But not content with conquests on impetuous people. the American soil, the Herald has managed to get two of its correspondents immured in Spanish prisons, and they are now suffering all the pangs of incarceration to subserve the purpose of the greatest news-paper in the world.

O'Kelley's case is well known to the public. The last we heard of him he was marching through the streets in the recent Franco-Prussian war Maccharge of an armed guard of Spanish soldiers, with loaded guns, ready to shoot him down at the first effort he made to escape. O'Kelly had his arms pinioned, and in this disgraceful attitude the was being conveyed from one dungeon to another, much to his chagrin and mortification. But not content in resisting the German advance. He with this exhibition of its martyr correspondent, the Herald has succeeded in getting another gentleman into a similar scrape, and through the prison bars of his Havana prison, one Price, an American citizen, is compelled to peep, because he happens to belong to the newspaper staff of the great New York daily.

The charges against Price have not been disclosed; but the attention of the the hand in the execution of this blood-Government hus been called to his case, and an investigation will soon be instituted.

O'Kelly and Price have both been unlawfully detained by the Spanish Government, and the United States has been too tardy in moving in their behalf.

HOLDING THE PRESIDENT RE-SPONSIBLE.

We have all along held that the President of the United States was primarily responsible for the Louisians troubles. This view is maintained by many of the leading independent journals at the an immense reputation for military abil North, such as the New York Herald, ity, and a great popularity, due in part Tribune, and the like. Some of the ablest and most reasonable of the Republican party organs concede that the conduct of Grant is not blameless in the premises. But we were not prepared to find the New York Times so bold and outspoken in its comments on the recent | to brand as criminals those who do not proclamation, ordering the people of Louisiana to submit unconditionally to Louis Philippe he served without resthe Kellogg usurpation. The Times is pecting him or his ministers. In 1848 the acknowledged organ of the Radical he was lukewarm towards the Provisionparty in New York. to control the destinies of a hery and From the New York World. The New President of the French Republic.

Marshal MacMahon, upon whom has fallen the mantle of M. Thiers, is before all a soldier. He has been nearly half a century in the French Army, and since the day of the storming of the Malakoff he has been its pride and glory. Before Mahon was regarded as 'the coming man who would give the assailants of France a lesson in the art of war. For some reason, possibly the combined reason that his military ability was and is over-rated and that his plans were thwarted by imperial interterence, he failed to do anymay 28-tf thing worthy of even a fitth-rate general K suffered an ignominous defeat at Woerth, the Crown Prince of Prussia completely out-generalling him, and his combinations led to the fatal day at Sedan. To be sure, when he entered Paris after the siege he performed feats of valor that made him doubly dear to the reactionary classes. It will be a long time before the world will accept as anything but cruel and useless carnage the slaughter by thousands of the ill advised of the guests defenders of Paris against the Thiers Government. Marshal MacMahon was thirsty scheme, and perhaps it would not be unnatural to infer that he had much to do with the conception of the scheme itself.

As an administrator MacMahon has not been a success. He left Algeria in a most terrible state. The disorders which broke out there on the close of the Prussian war were his legacy to his successors. Every severity that arbitrary power could think of was executed in the harshest manner, but without reducing either the French colonists or the Algerian natives to obedience. To his new position as President MacMahon comes at the ripe age of 65 -he is ten years younger than M. Thiers. He brings with him to the task G to his unpretending manners. He is a royalist at heart-a legitimist of the egitimists. Republicanism he has always hated. The very name of LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, liberty has been odious to him, though he has never been backward in claiming the liberty for him and his party to be legitimists, and share that honor. Constitutionalism al Government. He took the earliest opportunity of going over to Bonaparte when he was maturing his scheme for
