THE SENTINEL.

WM. H. PELL, SEATON GALES. } Editors.

Saturday Evening, July 21, 1866.

FOR THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES, AS IT IS, AND THE UNION AS IT WAS.
No Further Amendments.

FOR GOVERNOR,

JONATHAN WORTH,

OF RANDOLPH.

Remember that the election for the ratification of the amended Constitution of North Carolina, will be held on the 2d., 3rd, and 4th of August next, throughout the State.

Gov. Graham's Oration.

We have the pleasure of laying before our readers, to-day, the admirable discourse delivered in the Commons Hall, on Thursday last, by the Hon. William A. Graham, upon the life and character of our late eminent fellow-citizen, the Hon. George E. Badger. It is a source of regret to us that the great length of the oration compels us to divide it; but it will appear as a whole in our Weekly edition.

The discourse is honorable alike to the dead statesman and the living one. All who were in any way familiar—and who, in North Carolina, was not?—with Mr. Badger's great intellectual powers, will recognize the faithfulness of the portrait drawn with so masterly a hand; and those who had the honor of an intimate acquaintance with him, will appreciate the just and glowing tribute paid to the noble qualities which adorned his private life.

The oration should be preserved by all, as a most valuable contribution to the biographical history of the times.

The "So-Called."

Years ago, before fanaticism and total disregard of the Constitution had infused its virus into the Legislative department of the government, there were few, North or South, in all the broad scope of the Republic, who did not most heartily subscribe to the patriotic sentiment, "I know no North, no South, no East, no West—nothing but the Union." As a political sentiment, in view of the claims of the common government upon all, both States and people, it may well be said to have promulgated the honest sentiment and feeling of our whole people.—But, even then, the various sections were distinguished by the terms North, South, East or West, and as Northern, or Southern, or Eastern, or Western States. Nor was it ever deemed, in that day, that the natural feelings which prompted our people to feel a peculiar home attachment for their native counties, or towns, or States, or sections, indicated a want of loyalty, (by the way, a new word as applied to American citizens,) or real patriotism towards the whole country, or to the common government. Had the same aims and purposes controlled the people, States and common government, at all times until the present, no other Sentiment would have been heard in this once happy land.

But alas! how changed. Even Mr. Dick, of Guilford, whose political faith for years was formed and guided by the Virginia and Kentucky resolutions of '98-'99, has grown so timid, so wary, and so fearful of events, that he cannot consent that office-holders under the State shall be simply required to take an oath to support the Constitution of the State, although the Constitution of the United States and the Revised Code of North Carolina required also the official recognition, by oath, of the supremacy of the U. S. Constitution. Such a course, he thought, tended to encourage extravagant and improper views of State sovereignty! What a discovery! Would he not have the names and governments of States blotted out altogether?—Is he ready, with his friend, the Ex-P. G., to change the government entirely to a central oligarchy or despotism,—to destroy all States and State rights altogether? Alas! for the resolutions of '98-'99.

The Standard, since the return of its Editor from Washington, has discovered there is no South and no Southern States. There is such a thing in its estimation as Northern States, Western States and "rebel" States, but no Southern States, and no South,—they are the "so-called." What a discovery by the "so-called" Standard, the "so-called" Provisional Governor and the "so-called" Minister to San Salvador!

The Chicago Times, alluding to the proposed call for a convention of "Union Loyalists," so-called, says:

"If there be a 'southern radical' convention in September of any considerable numbers, it is certain that, apart from Tennessee and Missouri, the delegates will hail from the domain of the Puritans. They are down south stealing cotton; acting as agents to the freedmen's bureau; are praying over and collecting the odd and spare silver quarters and halves of the negroes; and are writing letters to northern black republican newspapers in which it is stated that the south is yet in rebellion, and that Northern men cannot get into southern society.

"There is not in the South a man who was born there and who has lived there, that will attend the 'Southern radical' convention. No such man will ever consent to act with a party whose cardinal principle is the atrocious doctrine of making southern negroes equal to southern whites. No such man will ever attend a convention in the interest of a party that has just attempted to place an onerous export duty on cotton; that has denied the South representation; that knows no south, no south, no east, no west, no nothing save Mare Englaud."

