ADDRESS OF DR. COLUMBUS MILLS.

INTERESTING PROCEEDINGS.

The State Grange Patrons of Husbandry met in this city yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, in the Good Templar Hall, Fisher Building, the Master, Dr. Columbus Mills, presiding. The Committee on Credentials reported a full attendance from every section of the State. During the past year the Executive Committee changed the representation, allowing only one delegate to every five Granges. After some discussion, the action of the Executive Committee was sustained.

Dr. Mills delivered the following annual address, which was listened to with marked attention: Sisters and Brothers: As chosen representatives of the Patrons of Husbandry to the State Grange of North Carolina, you are now assembled in annual convocation to take into consideration all questions and make all necessary legislation for the good of the order, and the country's welfare. I am pleased to extend to each and all a happy salutation of fraternal good will, and through you, my honored brothers, to all Patrons throughout the State, I congratulate you on the flattering auspices and hopeful assurances that greet us on every hand. The great truths and principles taught by Patrons of Husbandry are fast becoming the hope and policy of all productive industry. Agriculturists outside of the Grange, as well as those bearing forward the noble work, are participators in the fruits of our labors, and at this our second annual meeting is exhibited the infant order, strong in numbers and powerful for good. We see in all this the hand of Providence that has blessed our labors. The sanction of Omnipotent favor is sealed and attested by the growing importance, acknowledged influence of our order, and the crowping success of the Patron's highest hopes, and as Patrens we have cause to be thankful. Let us, therefore, with humility and reverence acknowledge all gratitude to God, and send up to heaven the hon- M. Fitts. est Patron's shout of thanksgiving and praise, and invoke with becom-

the great Architect of all our hopes. Your duties are grave and important; upon your deliberations in a great measure depend the welfare of our order, and while we do not assume the country's care, the Patron's labor, we confidently affirm, will be happily felt by all productive industry. From the infancy and short experience of our order, very little precedent is afforded you as a guide to your deliberations. This you can in a measure supply by diligent study of all questions, free and full discussion, close observance of the laws and principles of the or ler and an honest endeavor to seek intelligent truth. I will therefore invite you to discuss in a spirit of fraternal kindness, all questions that may come before you, that your action may be intelligent and wise. The great principles of our order, like our fields, demand care and attention. Keep them before the world. Reaffirm them to the country, inscribed on the Husbandman's banner of hope, that faithful Patrons may bear it high to the breeze as a guide to our fellows on the highway to knowledge, wealt's and power, and as a light of welcome in well doing to all. The great principle of co-operation is essentially the practical thought of the times. No question is more important to the Grange welfare and none so little understood. Our duty is to study it, discuss it, and learn it. In your Grange at home and in your daily correspondence with your fellows, make it a subject always in order for debate, that every Patron in the land may be taught to compre-hend and understand it in all its bearings upon the good of our order. Instruct yourselves fully on this branch of our order's faith and teaching, and we will have accomplished the Patron's prosperity, our fullest hones and for our children, a wealth in knowledge, as well as in material things-we as a people, seem, from education and habit, to have a natural aversion to co-operation. We see this exhibited in all our Granges, a deep laid prejudice against their greatest lever of power and influence is prevalent, all from ignorance of the subject. Our efforts should be untiring to remove this ignorance and substitute instead an active intelligence, and a rich reward will follow. Let us encourage co-operation in sales, and purchases in building up manufactories, and all other industries consistent with our avocation. The great principle of co-operation is fundamental to the best success in all industries, therefore we should foster it, as a vital source of life, and all ignorance of its merit should be driven from our borders. There is no sense of delicacy that should prevent us from declaring the fact, that among farmers as a class there is a great want of information. owing mainly to lack of means of intelligence, and Patrons share largely the general fate. In view of this, the thought naturally arises, that if possible, to provide the means to lead our fellows and countrymen out of the wilderness, we should do it, as in our minds a sense of duty and interest plainly commands it. We deem the time oportune and the subject fit, to exhibit a practical demonstration of co-operative labor in building up in the State a much needed Grange journal of the highest standard of excellence in all respects, one that will visit weekly or monthly every ron's household in the State. The achievement of such a hope would be a crowning fame to our order and carry the sun-beam of knowledge into lovely spots now shaded by ignorance. The subject is worthy of careful consideration, and I hope your wisdom may devise a means to carry out the object. We are admonished by the great principles of our order to encourage education, let us obey the injunction with alacrity and spirit, of life may be fitted for their duties. Manufacturing as a branch of industry is a vital source of wealth and influence that enterprising Patrons may make a powerful auxiliary to rural industry. I cannot do more than call your attention to the subject with the hope of inviting discus- | dispatches.

