journey characterized by nothing save degradation, despair, utter joylessness, and unceasing hardship and suffering."

Imprisonment for life is a hard and whether it is an act of mercy to save a man's neck and then doom him to imprisonment for life.

We believe in the enforcement of the especially where death ensues and where there are no palliating circumstances. Criminals who deserve the fate of the gallows escape too often through society, we would be glad to see the Courts visit upon murderers, and other offenders whose crimes are scarcely less heinous than murder, the full extent of the penalty prescribed by the laws.

But we think Gov. Caldwell has acted of Griffice and Mordecai to imprison- zeal. ment for life in the Penitentiary.

If he had pardoned them, we should have denounced the act as ill-advised and entirely improper; but as he has done nothing of the kind, but sentenced them to a life of hard labor in the State's prison, we think he is justifiable in so doing and approve and endorse his action. We need not refer to the petition which was presented to his Excellency, which was signed by a number of our prominent citizens of both parties and by every Minister in Raleigh, because we take it that it is not very difficult to get numerous signatures to a petition for mercy when life is at stake.

We deplore the outrage perpetrated on Mr. Hicks as much as any one can. It was a crime for which there is no palliation or excuse. But the murderous wretches who are the most guilty of the crime are at liberty, having turned State's evidence. Mr. Hicks has almost recovered from the assault, and is now attending to business. The condemned men were only accessories, and the Governor was satisfied from what has transpired since the trial, that Boylan and Bryan which he had just vacated, and the

> GOV, VANCE'S APPEAL. The Charlotte Observer of the 10th inst., publishes an appeal from Gov. Vance to the farmers of the State, to aid Prof. Kerr in his efforts to have a credi table exhibition of the agricultural resources of North Carolina at the Vienna exposition. The appeal is timely and patriotic, and we trust that other prominent citizens of the State will follow Gov. Vance's example.

Prof. Kerr expects to start for Vienca about the 25th of June, and the farmers should send him specimens of their products by the 18th inst.

We will publish Goy. Vance's article mh 22-t! to-morrow.