The Times is mistaken, we regret to say, in the belief that "there is not a man in the South who was born there, and who has lived there," that will attend this convention. Some of the names affixed to the call are of this class of men, and there are others in the State,—only a very few, however,—who actually sympathize with the movement. The general composition of the Convention, however, will be as the Times predicts.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

New Advertisements.—Pulliam, Jones & Co', announce Porter, Herrings, &c.

R. P. Williamson & Co., have a large quantity of fine meal on hand.

The first session of Thomasville Female College (Rev. D. R. Bruton, President, and Rev. Dr. N. F. Reid, Visitor,) will commence on the 7th day of August.

The attractive auction at D. C. Murray's Store will be continued on Monday.

Robbery.—We regret to learn that the smoke-house of R. W. Best, Esq., Secretary of State, was entered last night, and a large quantity of meat and other provisions stolen. Suspicion is entertained as to the depredators, and it is to be hoped the criminals will be detected and brought to punishment.

Acknowledgment.—We are indebted to C. G. Coleman, Jr., the courteous and accommodating Messenger of the National Express Co., for frequent favors in the way of papers in advance of the mails.

There was a fire in Williamston, on Wednesday night last, by which the store of Messrs. Charles & Dashield was destroyed.

Col. Williams, "Fed Ons," at Plymouth, says: "First thing little Williams (editor of Expositor) knows, he will be in jail." Williams says he isn't scared much.

Murder in Lenoir.—We learn, from the Newbern papers, the particulars of another brutal murder in that section of the State, the victim being one Mr. Odam, living three miles from Kinston, in Lenoir county. A crowd of negroes went to the house of Mr. O., and took down his gun and shot him dead, his wife being in the same bed with him. After committing the murder they took his meat and such other things as they wanted and left. Mrs. O. thinks she can indentify some of the party, and parties are in pursuit with fair hopes of success, in bringing them to justice.

Lieutenant Governor.—There is much doubt whether the people will consent to the addition of this office. Our information indicates, at present, that the amended Constitution will be rejected by the people. If so, no Lieutenant Governor will be elected. One or two radical presses ridicule our suggestion to leave the choice of the candidate to the gentlemen named for that office. We made our suggestion, to avoid the inconvenience of primary meetings and a Convention, simply to make the selection. We are willing to trust the gentleman named to make it, but would prefer primary meetings and a Convention, if the people adopt the Constitution and prefer a Convention.

Counterfeits of Fractional Currency.—There is said to be an immense amount of spurious fractional currency in circulation throughout the South. A late Washington letter says:

"Reports received at the Treasury Department state that the Southern States are at present flooded with counterfeit United States notes, national bank notes and fractional currency of every denomination. One of the Treasury detectives, while on an official visit in one of the Southern States, observed that an immense quantity of this spurious money is circulating there among all classes, who with few exceptions, accept it as readily as the genuine. The detectives having received, while making some trifling purchases, nearly one half his change in counterfeit money, and being desirous of ascertaining some estimate of the amount of this trash in circulation, seized upon the money "fills" of several merchants doing quite an extensive business, and discovered that about one-half their contents were counterfeit, which consisted of United States notes of the various issues and denominations of fractional currency, and quite a number of counterfeits on the national banks of the North and West. A postmistress in one of the Southern States recently returned to the Treasury $49 50, which she had received from the sale of internal revenue stamps, and upon examination $20 of the amount was detected as spurious, which, unfortunately for her, she must make good."

There is but one relief from this that we can suggest, and that is for those who know the counterfeits to refuse to receive them.

For the Sentinel.

The Philadelphia Convention.

Messrs. Editors:—I fully endorse the propriety of sending delegates to the National Union Convention at Philadelphia, on the 14th of August next. That the results of that Convention will realize the full hopes and desires of every Southern man, or of any ultra Southern man, I do not believe. That even one moderate man will fully endorse, and gladly acquiesce in, everything that shall be said and done there, I do not entertain the slightest hope. Yet we ought to send delegates, if for no other reason, because we are invited in good faith to do so, and in the hope that, in the interchange of views between Northern and Southern conservatives, good may result.