knowledge and knowledge to the development of the country's best interest. We have great facilities for manufacturing every implement needed on the farm, and I cannot but feel it a blemish on our good name that we in a great measure, buy our plows, wagons, &c., in markets distant many hundreds of miles. To a large number Granges in North Carolina the manufacture of cotton in conexion with their farms is a natural channel of industry, and I feel that no subject deserves more attention or promise greater rewards. At the last annual meeting a committee on manufacturing was appointed to re-port at this meeting. We look with in advance invite your attention. The worthy Secretary reports five hundred and one subordinateGranges with an aggregate membership of about 15,000. The worthy Treasurer's report will show the financial condition of the interest for that report, to which we

Some Cotton,-It is enough to make any Grangers mouth water to see the specimen of cotton on exhibition at the Yarborough House, and for which Professor O. W. Prolific," and is a native of Jefferson The seed of this cotton was first offered for sale by Captain John W. Cheatham in the Spring of 1874. He commenced in 1868 by planting the finest varieties of prolific seeds, and thus from year to year until he has reached the height of perfection. But we will say no more about it. Professor Carr will be in the city several days and will show a specimen of the cotton and give such information as our farmers may re-

THE POLL-TAX INDICTMENTS.-Under the provisions of the law, Solicitor Harris has recently raised a little rumpus by causing indictments to be be made against all parties who failed to list their poll taxes in 1873-'74, all parties so failing being compelled to give bond for their appearance before the next Superior Court. The cost to all parties so indicted would reach some $10 or $12, the Solicitor's fee being $4 on each case. The Senate yesterday passed a bill releasing all indictments upon the tax receipt being exhibited and the costs being paid, the Solicitor, Sheriff and Clerk to receive each twenty-five The Independent. cents costs. Should this bill pass the House it will give relief to the large number who have fallen under the law, while it will materially reduce the sum that would have gone into the pockets of the officials. learn that some 3,000 persons had been indicted in this county.

WILMINGTON, N. C., M'ch 3. The following appears in to-morrow's (Thursday) Journal:

WILMINGTON, N. C., M'ch 3. To Lx-Governor Vance, Charlotte, N. C:

clared yourself in favor of a Convention. Is it true, and are we at liberty to publish the fact by authority? ENGELHARD & SAUNDERS.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 3rd. To Messrs. Engelhard & Saunders, Wilmington, N. C .: I am in favor of a Convention in view of the recent action of Con-Z. B. VANCE. UPSET .- The new warehouse at Neuse Depot, on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad in this county, erected by Mr. Peterson Dunn, for the storage of the Cotton Food Fertilizer, succumbed to the pressure yesterday, and in upsetting, made a complete somersault, smashing the entire building to atoms. The foundation of the building sunk into the earth, which had become soft by the continued rains, causing the catastrophe. There was stored in the building at the time 300 tons of the Fertilizer, which of course was not injured. The building is an entire loss, being only fit for kindling wood.

Rights. I "interviewed" Uncle Billy, a good old colored friend of mine, the other day on the question of civil rights.

