LEGISLATURE OF NORTH CAR-OLINA.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 15, 1872. SENATE.

o'clock by Lieutenant Governor Brogden. He said : SENATORS: The Constitution of North Carolina declares that the Lieutenant Governor shall preside as President of the Sen-ate. Having been elected to this office by the people of the State on the first Thursday of August, 1872, and having taken and subscribed my oath of office, I appear before you this day at your first meeting since the first day of January, to enter upon the dis-charge of my official duties.

I deem it due to myself to declare, on this occasion, that, "with malice towards none, and with charity for all," I shall try to act fairly and impartially, knowing no party but what I conscientiously believe to be rigit, and shall rely upon your kindness and indulgence to cover my errors. My past experience has taught me that it is almost impossible for the presiding officer of a legislative body, composed of course of so many different minds and opinions, to give entire satisfaction on all occasions. But it will be my constant aim and desire to act according to parliamentary laws and decisions and the rules of order for the government of the Senate.

As you were in session for about one month before your late recess, you are informed of the situation of our public affairs and the financial condition of the State, and you may rely upon my cordial co-operation in support of all wise and judicious measures tending to promote the happiness and prosperity of the people.

The public institutions of the State should receive the eartful attention of the Lorie receive the careful attention of the Legis-lature. The Institutions for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind, the Asylum for the Insane, and also the Penitentiary, are all supported by the tax-payers of the State, and it is the duty of the Legislature to properly investigate the management of these institutions, and to allow no injustice or conversion.

oppression, no favoritism or partiality to be wrongfully practiced by any of their managers or employees. Let us faithfully attend to the educational interests and necessities of the children of the State. Let us provide necessary and proper means for the cultivation of the intellect and the improvement of the mind and morals of the rising generation. Our Constitution wisely provides "for a general and uniform system of Public Schools, wherein tuition shall be free of charge to all the children of the State, between the ages

Our present free school law is deficient, and needs emendation and improvement. reading. believe in the truism that "morality and intelligence are the only sure basis of our government." A well educated and christian people are always prepared and qualified to guard and protect their rights and

The main object of wise legislatian should be to correct the errors of the past, and to pass such laws for the future as experience and the necessities of the times may point out to be judicious, necessary and proper. In all legislation reckless prodigality and wasteful extravagance are injurious to the wasteful extravagance are injurious to the best interests of the people, and should be avoided as much as possible.

Economy forms one of the prominent virtues and duties of a Republican Government. It does not consist, however, in withholding from faithful public service a just compensation; neither does it consist in according with persimpnious hands in according with parsimonious hands in providing for the public necessities. But it consists in closing every unnecessary drain on the public treasury; and also, for the same purpose, there is strenuously required a judicious application of the appropria-tions to their objects, and a vigorous execution of the laws regarding them. North Carolina has within her borders all the elements of a greatestate. But her vast agricultural and mineral resources are not yet fully developed. Her people are chiefly engaged in the cultivation of the soil; that

Washington to be "the most healthful, the most useful and the noblest employment of man." Agriculture, commerce, manufacture, and the mechanic arts, are the great sources of our National and State prosperi-ty. They should be properly encouraged by wise and judicious legislation. It is a fixed principle in our Government which cannot be too closely adhered to in practice, nor too often repeated, that it was instituted to promote the welfare of the people; that those who make, and those who carry into effect the laws, are but their agents; and that to generate any distinct interest between the people and their gov-ernment is incompatible with this principle, and was never contemplated by the framers of our Constitution. A perfect tolerance of political opinion, and freedom in the exercise of the elective franchise, are indispensable; for a government based on public opinion becomes impaired when intolerance and lawles on-trol of the right of suifrage withdraw in it that support; and we should bear mind that, while under the imperative Republican principle, the will of the majority is to prevail in all cases, yet that "the mi-nority possess rights, to violate which would be oppression."

Opposition to political measures should rather be invited than deprecated, for in laudable opposition there may be found security from error; nor should it be forgotten that "every difference of opinion is not a difference of principle," and that, as citi-zens of the same republic, we are all equally interested in the honor, welfare and happiness of our common country. I congratulate you, Senators, and the people of North Carolina, upon an era of good feeling which has dawned upon the country and the calm which has followed our State and National elections of 1872. It shows the wisdom, virtue and efficacy of our republican constitutions and laws, when six millions of voters in the United States can go peaceably to the omnipotent ballot-box, without any force, fear, or intimidation, and cast their votes for the men of their Differences of opinion in relation to the affairs of government may be conducive in the end to the discovery of truth, and a frank investigation of matters of public TOILET GOODS, much party and too little regard for principle; and that in examining the acts of our public servants, there has sometimes been a fearful disregard of truth and justice. Let us hope for more generosity and charity hereafter. With no vain regrets for the past, let us look hopefully forward to the reward: of the future. Let us try to pro-mote the further development of our vast and various resources, and improve the credit of our State. Let us try to keep step with the progressive spirit of the times, and the onward march of events, and show to ury. Let us try to reserve unfarnished the honor of North Carolina. Let her bright escutcheon never be stained with the foul blot of Punic faith. It has been well and wisely said, that "private credit is wealth-public honor is security. The feather that adorns the royal bird supports his flight; strip him of his plumage, and you fix him to the earth." May our State continue to advance and improve in all respects until it may be truly said of her "her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace." Let us try to serve her according to the measure of our abilities and the best lights of our understanding. Let us remember that we have a country to serve instead of a party to obey.