One thing must be borne in mind: our people must not forget the character of the invitation, nor the class of delegates who are invited. Therefore, I beg that you will re-publish the call of the Committee of the National Union Club. Several things are important to be observed in the selection of delegates:

1. The delegates should be able and willing to defray their own expenses.

2. They should be known to endorse the programme or platform contained in the invitation.

3. They should be wise men, men of moderation and known to have maintained a consistent course.

4. They should be devoted friends of the President and of his policy, willing to surrender, for the sake of harmony, what may not conflict with the peace, the interest and honor of the State.

In looking around for men of the right type, in my judgment, to represent this District and the State, I cannot think of two gentlemen in this District, who come up more fully to my idea of the class of men to be sent, than Wm. Eaton Jr., Esq., of Warren, and Kemp P. Battle, Esq., of Wake.

WAKE.

The total collections in aid of the Portland sufferers in the city of New York amounts to $105,000.

It is thought that the majority of Throckmorton, (Conservative) for Governor of Texas, will reach twenty thousand.

The Cession of Venetia.

The surrender of Venetia to France by the Emperor Francis Joseph is complete and unconditional, and was accepted by the French Emperor after deliberate negotiation with Prince Metternich at the Tuileries. Venice has been proclaimed free, and a French squadron is ordered to immediately proceed to hoist the French flag at all points of the coast. The Austrian army stores are to be removed from the fortresses of the Quadrilateral, which will be garrisoned by French troops. Italy is notified to discontinue military operations in that quarter. This is not likely to suit Victor Emmanuel, unless there be some private understanding between him and Napoleon. But should he disregard the monition, France becomes necessarily a party to the war.

N. C. Bank Notes in Richmond.—Bank of the State, 34c.; Bank of Cape Fear, 22c.; Bank of Charlotte, 17c.; Bank of Clarendon, 2c.; Bank of Commerce, 12c.; Bank of Fayetteville, 8c.; Bank of Lexington, 8c.; Bank of Roxboro', 15c.; Bank of Thomasville, 20c.; Band of Wadesboro,' 15c.; Bank of Washington, 3c.; Bank of Wilmington, 14c.; Bank of Yanceyville, 4c.; Commercial Bank, 13c.; Farmers' Bank, 20c.; Greensboro' Mutual, 3c.; Merchants' Bank, 32c., Miners' and Planters' Bank, 20.—Whig.

Mr. Maury and General Beauregard.—A private letter from Paris of a late date says: "It is rumored that the Emperor of France has offered Mr. Maury a good situation, and that it is probable he will not return to Mexico."

General Beauregard has been received by the Emperor in princely style. He has received honors never conferred on any stranger before."

The editor of the Northern Times must be a sort of political saint. Speaking of the movement of the people to send delegates to the National Union Convention, he says:

"We have always been for the Union, are still for the Union, and shall always remain for the Union—and it does our very soul good to see the impenitent as well as blackaliders returning, and with open arms and tearful eyes we can stand at the Union gate and exclaim, "While the lamp holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return."

Bully!—We will give any artist a newspaper puff, for a good charcoal sketch of this saintly editor standing in the "Union gate" with "tears in his eyes," &c., &c.

Hand us the Cologne!

Will some brother please raise "Old Father Grimes" to the air of the rogue's march.—Salisbury Banner.

Doctor Butler commences "playing trainer" in Massachusetts by issuing four General Orders to the officers of the State militia. The European war news has powerfully stimulated the Doctor, and he is brushing up his uniform for a fall campaign in an out of the way cornfield in the vicinity of Lowell.

The bronze statue of Washington, which was removed from the Lexington Institute by General Hunter, has been returned, and will be re-inaugurated on the 10th of September, on which occasion ex-Governor Letcher will, at the request of the board, deliver an address.

Brownlow's Decision.—Advices have been received here from Nashville that it is Governor Brownlow's intention to keep the Legislature in session until they get a quorum, if it takes all summer.—Wash. Cor. N. Y. Times.

John Stuart Hill pronounces Mr. Gladstone the greatest Parliamentary leader since the time of the Stuarts.

Federal General Buell has been beaten for vice-president of the Southern Telegraph Company by Confederate General Buckner.

While the telegraph is telling us that the war in Europe is over, some of the exchanges which are reaching us are announcing its commencement.

"Since so very soon I'm done for,
I wonder what I was begun for."
