Mr. Johnson was a native of Raleigh, and here learned his trade as a tailor, acquiring his knowledge of books and men after he had arrived at the age of manhood, and was in the every sense of the word a self-made man. The Death of Gen. Geo. E. Pickett. The Norfolk Virginian of yesterday thus refers to the death in that

It is our painful duty to chronicle this morning the death of one of Virginia's noblest sons, and one of the few Major Generals which Virginia contributed to the Confederate cause, who have survived up to this date. General George E. Pickett is the subject of this notice, and we regret to state that he breathed his last at the Hospital of St. Vincent de Paul last evening at 10:45 o'clock, after a brief but painful illness. The General has been in this city for some weeks, and was stricken with the illness which caused his death. He had rooms at the Atlantic Hotel, from which he was removed to the Hospital, where more perfect quiet could be secured, and where he received the very best possible attention, the members of his family being with him durind his later hours.

"What then, have you got your carpet bag and overcoat for ?" "Because if there is any one thing in God's world I abbor more than another it is to see a man standing about the station without any

The Ramblings of a Correspondent Throughout the United States-What He saw and Learned and His Views of Cause and Effect and the General Political Condition of the Country.

Messrs Editors:-To use an old letter writer's style and words, "I have often thought of writing to you and have as often failed," but upon my arrival here this afternoon resolved I would fulfill my promise made when I last had the pleasure of seeing you, so after giving "Mine Host" of your most excellent National Hotel every evidence of my appreciation of what he had prepared for supper, the "tongue," I repaired to my room and commenced the warm yet pleasant task.

All who know me will, perhaps, agree that I am naturally industrious but born tired. To make a very long story short, since I left here last Winter I have been North, South, East and West. Your readers have repeatedly heard of Florida, the Eastern, Western and Northern States, so I will not attempt to amuse or disgust them with "Tourist Notes" but will undertake to tell them something of more interest.

I met in Florida a large number of the old school abolitionists who before the war thought it their moral duty to free the slaves, and to this end not only freely contributed money to that purpose, but lost no opportunity to assist the runaway egro to "escape and get into Canada," who also were among the first to rush to arms and fought hard in 'the war between the States" which unfortunately for many of the poor old negroes resulted as the abolitionist desired. The rush to Florida by these persons has worked a great benefit to the South. These same abolitionists now see their error .-They see the deluded negro in almost his natural state-and many told me that they now feel that they have done wrong and will do all they can to let their friends "to home" know it. The reason is obvious so I will be brief.,

I left Florida in April, passed through several Southern, South-Eastern, Western, and Middle States to my place of business at Pittsburg. Pa., and from there traveled through nearly all of the Eastern and Northern States. I was surprised to find so many friends of the South in them, many of whom had been to Florida, had sojourned on the way at Columbia, Charleston and Savannah, had studied the negro character and concluded to do as all with whom talked in Florida, as above stated. have had a great deal of intercourse with the yankees, and do not believe that is the real cause of their love for the South. I fully believe that the late election in Connecticut would not have gone as it did-if it had not have been for the fact that the cotton factorles in the South have greatly increased and have been profitable, while those of the North and East have been very unprofitable and, in many, instances perfectly idle. Many of these in the South are almost entirely worked by the very same hands who formerly worked in those at the North and East, and who have been so much better paid and treated in the South that they could not help writing it to their friends, who hearing it from their own kind, no longer believe the falsehoods that have been so freely circulated by Carpet-Baggers and their friends of the Press.

You may travel the entire country over and you will find that the propects of the people of the South were never brighter since the war. When speak of the prospects of the people of the South, I of course mean the white people, the Democracy! Setting aside all other considerations, a change in the government is absolutely demanded. It has been going on from bad to worse under the Radica! administration for so many years that it is now morally impossible to reach a lower depth. The people of the North as well as the South feel the great necessity of this change. While the war was in progress we could readily and rationally forgive many stretches of power. The dire and pressing necessities of the times met and overcame the sober judgment of the masses of the people; they made virtues of many not vartuous necessities. But the era of "war necessities" has long since passed away, and with it should have passed away the excess of the times. But unfortunately this has not been the case. Ten years of time have wasted, and still we are only beginning to enter upon the work of fraternization and a real restoration of the Union. The crimes that have been committed against the unfortunate States of the South are only now beginning to be realized. But happily the temper of the people who committed them is in favor of putting an end to these wrongs. The whole country has become sickened with the career of Radicalism, and as a writer pointedly remarks under the present administration the buying and selling of offices has been notorious and almost without disguise.

Incompetence, infidelity and parisan violence have prevailed throughout all branches of the Radical government. The foul spirit of partizan enmity has ascended to the pure region of the Judiciary.

The Radical government is corrupt, diseased and demoralized in every organ, limb and fiber, and has left no considerable office any where untaint-

The nepotism, extravagance, inebriety, ignorance and tyranny of the Radical Executive, the subservience of a fawning Senate, the corruption in Congress, which has become so gross and palpable, the villainous work to which the army was put, the hordes of vagabonds who were allowed to monopolize official positions all over the South, the wicked and damaging treatment to which the Southern States have been subjected, the egregious blundering in the administration of governmental departments, joined to an array of crimes and wrongs whose bare catalogue would fill your paper, have all cried aloud against this disgraceful and degraded regime.

It probably required some such a terrible lesson as the one that has been taught by Grantism and Radicalism to bring the public judgment back to a normal condition from out the waves of a revolution that for a time threatened to engulf the idea of a Republican form of government it-

One year ago the tide of public opinion was turned in the right direction: as mighty as it was in 1874 PRICE: FIVE CENTS.