"Don't want nuffin mo'," said Uncle Billy. "Got too much already fur dis niggah." "How is that, Uncle Billy? Is it not a good thing to be equal before the law? "Now, Marse Boss," grunted Billy plaintively, "dar's jist whar de misery comes in. We're ekal befo' de law, an dar yer hit our weak pint. Befo' de war de niggah stole chicken an' pig, yer jerked him up, guv him thirty-nine lashes, and let him go. But jist let a cullud pusson try it now. Yer hauls him court, an' sen's him to de penitentiary jist like he was one of yer poor white trash. Dat's what 'tis to be ekal 'fore de law.' I suggested to Uncle Billy that this might be obviated by being a little more honest. "Marse Boss," interrupted Bill, we can't run agin natur'. It's nat-'ral fur niggah to steal pig and chicken, frying size. Yer knows it is, an tain't no use tryin' to stop us. Now we uns are willin' to let yuns alone on this point. We're powerful weak on dis pint, Marse Boss." Just here a perverse and disloyal spirit tempted me to hint to Uncle Bill that the colored people were indebted to their Republican friends for this change in their status. "Well, den, Marse Boss," said he, "all Ise got to say is, de laws got to be changed, hab a law for de white man and a law for de black man!" Strange as it may seem, some of our best citizens echo uncle Billy's sentiment. They are inclined to view the negro's minor transgressions in a lenient light, and I know that some of our Democratic judges impose lighter penalties upon colored men for small offences than they would do in cases where the guilty parties were white. Before uncle Billy left I asked him how he would like to sit down at the table with white folks at the hotels. "Great Goddlemighty" exclaimed the good old man. "I allow yourself tryin' to make fun o' dis chile. Why, you knows yourself dat a culled pusson ebber lets a white man see 'em eat ef dey kin help it!'' This is strictly true. The ordinary southern negro will not eat in the presence of a white spectator. "Well, Uncle Billy." I said, "it is very evident that you don't want any civil rights. 'Not anyting mo', I tank you," replied Billy. "Nearly done ruined now. Hev to pay my own doctor's bills; lost all my money in de Freedmen's bank; neber got no forty acres and de mule dey promised me, and can't help myself to a little chicken, fryin' size, widout gwin to the penitentiary. I'se got 'nuff' cibbil rights!"

The above is no production of the fancy. It is a true incident, honestly told, and it is impossible to talk to the country negroes without hearing just such things as I have related .-

The Republican party, or rathe the present leaders of it, have risked its future prosperity upon measures, one of which cannot pass the Senate, and the other of which will be a practical nullity. The Civil Rights bill is not more stringent than many of the enactments of local Legislatures at the South. After all it will be next to impossible so to use the colored people as to break the patience of the whites. The latter are not fools. Their hot blood has been cooled. They see the object of such a bill, and are determined to thwart those who rely upon their opposition. It is not the less infamous for that. It should be the death-blow to the Republican party-the last nail in its coffin .- Baltimore Gazette,

The New York Herald thinks the Civil Rights bill as passed of but little moment in its operations. Commenting on it, it says: The manager of a theatre will run the risk of a verdict for damages before seating black men by the side of white ones in the parquet and dress circle. It will be some years before the aristoeratic denizens of Sullivan and Thompson streets will be allowed to occupy the boxes at Wallack's or Booth's or Daly's. In reality the bill is a pretence, not a measure, and it results in pleasing nobody. Mr. Sumner would have spurned it from him with contempt. In omitting the school clause everything that was

PETITION.

Mr. Waring presented a memorial frrom the Grand Jury of Mecklenburg, praying the postponement until the first of January, 1876, the operations of the Usury bill, owing to the disastrous effects its immediate enforcement would cause in that section. Ordered to be sent to the house.

GENERAL ORDER.

Heritage $480 for taking care of his insane sister in Craven county for four years, failed to pass by a vote of Mr. LeGrand's supplementary bill ocstponing the usury law until Jan.

1st, 1876, came up as special order. On motion of Mr. Shaw, the bill was tabled by a vote of 22 to 14. The Committee reported favorably on the bill of Mr McElroy to amend the charter of the N. C. R. He thought it passing strange that Mr. McRae should see fit to incorporate this amendment in the bill now before the House, when no such clause was to be found in a railroad bill he (McRae) had introduced and championed in the House. The substitute, he said, was favorably considered by the Senate, and also the Senate Committee. Mr. McRae said the bill he had the honor to introduce was an act to amend the charter of the Carolina Central Railway, a corporation fully organized and in operation, and it was not his province or the province of this House to incorporate such an amendment in a charter already in operation. It was his fortune to introduce the bill to amend the charter of the Carolina Central Railway at the request of a friend, whose char-The resolution to pay John L. acter was as pure and spotless as any man in the State, and since that time
