Editors :- I was delighted description of the museum it contains. I wish you te more upon the produce Old North State. There ands of persons in North tho do not know that she seum, much less do they different variety of minech she can boast; the quanality of her minerals suriose of any State in the leven all Europe cannot ith her in some instances. should appear inthe colir State papers oftener than A delineation of the undearsure hid in her bosom. ecimens of her timbers, l waters, the adapta ion of all agricultural products, ies afforded by her water machinery, are sufficient amigration. But what we is to have these facts held up to her own native sons, who are going West by scores while there is no better place in the world than North Carolina. The people are delighted with the NEWS. While you are not an extremist yet you are not ashamed to assert your position, and are always ready to defend the right. The people like such a paper and you may expect more subscribers soon.

VARIETIES.

Mr. Kingsbury's pen is at work on the Oxford Torch-Light. So vigorous and courtly and learned a style tells of itself the name of the writer. A runt of a hen in Caswell county that nobody had any respect for has just laid an egg the village editor has measured and pronounces as large as his fist.

Mrs. Belknap has the smallest foot in Washington and wears ones and a balf and the wonder is how she and Belknap could have both "put their foot in it."

"He's no cousin of mine," said Ive Blackburn when the Belknappers claimed kin and now Donan of the Sentinel wants the Evans family to rise and explain who is John Evans. Let John rise first. We never like to rise in company with the black

Sepator Edmunds never liked the man from the start. New York Herald: "No," said Senator Edmunds. "I have nothing to say about the Secretary. I knew he wouldn't amount to anything when they told me he could crack nuts with his

Oh no; the public don't think Grant has been fooled at all-and that's what's the matter. Washington Republican: Now that Belknap's disgrace is known the world over, the wiseacres are beginning to find fault with President Grant as a poor judge of human nature.

Bad B's. Cincinnati Enquirer: TERS, PRESERVES, JELLIES, MI CE MEAT, DRIED FRUITS. What's the trouble with the B's? Here are Belknap, Babcock, Beecher, Bowen, and Booker, Minister to Turkey, all in serious trouble. The B's don't seem, lately, to have been working in a good hive, The honey they have distilled has been illicit sweetness. Knows how it is himself. New-York Times: It is with no desire, intention, or disposition to shield Mr. Belknap from the consequences of his conduct, with no purpose of palliating the great wrong that he has done, that we indicate in the circumstances of his crime an occasion of sympathy on the part of all men who have known what it is, even in a slight degree, to be subjected to his tem ptation.

Grant would have liked him better. New York Sun: Suppose Bel knap, instead of confessing, had fol-

An old war horse that still lives. Statesville Landmark; Dr. Cowan, who was Lieut-Col, of the 33rd Regt. N. C. Troops, informs us that he recognized on our streets an old acquaintance in the shape of a horse owned and ridden during the war by Col. C. M. Avery, of the 33rd Regiment, who was killed. The horse was brought home to Morganton by ('ol. Avery's servant after his death, and when Stoneman's brigade passed through the town the negro boy dressed in the Col.'s uniform, which with the horse had been intrusted to his keeping, and rode him off with the army. The horse, a gallant looking charger, is now in the possession of a son of Mr. Jackson, proprietor of the Jackson House, who bought him from a wagoner.
