in the Church, The dockets of the Court, both civil and State, were heavy, including some two or more capital offences. The attendance was large, considering the inclement weather, and we had the pleasure of meeting many of the friends formed during our residence on the Roanoke. The farmers of that section are somewhat oppressed from the damages recently sustained by the heavy rain and freshets, and much fear is apprehended that the "risk-all" policy of the farmer this year upon the cotton crop will prove disastrous. Should a Carolina will come out with heads erect ; | desired, but, should either the crop be short, or the price low, we may expect a disaster more fatal than that of '67,

We visited some of the farms in the vicinity of Jackson, and were pleased to see them, notwithstanding the season, looking well. The great want with the farmers of the Roanoke at present is efficient labor-the freshets have demoralized much of the labor, and where the crops have been washed up, the planter, especially if working upon the share system, will find it difficult to get another crop in.

The Court will be occupied during the two weeks in clearing the dockets, even should the Judge think fit to continue the term that long. He adjourned Halifax Court on Tuesday of the second week, without interfering with the civil docket more than calling it up. We have a number of amusing incidents gleaned during our visit, which we would like to relate, but have not the room at present. We are indebted to Mr. Robert

Weaver, proprietor of the Jackson Hotel, for courtesies extended us, and were pleased to see him receiving such a liberal patronage.
