SUDDEN DEATH OF A PROMI-NENT MINISTER-HE DIES IN HIS PULPIT.

NOON DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY NEWS.] DURHAM's, June 15.

A private dispatch has just been received here announcing the sudden death yesterday of the Rev. A. G. Hughes, prominent Presbyterian Minister of Orange county. The only particulars of this melancholy affair are: that on Sunday evening at 24 o'clock he met his appointment at X roads church near the Orange and Alamance line. A large congregation was present, and shortly after taking his text he sank down in the pulpit speechless. When he was was a dispute about some property. waited upon by members of the congregation life was found to be extinct. His remains will be buried at Haw River

The Rev. A. G. Hughes was about fitty-five years of age, and has been in charge of the pulpit in which he died for more than twenty years. He was a man of extensive learning, an excellent preacher and remarkable for his kindness of heart. He was noted as a live and persevering pastor, and his reputation as a pure and devout Christian, for his prominent worth as a good citizen and his general exemplary course of life, extended over the entire State, especial ly with his own church. He was a brother of the present Sheriff Hughes,
