ENLARGING THE HOMESTEAD.

We have received for publication a ber of the Conservative party, in favor appear to-morrow.

The Radical party in 1871, sought to create prejudice against those who favored the call of a Convention, by charging that one of the objects of the Conservative party was to abolish the by this electioneering dodge to vote against the call for a Convention.

reasonable that our party would do anything to abridge or in any manner tial impair the Homestead exemptions. The benefits accruing from such exemptions the are enjoyed chiefly by Conservatives, and surely their interests would be sate in the hands of their triends. It is natural, however, that people should be sensitive and apprehensive when their homes are involved, and the fear that it stead clause might be stricken out, lost numbers of votes to the Convention cause in 1871.

is true; but it is equally true that such fear did nevertheless. exist.

Our correspondent contends that the exemption to fifteen hundred dollars pass such a bill,

HEALTHY FINANCIAL CON TION OF TEXAS.

Texas has suffered less from the ruptions of the swarming hordes State.

Her people are comparatively independent, pecuniarily. In many sections um has been gold and silver.

The Governor of Texas, in his recent message, says the actual indebtedness of the State is one million and seven hundred thousand dollars-which amount, he says, "can be paid off by a tax of a single year of less than a half of one per cent. on the taxable value of property within the State." There is in the Treasury to offset this debt over forty .ne thousand dollars in specie, and over two hundred thousand dollars in of dollars!

Considering the undeveloped resources of Texas, her great agricultural wealth and her advantages for stockraising, we do not believe there is a State in the Union, certainly no Southern State, whose people have a better financial prospect before them.

Since the close of the war, important Railread communications have been established ; others are in course of construction, and when completed will unite the remote portions of the State with each other in social and business connections.

debate, but when the vote was taken, the House decided by a good majority in favor of the report of the Committee on Elections, who had reported adversely to Mabson's claims.

The evidence before the Committee proved that Mabson, who claims to represent Edgecombe, had voted within twelve months preceding his election in the county of Washington. The law requires a Representative to be a resident of the county twelve months disclaim his residence there without committing perjury, and the Legislature
