ALAMANGE COUNTY. - On a recent trip to Alamance county, we visited several of the large manufactories that renders that county famous, among the number, the whiskey distillery of Messis. Hutcheson & Co., and the large cotton factory of Messrs, Holt & Moore at Haw river. Henry Hoit, a son of the veritable Col. Jesse Host, the most famous whisky maker of modern times, runs the whiskey distillery. Henry is a chip of the old block, and his reputation is fast equaling that of his father. We learn from the proprietors, that at an early day, they will commence the erection of a mammoth brick house, as their constantly increasing trade is reaching beyond the capacity of their present spacious establishment. These gentlemen manulacture a pure article, each of corn and rye whiskey, are known to be fair, square, honest dealers, and are entitled to a large and general novel in this part of the country, and patronage.

The celebrated Granite Cotton Mills of Messrs, Holt & Moore, at Haw river, are the largest in the State, in fact, but few in the Southern States that can compare with them. We will in a day or two give a detailed account of this immense factory.

COL. BENNETT .- The Pee Dee Herald of the 19th inst., speaks as follows of tobacco. Col. R. T. Bennett:

Col. Bennett having obtained indefiarduous duties in the Legislature he returned. Col. Bennett has had a very laborious task this session. Several of our exchanges have spoken in the most flattering terms of the way in which he works. He is a hard worker here at home, and we are sure he sustains his character fully where he is now, by guarding every interest of the people and serving them in the most effec ive manner.