THE KEY-NOTE OF FEALTH .- The health and vigor of the several organs of the body depend upon the simple condition that the functions which pertain to each shall be regularly actively performed. If vitality is singgish or deficient, this condition is not properly faifilled, and as a consequence disease is soon inaugurated. Pre-vent it by a timely use of Hostetter's Sto-mach Bitters, which rouse the vital energies when dormant and endow the feeble frame with needful stamina. At the same ime that the Bitters infuse new strength nto the system, they correct those functional irregularities and local weaknesses which sap the vital power. Dyspepsia, bladder and kidney complaints, gout, rheumatism, fever and ague, biliousness, con-stipation and nervous diseases are invariably overcome by the operation of this sundard alterative tonic. jy 30—Da W

TO BUSINESS MEN. A good advertisement in a widely circulated newspaper is the best of all possible salesmen. It is a salesman who never sleeps and is never weary; who goes after business early and late; who accosts the merchant in his store, the scholar in his study, the lawyer in his office, the lady in her home, the traveler in the car or boat; the responsibility of the acts of their treacherous and unfaithful leaders, such an army in such a cause is sima salesman who no purchaser can avoid. ply irresistable, there is no power in who can be in a thousand places at once the country that can stay its progand speak to thousands of people daily, ress, the appliances of corruption will saying to each one the best thing in the best manner. A good advertisement insures a business connection on the R most permanent and independent basis, and is in a certain sense, a guarantee to the customer of fair and moderate prices. Experience has shown that the dealer, whose wares have obtained a public celebrity, is not only enabled to sell, but is forced to sell at reasonable rales, and to furnish a good article. A dealer can make no better investment than in the advertising columns of a widely circulated newspaper. Such is the opinion of a man who is known to be been atracted to an article which the largest advertiser in the United States. appeared in the NEWS about the first That is THE DAILY NEWS.

and in 1875 and 1876 will pour like a resistless torrent upon the strongholds of Radical corruption and sweep them out of sight, or heap them in unsightly wrecks upon the shores of defeated ambitions, as warnings for all future combinations of political tricksters who would plot against the rights of a free people. We are geting back to the fundamental principles of government, down to the bed rock of Democracy upon which the government was so wisely founded by our ancestors. The princely revelsi'es and the glittering and glare of shoddy that have driven Democratic-Republican simplicity out of the national capital must be driven out in turn, and the pure and chaste goddess once mcre reinstated upon her throne. That the people are determined to do this no intelligent man can doubt. The Radical leaders in their desperation may resort to stirring up of prejudices as in Ohio, but it will do them no good. These side issues will amount to nothing. The people know that the leaders of the party now in power have been unmeasurably corrupt, and they also know that corruption can only be banished by banishing its authors from the high places that they have so deeply and signally disgraced. Never did a party have better prospects for success than the Democray to-day. They have the people North, South, East, and West with them, a mighty host of honest Republicans who refuse longer to share

[For the Daily News. Northern Men at the South will go with Their Race .- But One Party for them. Editors of the Daily News: Gentlemen: Our attention has the week over the signature of Joseph. Now, as adopted citizens of North Carolina, we wish to make the following statement of sentiment to all situated like us.

It is an established fact that there is a great difference between the Republicans at the North and the same party at the South; and many who came South to improve their fortunes through political labors, calling themselves Republicans, could not at home get au entrance into decent But to the subject : As adopted citizens of North Carolina we think it due to ourselves, and children, and the white people; and to all such as ourselves, we would say-no matter how you voted when in a different State-for the sake of your race rote with your race. As we expect to mingle with the white people here socially, let us mingle and vote with them, laying aside party prejudices, and follow the motto, "when in Rome, do as Rome does. If blacks and their allies have contrdl of the approaching Convention. they will endorse the infamous Civil Rights Bill, making it a part of the Constitution of this State. Let us for the sake of everything near and dear to us do nothing to endorse such a crime. We believe every one voting with the party here calling themselves Republicans thereby bind themselves to the endorsement of the Civil Rights measure. It is true, the present Constitution has some good features. Is not this to be expected. Suppose a party of fishermen cast their nets in a river abounding in tad-poles, frogs tarrapins and other vermin of the waters. and a few shad and fish of value, is it not natural that with the trash they might haul out something of value ; Should not judges and gleaners come after them and sort out the good from the bad. Now, we think it the duty of every true citizen to vote for proper delegates to overhaul the Constitution and throw away the bad part and keep what may appear to be good. In conclusion we say to our adopted brethren, turn out on the 5th of August and vote with your own race, and not with the deluded negroes.

Remember your children, your

and prospects of the South, says the Baltimore Aun, is the experiment which it has now successfully made in the way of a diversity of products. Hitherto King Cotton has allowed no rival, nor even accessory, near his throne. A prediction ten years ago that any of the cotton-raising States would in 1875 have a surplus of cereals would have excited an incredulous smile. Yet the States of Tennesee, Arkansas, Mississippi, and Alabama, will this year have enough and to spare. In addition to this unprecedent grain yield, the old staple hough reduced in acreage, has by a more thorough system of cultivation rewarded the planters as never before, and they boast of an independence that has never heretofore been known to that portion of the country. They claim that with their surplus of breadstuffs they can obtain the means by which they will be enabled to hold their cotton, take advantage of the market, and sell for cash instead of following the practice that has almost universally obtained of mortgaging their crops early in the season at ruinous figures. The agricultural resources and capabilities of the South have never yet been fully developed. It is able to feed itself as well as to clothe, in certain essential respects, both itself and the world. The sovereignty of cotton would never have been disputed if it had enjoyed the aid of such auxiliaries as the cultivation of the cerea's and manufacturing industry.
