with a friend, we halted in front of Morris' Furniture warehouse, where our friend desired to examine a new style swinging cradle that was on exhibition in front of the door.

It was such taken with it, thought it a good trick, wanted to purchase, and asked our opinion concerning it. As it was entirely out of our line we confessed our ignorance of "how the old thing worked," but was relieved by the appearance of Mr. Morris, who informed our friend that the cradle was sold, having been ordered expressly for a Raleigh editor. We proclaim our innocence.

THE LEGISLATURE.—We notice a good many falling into the error concerning the time on which the Legislature will re-assemble.

For the information of all who feel an interest in the matter, we will state that this body will re-assemble on the 15th of this month, not on the 13th as some have not. All those who have kept up with the proceedings of the General Assembly, will remember that the adjournment for recess took place on the 19th of Dec. with the agreement to convene again on the 15th of January, 1873.

GUARDIAN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.—As will be seen by the advertisement in to-day's paper, Andrew Syme, Esq., succeeds W. H. Finch, Esq., as the General Agent for this State for this staunch and prompt Insurance Company.

Mr. Syme is a gentleman of integrity and a business man of the highest qualifications, and every one may rely upon his statements as to the operations of the company he represents. We inadvertently omitted a mention of this in our last issue.
