It Brings Him Misery.

Sometime 'since a negro prisoner was sent to the county work-house to work out a bill of costs of twenty four dollars and odd. While working one day in the field he dug up a box of gold, nearly all of it gold, and he says to the amount of about five hundred dollars. He hugged the treasure to his heart and carried it with him hid in the bosom of his old clothes to and from his every day work. But he feit so good he couldn't keep to secret and had to tell it to the keeper of the work house. Then the t-uble began - In the meantime the negro had carried his gold into the field and dog a hele and hid it. The keeper and another man beat him severely to make him tell where he had hid it. He was ruptured by the severe handling they gave him and in fact it was thought the would die and he was ordered from the work-house. This is the negro's statement he made before Magistra'e Magnin yesterday. A constable and posse of men were sent with him to the work house and the keeper and theother min were ordered to appear this morning for trial. They failed to find the gold, the negro says it has been stolen. We learned that Mr. C. M. Busbee would be engaged as counsel for the negro. commandery. The Ladies.

Were it not for the ladies our churches would go to wreck like old barns. The dies sewing society of the Presbyterian church pays twelve dollars every month on the debt of that church and the missionary society has just sent out forty-one dollars for the last quarter to the heathens. And this is the case with the like a wild cat, and she's every cent lady societies in all the other churches; their hands are busy and their thoughts running on their church while the men down street An extract from an address delivered before Haw River Academy, N. Change of Schedule.

A slight change of schedule on the N. C. R. R. went into effect vester-lay, the object and effect of which is to make close connection with the trains on the Atlantic road. Passengers from this road will reach Newbern the same night at 9 o'clock and passengers from the Atlantic road suffer no detention at Goldsboro. This will be also of great advantage to shippers of fish, allowing the "oriny treasures of the deep" to be delivered in Raleigh in the morning fresh and fluttering from the sea. Subscribers to the NEWS on the Atlantic road will hereafter receive their paper on the evening train of the day of publication.

Ordination.

Mr. W P. Bynum of Lincolnton was ordained to the order of Deacons on Sunday in St. Barnabas Church. Greensboro, by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Lyman. Mr Bynum will have the charge of

The necessity of the education of he people is imperative in consideration of the association of crime with enorance. All history attests the fact that the most calamitous evils and scourges that have befallen nations, have prevailed among the most barbarous. The most cruel wars whose recital sickens the heart of humanity, were waged by nations the most uncultivated by the refinements of civilized life. The ferocity of Seythians and Salacenic wars was due to an untutored solidery and a heathen
